35 BUTLER STREET
BROOKLYN 31, NEW YORK

OFFICE OF PRESIDENT

Dear Graduates:

The opportunity presented you to achieve the objectives and goals of St. Francis College underlies the theme of the 1960 FRANCISCAN. This evaluation in terms of each area of collegiate activity probes the depths of educational philosophy. You have observed that the intellectual, spiritual, social, cultural and vocational aims of the college have been translated into practical terms by the faculty and you have stated the manner in which St. Francis approaches basic educational problems.

In the dedication of the Yearbook, you have singled out two of the most distinguished educators that it has been my pleasure to know. St. Francis College is indeed fortunate and honored that they have devoted themselves to promoting her objectives. These men represent the wide scope of the faculty—the depth of intellectual research and Christian social living.

Professor Clement Jedrzejewski, the intent scholar, the wise adviser, the inspiring teacher, receives his greatest reward when one of his students enters the teaching profession. Professor "Clement" envisions the teaching profession as the salvation of a confused and divided world.

Professor Nicholas Fiorenza, the dynamic teacher, the gifted artist, the respected activity moderator, has exemplified to thousands of St. Francis students the happy combination of intellectual competence and social graciousness. He receives a profound satisfaction when his former students combine successful careers with cultural refinement.

Important in the evaluation of a college is its faculty who provide the inspiration which includes the excitement of intellectual challenge, insatiable thirst for knowledge, earnest search for truth, and humble appreciation of the true meaning of life.

By honoring Professor Jedrzejewski and Professor Fiorenza, you have honored the entire faculty.

The faculty of St. Francis College is dedicated to encouraging undergraduate students to live well in the City of Man that they might eventually be worthy of the City of God.

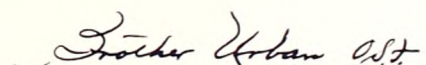

You have recognized the fact that the manner in which each member of the Class of 1960 approaches the realization of the objectives of St. Francis College determines the success or failure of his Franciscan education.

You are to be complimented on accepting the challenge of such a difficult theme for your Yearbook and particularly on arriving at such an honest conclusion.

The prayers of all St. Francis College go with you in your efforts to realize Alma Mater's high objectives.

The Board of Trustees, Administration, Faculty, Alumni and the undergraduate student body congratulate you on your graduation and on your hopes for the future.

Sincerely yours in St. Francis

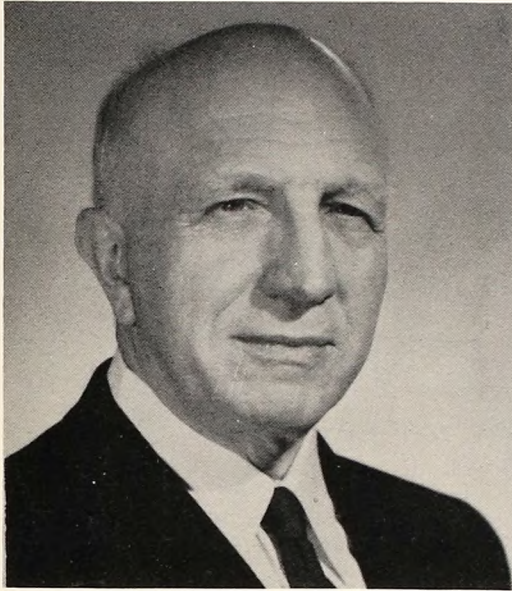

Brother Urban, O.S.F.

PRESIDENT

DEDICATION OF THE

Doctor Clement Jedrzejewski LL.D., Ph.D.

"The intent scholar, the wise adviser, the inspiring teacher . . ."

"Today I feel good; tomorrow will be worse!" This philosophy of life has helped Doctor Clement Jedrzejewski enjoy the good in each day to the fullest because it is unexpected.

The students know this profound yet humble scholar simply as "Doctor Clement." And it is Doctor Clement who very simply inspires the students toward the completion of the final portion of the measure of the whole man. He has found the secret treasure; he is a whole man. He is the true idea of the Franciscan gentleman.

This Professor of Social Studies carries Franciscan ideals outside the college as he and some of his students work with the Downtown Area Renewal Effort, in his connection with other campuses in New York and in numerous educational circles.

Doctor Clement is not only a symbol of the whole man; he is the whole man! To this model for the students we humbly dedicate the 1960 Franciscan.

Gesturing in his inimitable manner, Doctor Clement stresses a vital point during his Anthropology class.

Doctor Clement enjoys a brief chat with a colleague and several of his sociology students.

1960 FRANCISCAN

Professor Nicholas A. Fiorenza, M.A.

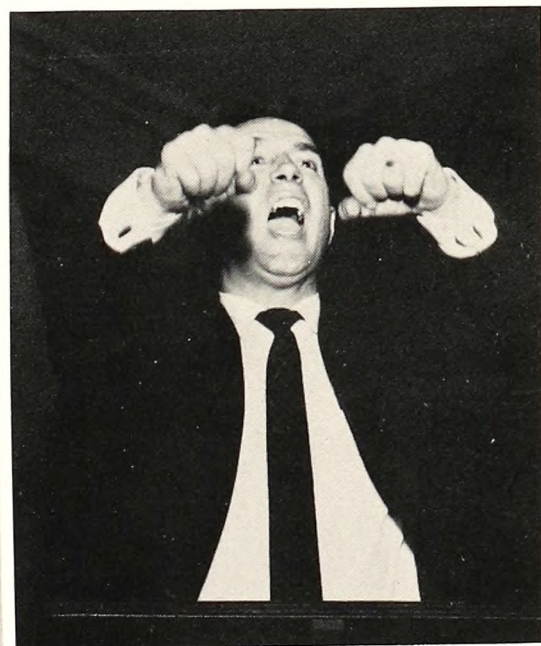

"The dynamic teacher, the gifted artist, the respected activity moderator . . ."

The man who is to be a whole man must develop himself culturally. No matter what climate of life he is in, winds from the other climates blow in and intermingle. In these phrases, we capture the aspect Professor Nicholas A. Fiorenza aims for in the completion of the student.

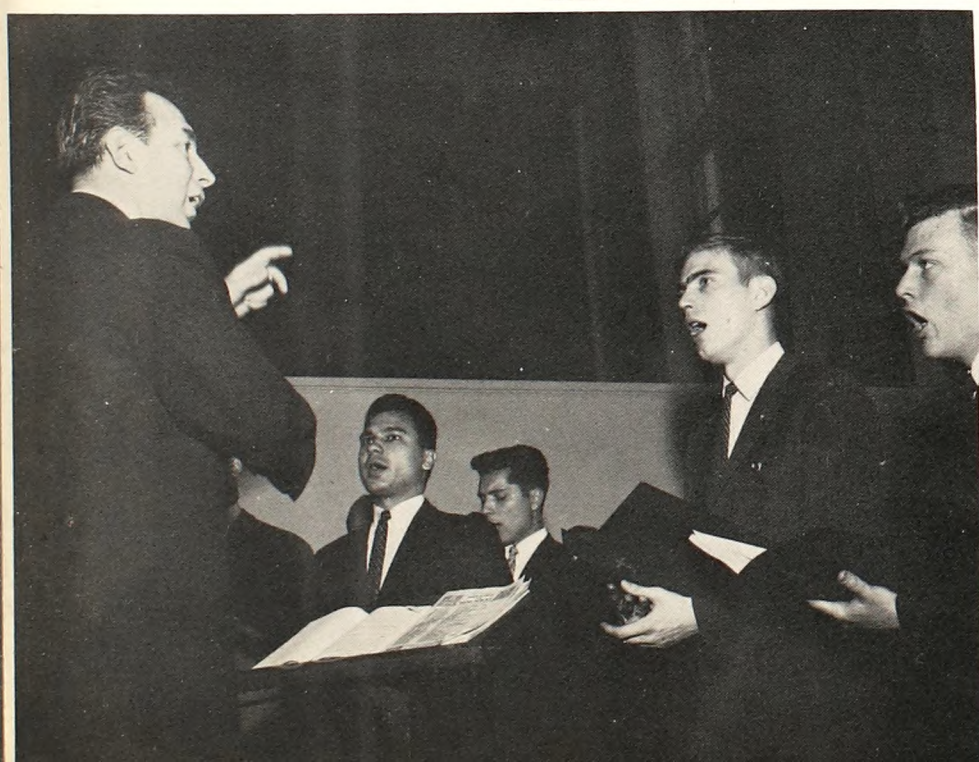

He is called "the student's teacher" in that he works with the student on the course material rather than just with the subject. The tools of Professor Fiorenza's contribution—experience, and more specifically the aesthetic experience.

In class and in his relationship to the student as teacher and friend, he stands out as instructor, adviser, companion and invaluable associate; for Professor Fiorenza is the faculty member who is closest in his relationships to the students.

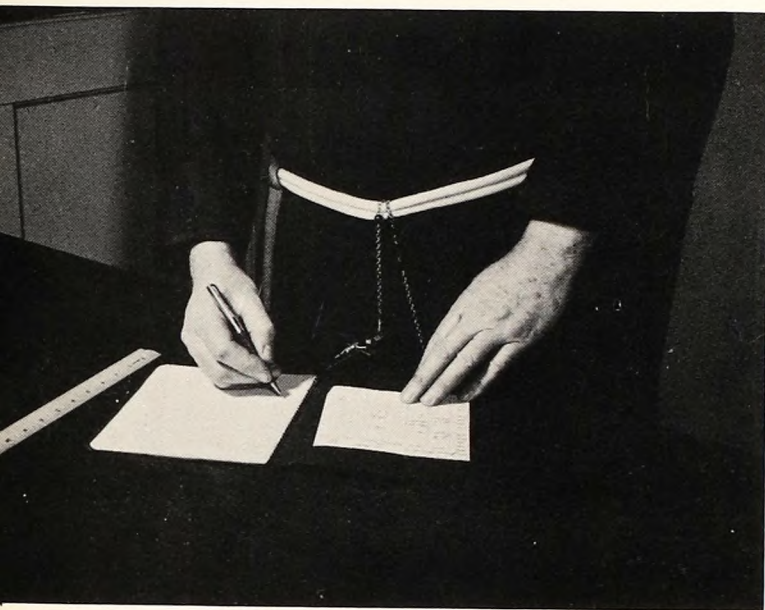

To this truly many-faceted whole man, we dedicate the 1960 Franciscan in the spirit which he dedicates his life to the students of St. Francis College.

"Fortissimo," urges Professor Fiorenza.

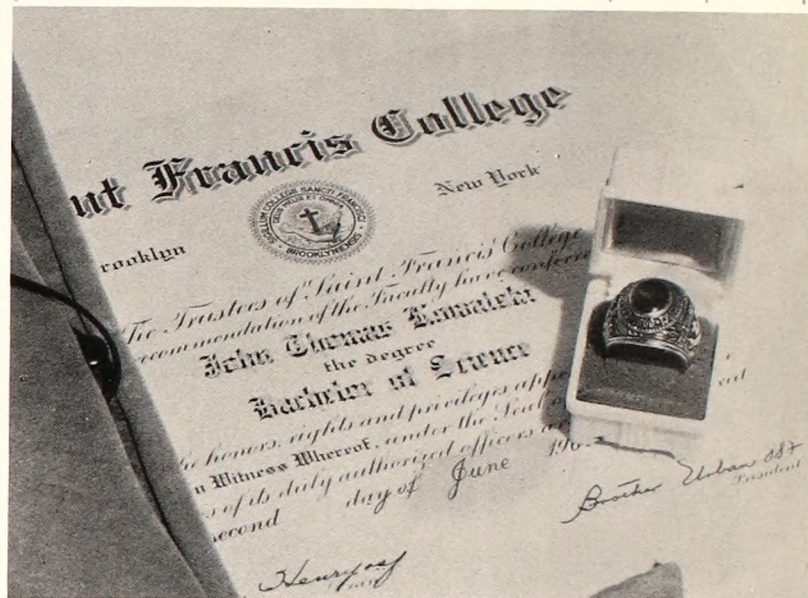

Professor Fiorenza leads the Glee Club during the Christmas Assembly in a rendition of several Christmas Carols.

ADMINISTRATION and FACULTY

IN MEMORIAM

During the Summer of 1959, three of our most beloved and revered educators passed on to their eternal reward. Absent from the halls of St. Francis are Reverend Brother Jerome, O.S.F., Professor Francis A. Delaney and Professor Patrick J. DeTuro.

It is only fitting and right that we dedicate a small portion of the 1960 Franciscan to their memory, and in so doing offer the homage that is their due. Certainly we in our insignificance cannot properly evaluate them; only God is their Judge. We can measure them in relation to the good that they have done for us, their pupils. They gave a full measure . . .

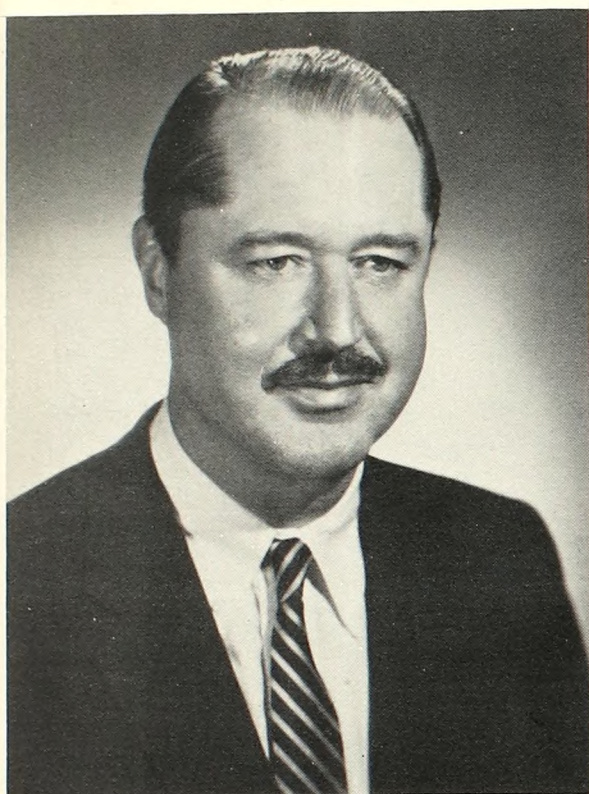

Reverend Brother Jerome, O.S.F.

Educator, Administrator, Franciscan

Brother Jerome Roese, O.S.F., combined these qualities skillfully and magnificently in a superb blend called the man of God.

In his twenty-five years at St. Francis College, Brother Jerome assumed the duties of Dean, President, member of the Third Order Regular's Board of Consultors and Superior General of the Franciscan Brothers.

In tribute to Brother Jerome's devotion to his Order and his students, a memorial scholarship was inaugurated to provide a deserving Catholic youth with a four year Franciscan education.

Professor Francis A. Delaney, M.A.

*"Though the trains be not on time,
This class starts at nine."*

Variations of this refrain were one of Professor Francis A. Delaney's trademarks in the college where he taught for twenty-five years. During this quarter of a century of dedicated service to the students, he was the competent instructor, the eager moderator, the reassuring friend.

It is not difficult to measure this man's worth to our college; indeed, he is greatly missed. For the first time in twenty-five years, the Dean's Oratorical Contest was not presided over by its inaugurator, Professor Delaney.

A unanimous Student Council suggestion proposed renaming the contest the Professor Francis A. Delaney Memorial Oratorical Contest.

Professor Patrick J. DeTuro, M.B.A.

The winning smile, the warm casual manner, the air of a truly excellent teacher: this is the magic St. Francis College lost in Patrick J. DeTuro.

Professor DeTuro came to St. Francis in September, 1957, after many years of teaching and a tenure as Senior Economist for the Office of Price Administration.

Economics was his field, and the stock market his forte; he was a member of Pi Alpha Kappa, a financial Honor Society and was influential in establishing a chapter of Omicron Chi Epsilon, the Economic Fraternity, here at St. Francis.

In his few years on the faculty, Professor DeTuro commanded respect and admiration in and out of the classroom. What is a more fitting tribute than to have a completed task perfectly accomplished.

REVEREND BROTHER URBAN, O.S.F., Ph.D.
President

The President is the highest officer of Administration. To his office is assigned the task of coordinating all functions of college administration from day-to-day operations to the formulation and execution of long-range plans.

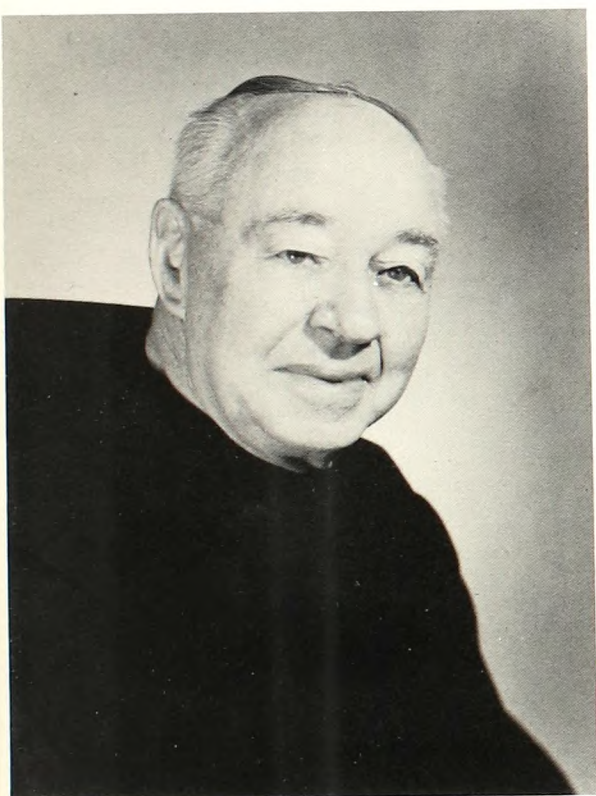

Brother Urban has been the impetus behind the expansion and development program, which has included recent accreditation as a major achievement. Physical expansion of facilities and a continued drive toward scholastic excellence motivate his every effort.

Brother Urban places last year's Franciscan among previous annals of college history with the aid of his secretary, Mrs. Ann Tritini.

The title President Emeritus is bestowed upon a man as an honor for his past accomplishments and his continuing efforts in behalf of the college and her students.

Few men have reached, or will ever reach, the stature of Brother Columba, a man whose very presence is felt by all around him. Dedicated to Franciscan ideals, Brother Columba has given to us a full measure of the man of God. His teaching, his guidance, his friendship and friendliness are more a part of St. Francis College, more a trade-mark of true Franciscanism, than mere words can convey.

REVEREND BROTHER COLUMBA, O.S.F., LL.D.
President Emeritus

Brother Columba pauses while making his daily rounds of the campus.

REVEREND BROTHER BERNARD, O.S.F., M.A.
Vice President in Charge of Development

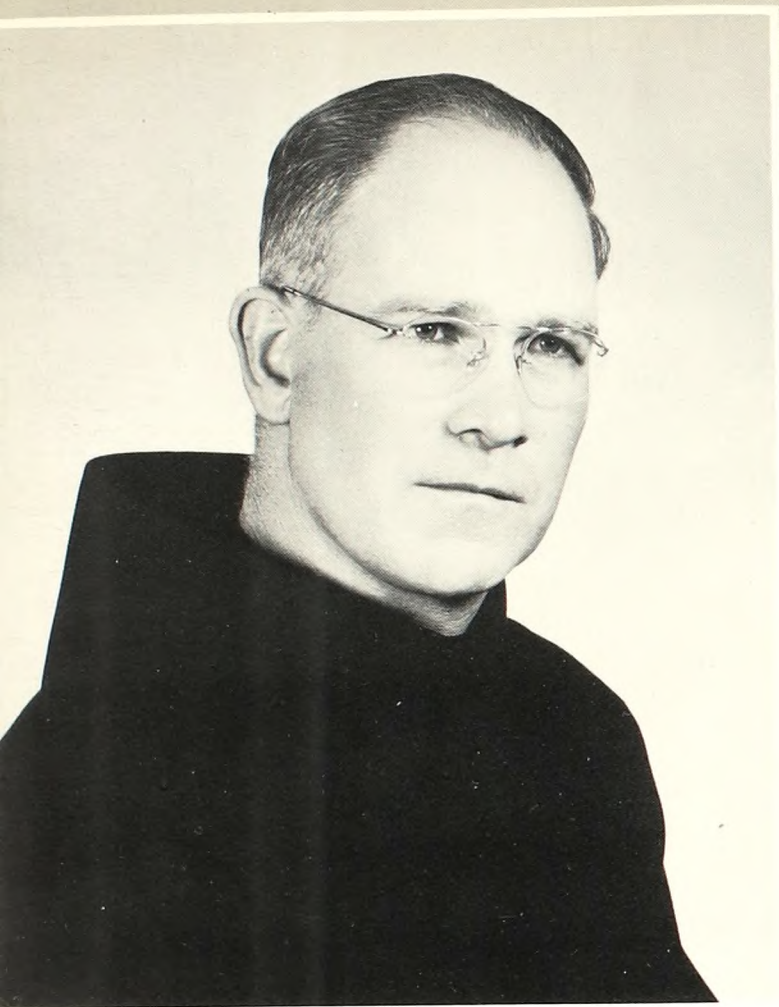

Brother Bernard, the Executive Vice President in Charge of Development, must formulate and administrate the changes and growth at St. Francis College.

His office is concerned with both physical expansion and academic recognition. Programs are designed and executed for the acquisition of the means necessary to the realization of these goals.

Typical of the advances made is the institution of another scholarship program through the inauguration of the Loyalty Fund Campaign.

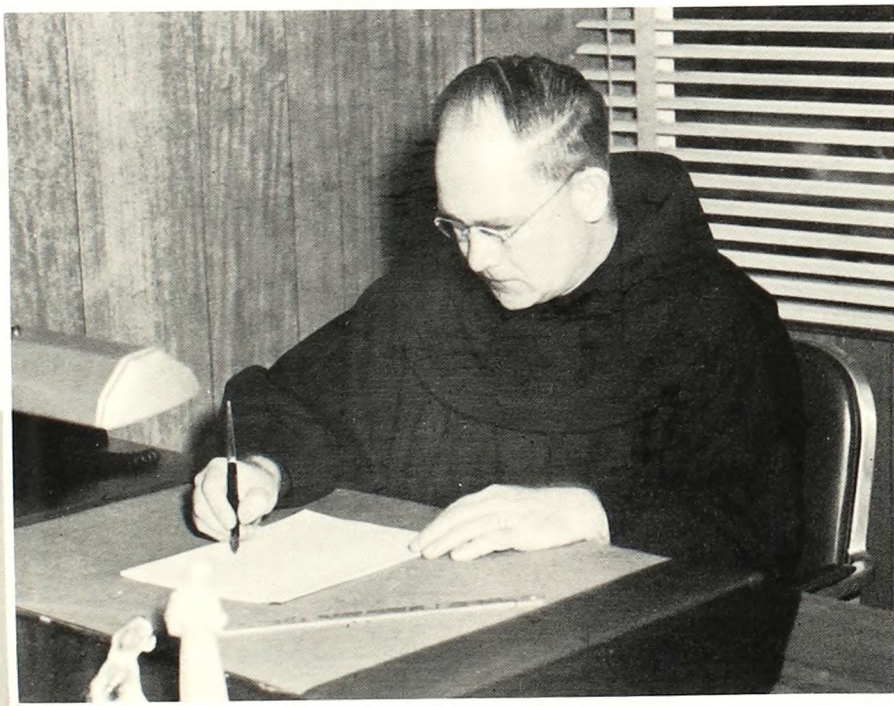

Mrs. Jeanette Levangie and Mrs. Frances Corrigan assist Brother Bernard in measuring the results of the Loyalty Fund Campaign.

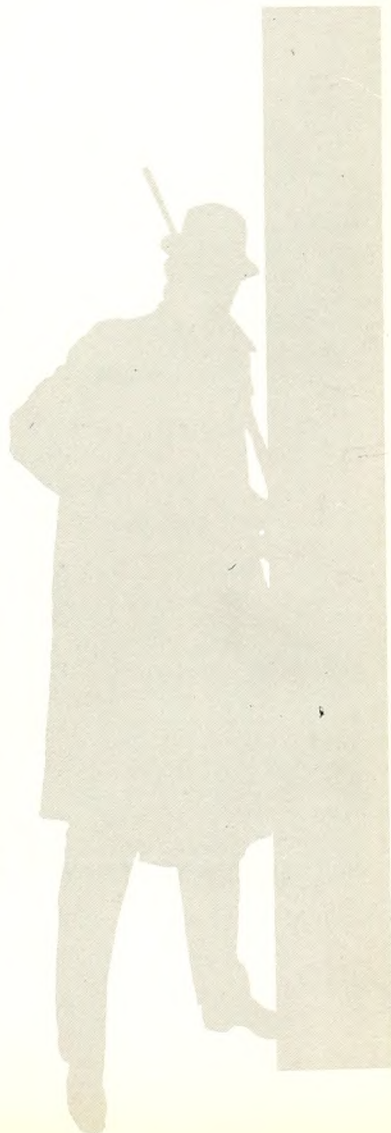

REVEREND BROTHER HENRY, O.S.F., Ph.D.
Dean

The office of the Dean is a position unlike any other in the administrative hierarchy. From this office must emerge the policies which will most directly affect every student.

It is from Brother Henry's office that policies concerning such basic elements of academic life as curriculum, student scholastic standings, registration and examination procedures and discipline originate, and through his office, these policies are executed. His office must constantly revise and modernize all administration procedures. This enables St. Francis College to offer each student the fullest opportunity for intellectual, spiritual and social development.

Brother Henry scales student achievement, measuring scholastic development and growth at St. Francis.

It is the duty of the Library to make available to the student the books and periodicals necessary for research and information pertinent to his courses. Likewise, it must offer the student ample reading material for leisure enjoyment.

Realizing the importance of its responsibility, the staff of the Library has constantly expanded its facilities. In the past several years, the Library has grown in size until it now occupies the entire second floor of the main building. More than thirty thousand volumes comprise its working nucleus, and it currently subscribes to over three hundred periodicals. Also accessible are stacks of bound and unbound pamphlets, periodicals, newspapers and government publications, as well as microfilms of the New York Times and a new record-lending service.

Brother Anthelm discusses the merits of a novel with Miss Evelyn Cuff before placing it in the fiction section. Selection of appropriate material is one of the fundamental tasks of Brother Anthelm and Miss Cuff.

The Student Activities Program is supervised by a Faculty Committee on Student Activities and the Student Council, and operates under the Office of the Director of Student Activities. Professor of Modern Languages . . . chairman of the Humanities Division . . . moderator of the Senior Class, Humanities Club, and Semper Fi Club . . . earned B.S. at Saint John's University, M.A. at Fordham University, and Ph.D. at Columbia University.

The Division of Humanities seeks to instill in the student an appreciation of the creative aspect of man's life and to develop his ability to interpret these creative acts as reflecting the infinite beauty and wisdom of God. This is best achieved by developing good taste through a knowledge of man's thoughts and ideas as expressed in his language, literature, music and art.

The Division has attempted to give greater opportunity for the creative expression of its students by allowing English majors to do an original project for graduation in place of the usual comprehensive examination. Further, it can proudly boast of being the Division from which the two winners of the coveted National Woodrow Wilson Fellowships have come in the past few years.

The Division of Business Administration endeavors to communicate to the students the knowledge and discipline necessary for a clear understanding and imaginative analysis of our business world.

The aim of the division is specifically achieved through a broad and systematic training in the fields of accounting and business management.

The division has made a significant stride toward the achievement of its goals by the recent inauguration of an internship program that provides excellent practical experience in both private and public accounting for many graduating seniors. Furthermore, the transfer of the division to the center of the downtown business area of Borough Hall provides an atmosphere truly conducive to the type of dynamic response expected of our business students.

SENIOR RETREAT

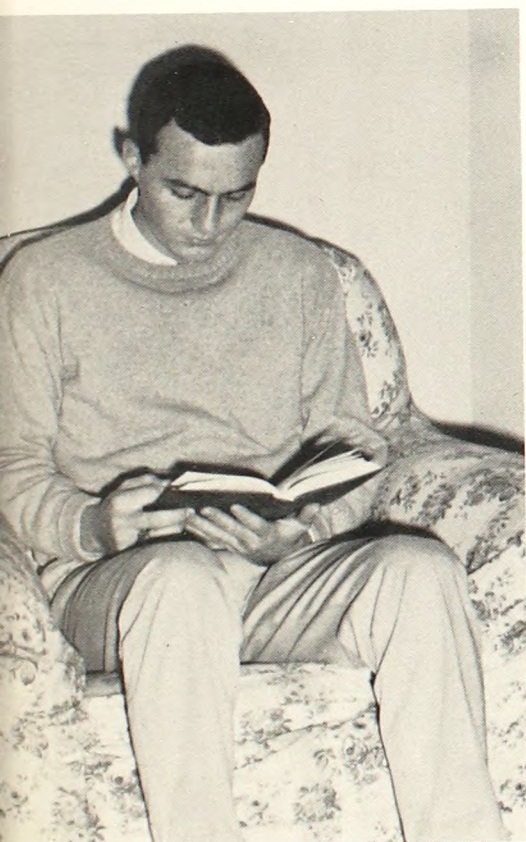

After each meal the seniors on retreat joined in the Stations of the Most Blessed Sacrament, a devotion peculiar to the Franciscan Order.

Several hours were set aside each day for spiritual reading. John Sullivan, Ron Wasielewski and Wayne Wisdom browse through the well stocked library.

Father Joachim, O.F.M., retreat master, discussed many interesting topics during the three day period.

Simple though comfortable quarters made private contemplation a rewarding experience during the retreat.

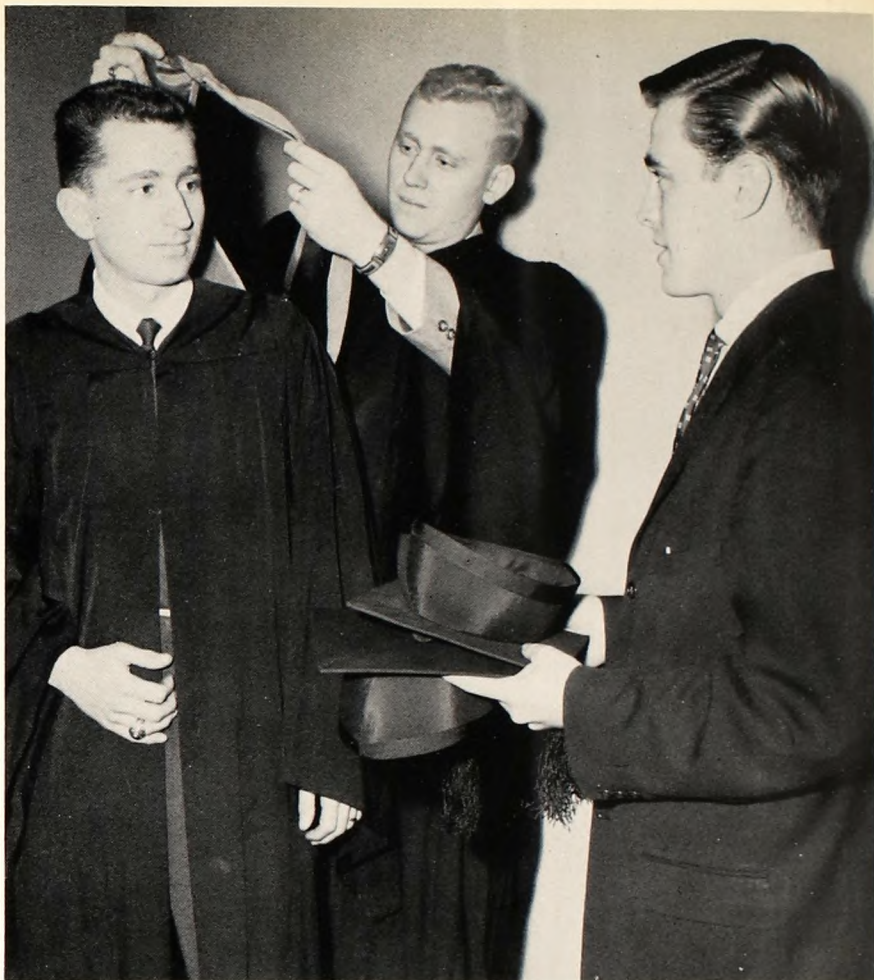

Informal chats during the day enabled the seniors on retreat to discuss further many of the topics treated by Father Joachim.

Commencement is the culmination of the student's attempts to measure up to the ideals of Franciscan education. But a degree from St. Francis College should signify more than the successful completion of four years of scholastic endeavor. Studies alone will not produce the "whole man."

St. Francis is so organized as to afford the student ample outlets for the social as well as the contemplative, the physical as well as the spiritual, the athletic as well as the intellectual development. It is up to the student himself to combine these aspects of his education so as to strike a healthy balance between them. Total concentration on one can only be to the detriment of the others.

The true Franciscan is the student who has combined all these aspects of his education to the best of his ability and in the proportion best suited to his individual needs. The time he has spent at St. Francis will be paying dividends for the rest of his life. The rate of interest will depend in large measure upon the wisdom he has exercised in the utilization of that time.

Ron Wasielewski and Jack Fitzgerald assist Wayne Wisdom in determining the size academic gown he will need for the Commencement exercises.

COMMENCEMENT

Doctor Clement leads the faculty members into the Academy of Music in academic procession.

Mr. Castronovo places the hood on the shoulders of a graduate just before he is presented with his degree.

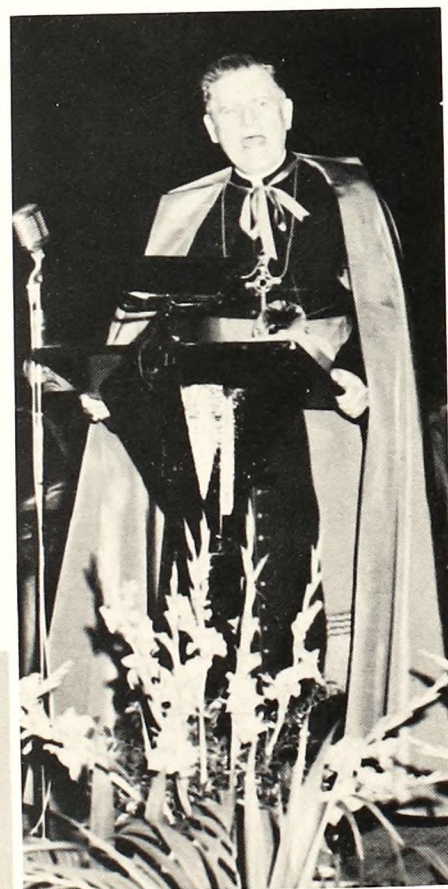

Most Reverend Brian J. McEntegart presents the degree and congratulates a graduate.

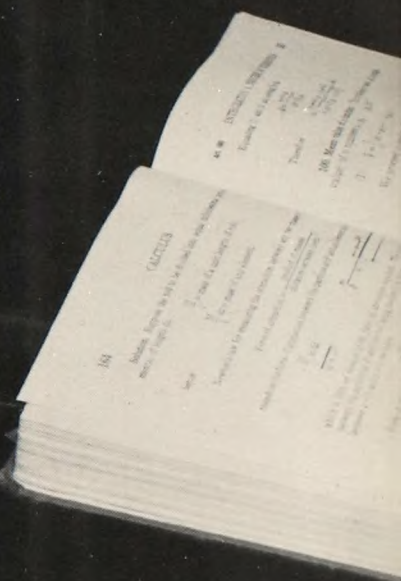

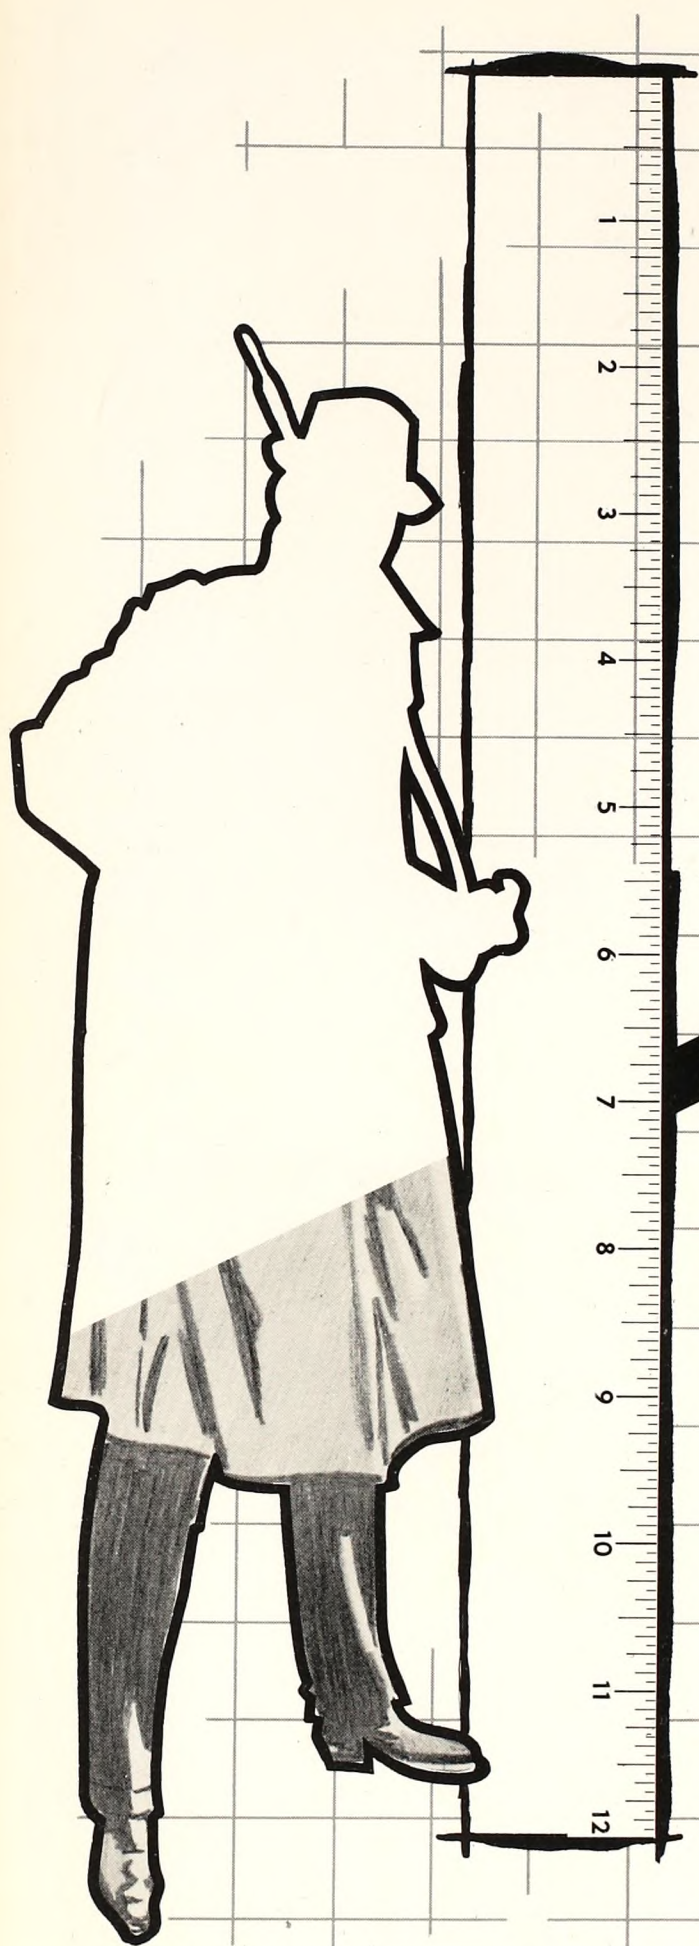

A graduate kisses the Bishop's ring after receiving the degree.

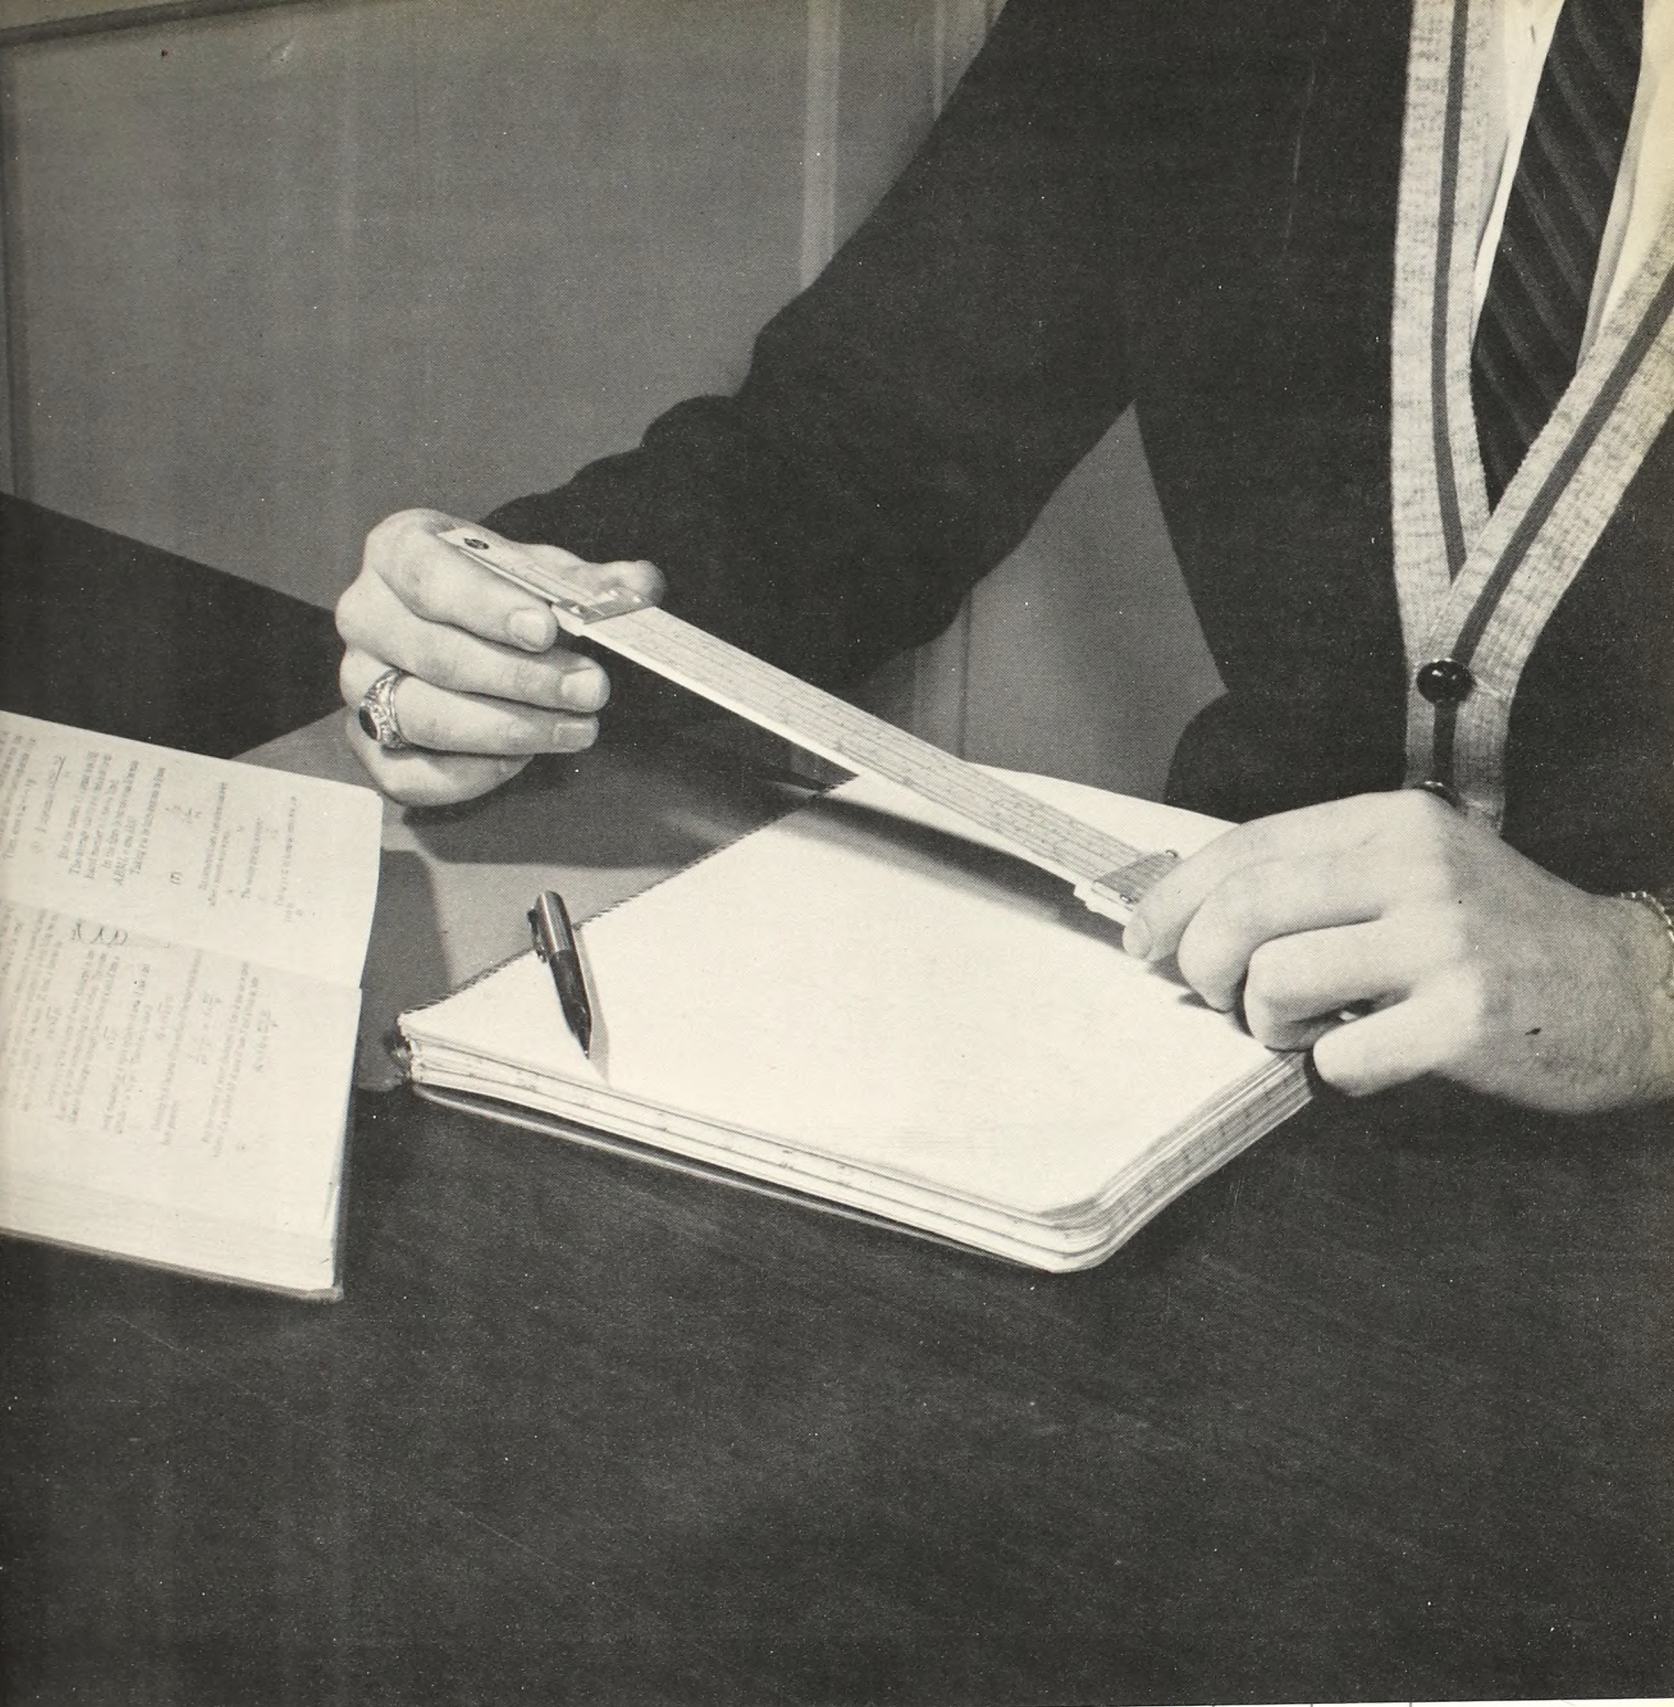

A graduating Josephite is presented with her degree by Bishop McEntegart while Mr. Castronovo adjusts the hood of another Sister.

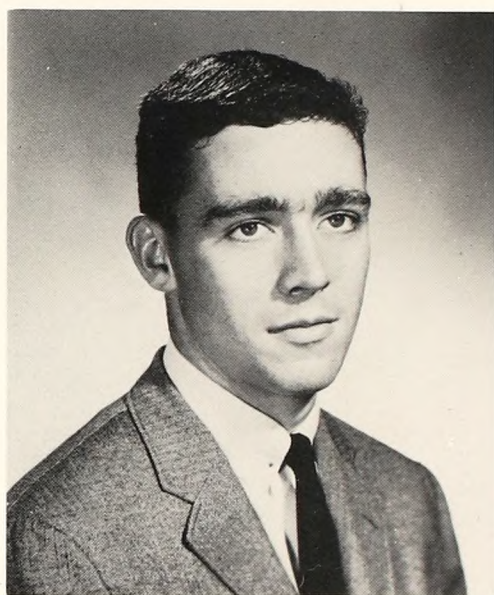

The Bishop exhorts the graduates in his address to give God and Country the full measure of their potential after graduation.

ACTIVITIES

1959

HIGHLIGHTS

1960

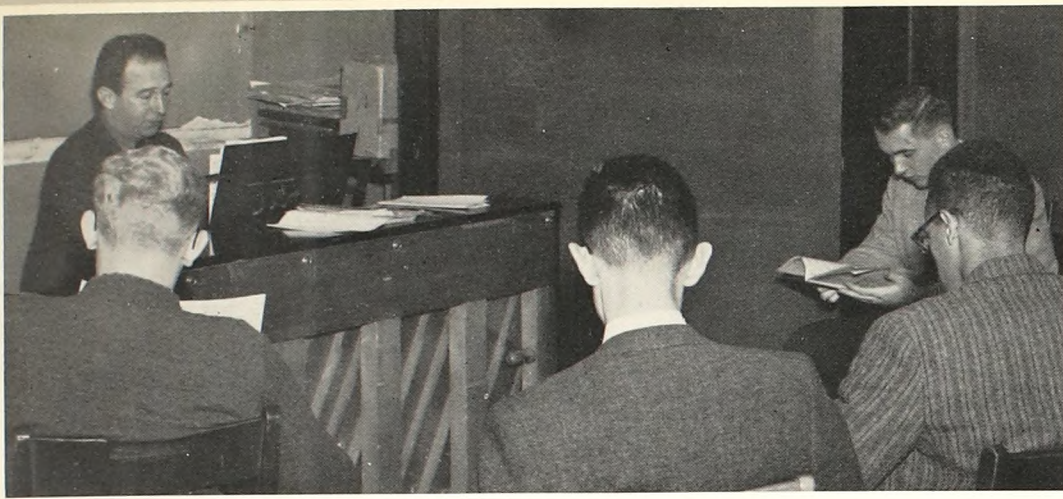

Newly elected Student Council President Joe Murphy held his first meeting early in September to lay the groundwork for the coming year, a year which saw recognition of several new clubs, inauguration of a student parking plan, installation of a lounge and lockers at Court Street and re-vitalization of school spirit.

One of the many changes in the administrative hierarchy was the installation of Brother Pascal as Director of Student Activities. Brother Pascal worked intently in his new office as the primary link between the extracurricular programs and the administration.

Freshman orientation week was a long, grueling period for the incoming students. Talks were given on all imaginable subjects designed to ease the "awkward" frosh into college life. Beanies, the mark of the "newcomer," were distributed by the student group leaders prior to hazing week.

The Glee Club was one of the most improved and most active of the student activities this year. Under the guiding hand of Professor Fiorenza, the Club practiced many hours each week and gave several renditions during the dedication of the Moran Courts, and the Christmas assembly. Practice sessions began for the Glee Club immediately upon school's opening.

Mr. Edward Quigley, the new Publicity Director, an alumnus of St. Francis, became the moderator of the Press Club. The club worked closely with Mr. Quigley's office in collecting, writing and distributing press releases.

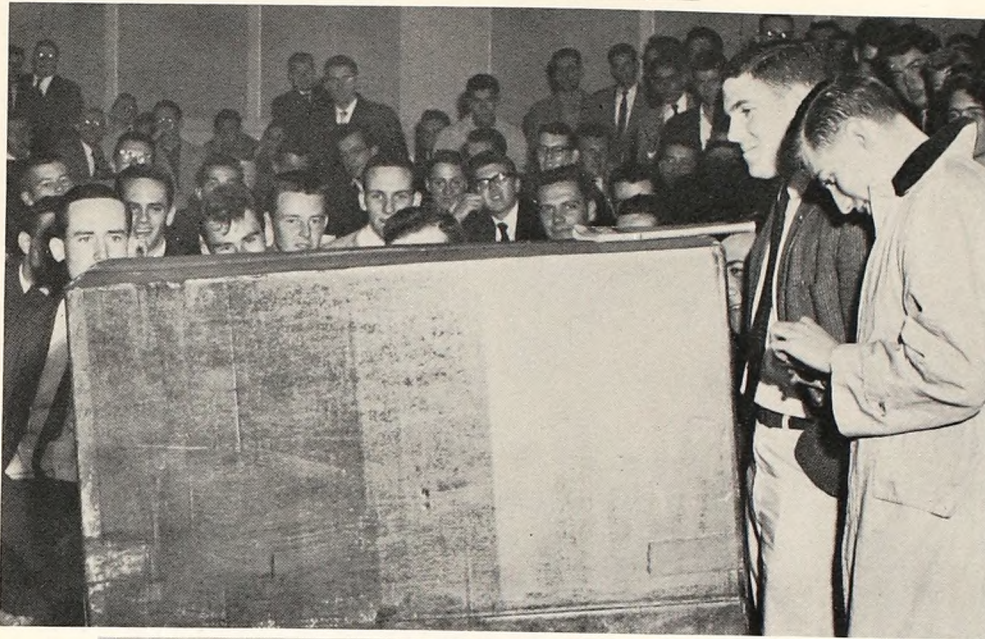

The Terrier Baseball season ended in October. On October 3rd, because of the near-perfect pitching of Artie Beyer and the clutch hitting of Joe Toto, the Terriers defeated Siena and gained third place in the Iona Baseball Tournament. The decisive run in the 5-2 win was pushed across on a squeeze play in the eighth inning.

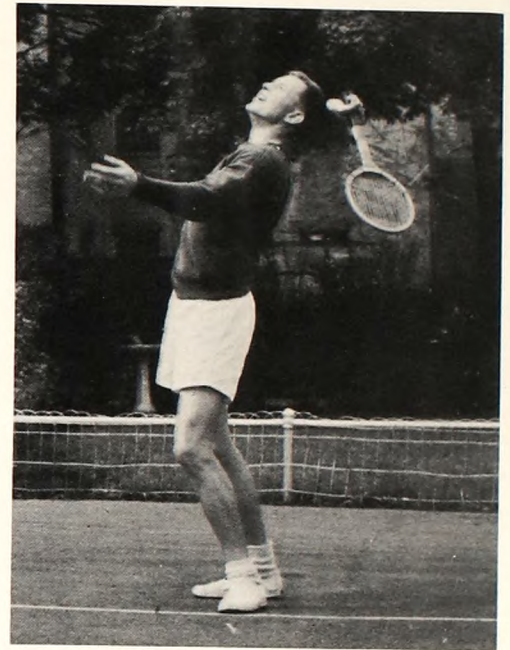

Phi Rho dogging ran through the week of October 19th. Fourteen students completed the rigors of the week's activities and were welcomed as brothers of Phi Rho Pi.

Pi Alpha, the oldest fraternity at St. Francis, held its dogging festivities during the week of October 26th. One of the unforgettable routines was Dick Flynn's imitations in his makeshift T.V. set. Flynn ran the gamut from Marilyn Monroe to Fidel Castro. Pi Alpha initiated nine men following "hell night."

Bill Cahill displayed fine form during the tennis intramurals. Cahill was the outstanding participant during the program, playing in all scheduled events.

Ceremonies dedicating the Reverend Edward A. Moran Student Court were held on October 28th. Following a short talk, Father Moran blessed a statue of St. Francis overlooking the Court area. Father Moran is an alumnus of St. Francis College, and is pastor of St. Sebastian's, Woodside.

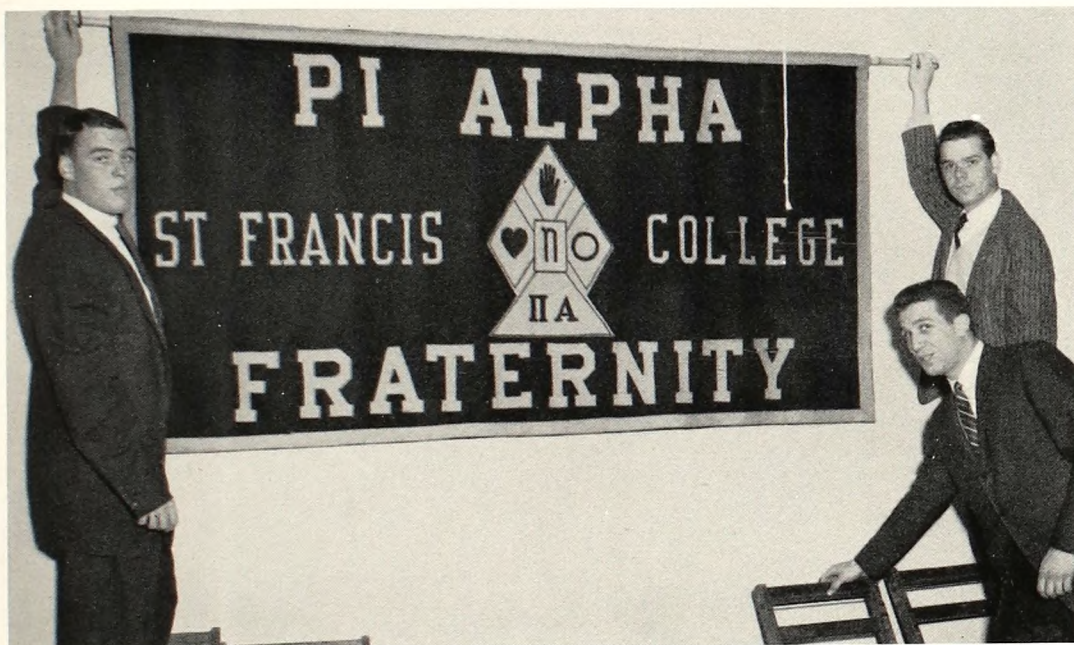

Unmoved by the nippy coolness of autumn, the students found time between classes to participate in the basketball intramurals. Three-man teams vied for intramural honors.

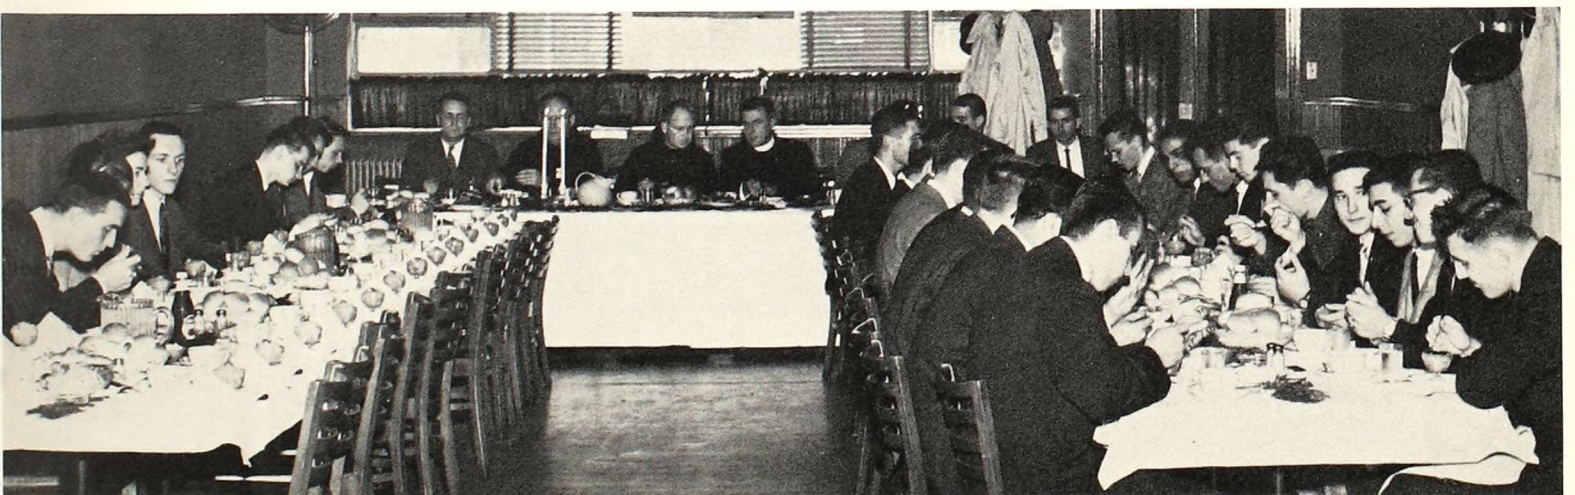

The Annual I.R.C. Political Symposium dealt with management-labor relations and problems. Representing the National Association of Manufacturers was Mr. Edward Maher.

Touch football became one of the most popular between-class activities during late October and November. Many students participated in the intramural program, others merely "chose sides" during free periods.

Pi Alpha obtained a frat house during the summer and, after renovation operations were completed, Archon John Meudt proudly hung the fraternity's banner with the aid of Pat Calhoun and Fred Schneider. The new house soon became a center for relaxation and study during school hours, and an ideal locale for holding socials.

The first student communion breakfast was sponsored by Phi Rho Pi on November 1st. Brother Pascal highlighted the affair with a talk on authority. Following in Phi Rho's footsteps, the Association of Evening Business Students, Pi Alpha and the Veterans Club held successful breakfasts in April.

Realizing the necessity of having the students well informed concerning their future military obligations, permission was given to the various branches of the Armed Services to distribute information and recruit members for their Officer Training Programs.

To help defray the costs to the seniors of their June Prom, the Senior Class sponsored a dance on November 6th. This dance, coupled with a successful co-op campaign, enabled the cost of prom bids to be reduced considerably.

Doctor Carpino brought a new spirit to the Philosophy Club this year through his series of lectures on communism. The club also invited several distinguished lecturers to talk to the students on currently popular topics. A group of students enjoy one of Doctor Carpino's anecdotes following a meeting.

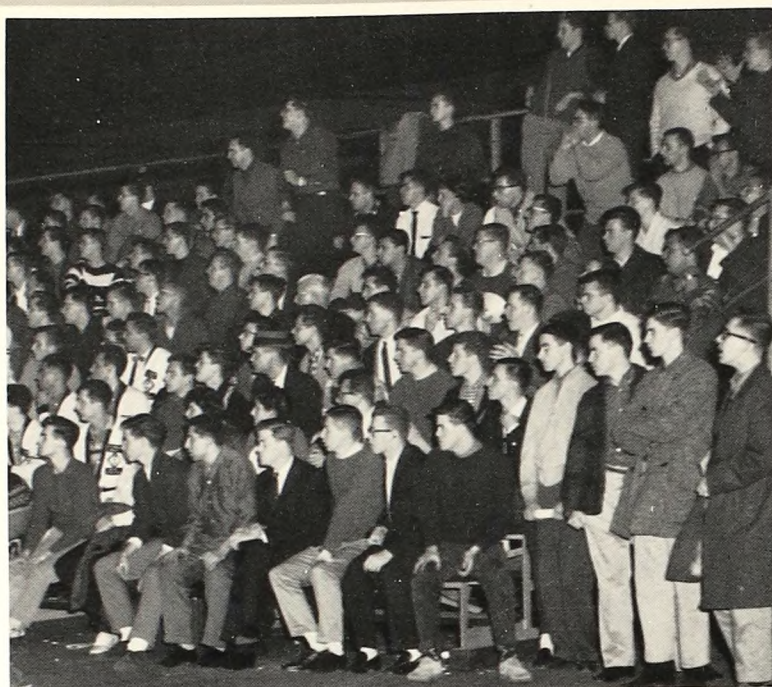

The Troupers opened their season in late November with a presentation of Bus Stop. Elaine Pentony, Bill McCormick and John O'Connor were among the cast. The play was produced by Jim Green and directed by Brother Giles, Troupers moderator.

The Annual Thanksgiving Dance, sponsored by Pi Alpha Fraternity, was held on November 27th at the Hotel New Yorker's Terrace Room. The dance was the social highlight of the year.

Fred Schneider drives in for two points during the second game of the season. The Terriers ripped C. W. Post 75-50. After a strong start, the Terriers ended the season with a 13 and 8 record.

The Terriers played to a capacity house at their second home game on December 8th. Loyola provided the Terrier five with their third straight triumph, 69-65.

Several students found the Lounge "off limits" on December 8th. The reason was the Red Cross Blood Drive.

The Marine Corps' Platoon Leaders Course offers many advantages to the undergraduate. Several times during the year the Corps sent representatives to campus to inform the students of these benefits.

The annual blood drive netted the college blood bank an additional 105 pints of needed blood. A group of students go through a phase of the pre-donation check-up.

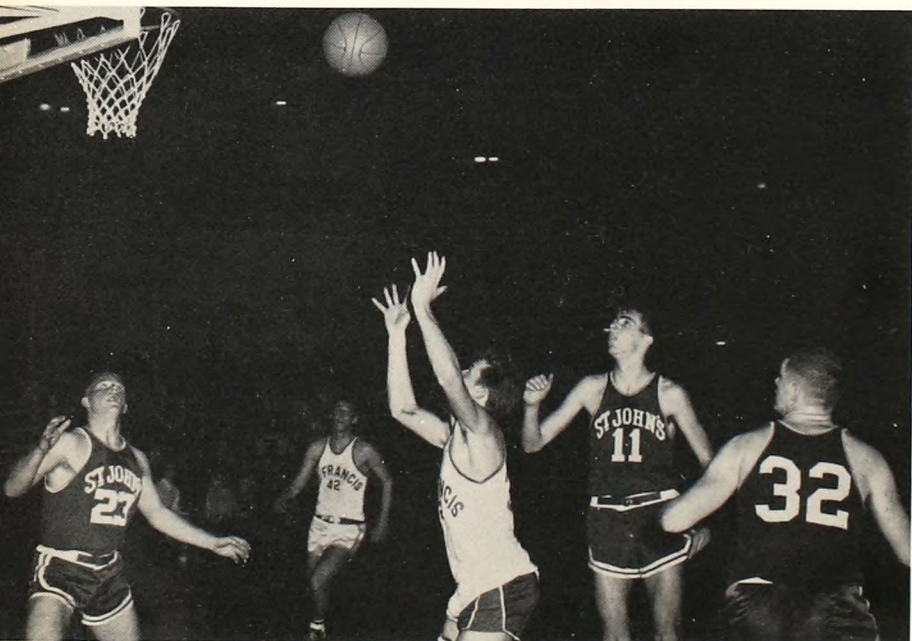

Dr. George Westerman, Panamanian Ambassador to the United Nations, addressed the student body on December 9th. Dr. Westerman discussed the state of United States-Panama relations. The talk was sponsored by the I.R.C.

The Veterans Club held several socials for members and alumni at the Baron DeKalb Knights of Columbus during November and December. The club also conducted a highly successful Toy Drive at Christmas time. Alumnus Les Bishop and his date share a table with the Finans and the Wisdoms.

December 16th was the final day of classes before the Christmas holidays. Highlighting the assembly was an address by Brother Urban, several popular Christmas numbers rendered by the Campus Tones and a selection of hymns sung by the Glee Club. A surprise came at the assembly's close when Joe Murphy presented a gift from the student body to Mrs. McDermott for her wonderful work in the Lounge.

Richie Dryer hits for two points as the Terriers overcome a strong Siena team.

The Frosh basketball team did not enjoy a winning season, losing several close games. Jim Raftrey sets for two points in a losing cause against St. John's.

Phi Rho Pi held its 40th Annual Ball on January 23rd in the Colonial Room of the Sheraton-Atlantic Hotel. Two hundred couples attended the affair. Sal Messineo led a gay conga line as the dancers weaved among the guests' tables.

Members of the Senior Class made a closed three day retreat between January 23rd and 27th. The class was divided into three groups, two going to Mount Alverno, the third to the Third Order Villa. Devotions were held out-of-doors by the seniors on retreat when the weather permitted.

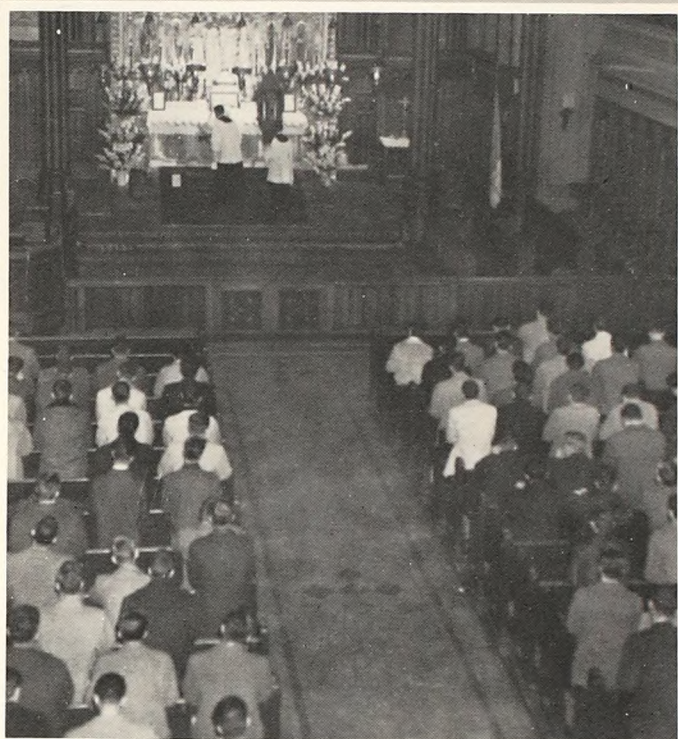

Registration found Dick Manning, Wayne Wisdom and Jim Gannon attempting to work out a schedule of classes.

The closing day of the underclass retreat found most of the students at the communion rail, the perfect ending of a good retreat.

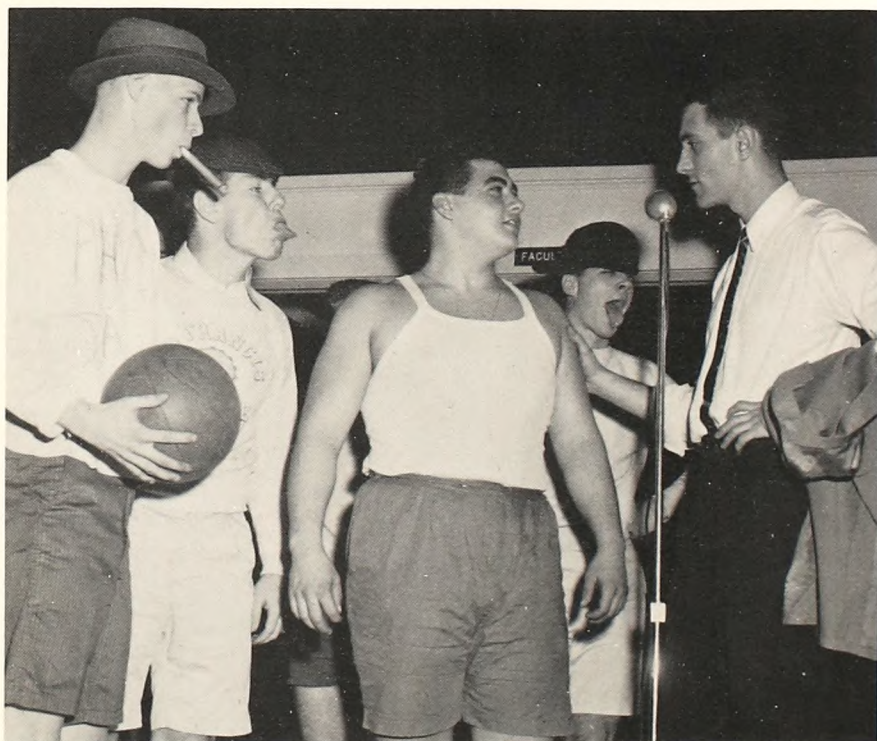

In late January, a group of students met in the Lounge where plans for the Loyalty Fund Campaign were unfolded to them by Brother Urban. The drive, dedicated to the memory of Brother Jerome, began in February and ran until April 11th. A goal of 100% student participation was set.

First Friday Masses were said in either St. Paul's Church or the college chapel. On February 5th, Mass was offered at St. Paul's with a good portion of the student body in attendance.

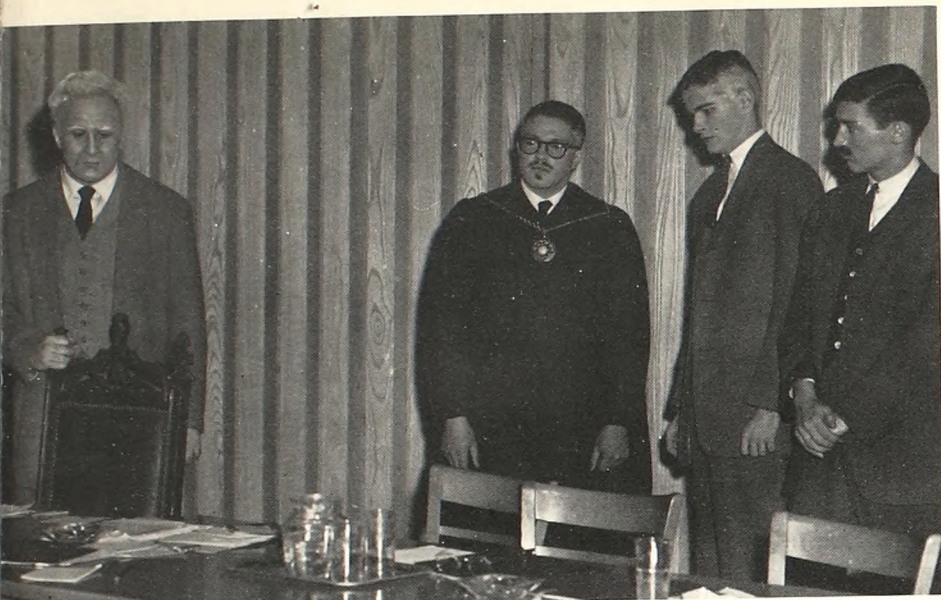

LeMoyne defeated St. Francis 77-66 ending the Terrier's unbeaten hold on first place in the M.E.C.A.A. Conference. Hank O'Lee's attempt was in vain as the Terriers closed to within two points of tying the score in the second half.

The traditional pep rally before the St. Francis-St. John's game was the cleverest to hit the campus in many years. The rally included an ample portion of good hearted downgrading of the "Redmen" and the happy display of the "missing" St. John's mat. The Terriers were edged by the N.I.T.-bound Redmen in their 49th meeting.

A job clinic was conducted by Mr. Stuart Campbell of the New York Life Insurance Company on February 19th. The clinic, under the direction of Brother Donald, aimed to acquaint the students with the type of interview they will receive after graduation.

A one act play, Mirbeau's The Epidemic, was presented by the Troupers on February 28th in the Lounge. The play, directed by John O'Connor and produced by Jim Green, featured Sal Allocco, John Richetti, Robert Peyton and Dick Flynn.

The Junior Class held its dance on February 26th at the Hotel New Yorker. Among the evening's festivities was a drawing for a basket of cheer. Frank Ferguson and Joe Walker eagerly await the lucky ticket.

The "luck o' the Irish" failed to sway the weatherman this St. Patrick's Day. Yet, the stouthearted sons of Erin braved the snow and the cold to represent St. Francis College in the parade. The contingent was led by Tim Courtney, Mike Henning, Joe Murphy and Bill McCormick carrying the College colors.

Commencement marked the termination of another year at St. Francis College, and the end of four years of Franciscan education for the graduates.

The Math Club enjoyed a successful year of activities. Meetings included group discussions, lectures by prominent men and practical application of learned principles. The club also conducted several field trips.

LOYALTY FUND CAMPAIGN

The Loyalty Fund Campaign was instituted this year to establish the Brother Jerome Memorial Scholarship Fund. Every four years, this scholarship will entitle a deserving Catholic youth to a full Franciscan education.

But more than this, the success of the drive was to be a measure of the loyalty of St. Francis students to their college, and of their confidence and concern for its development and improvement.

A goal was set, captains and stewards appointed to collect funds, and a six week period was set aside to measure up to the goal. With typical Franciscan enthusiasm, the drive was held, the results were tallied and the goal was realized.

REVEREND BROTHER BERNARD, O.S.F.
Administration President of the Fund

Brothers Bernard and Camillus and leaders of the Senior Class, Bill McCormick, John Ferguson, Joseph Rand and Vincent Polito, plan the distribution of percentages to the Senior Class in order to evaluate their class percentage.

Brother Urban addressed the students during the initial stages of the drive to feel the measure of its popularity with the student body.

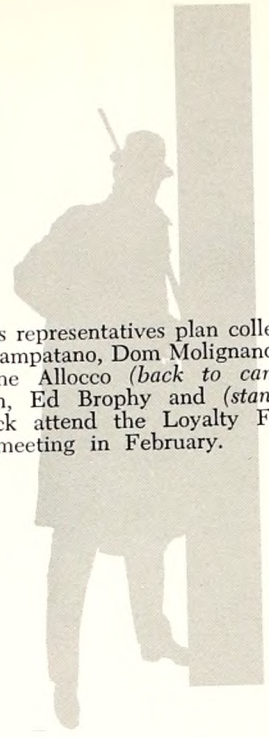

JOSEPH MURPHY
Student President of the Loyalty Fund

Discussing ideas concerning the steward system which was finally adopted, Brother Bernard asks Wayne Wisdom for his reaction to John and Bill McCormick's suggestion.

The Junior Class representatives plan collection strategy. Bob Campatano, Dom Molignano, Joe Walker, Carmine Allocco (back to camera), Frank Ferguson, Ed Brophy and (standing) John McCormick attend the Loyalty Fund's organizational meeting in February.

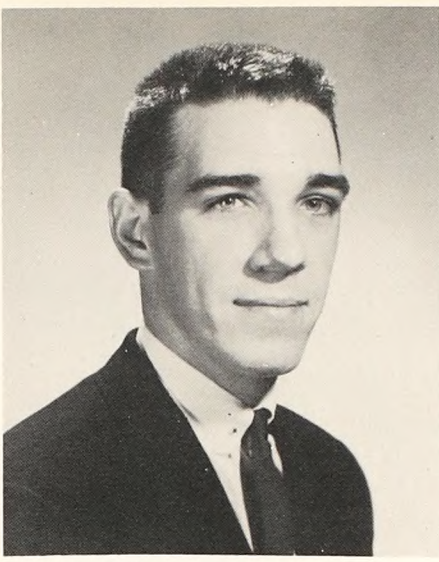

Sophomores discuss class reaction to the first announcement of the Loyalty Fund. Joe Lynch injects commentary into the conversation on the opposite side of the table, including Brother Anthelm, Class Moderator, George Festa, Jim Hudson and Dave Lopez.

The Freshmen rally behind Class Moderator Brother Simeon as progress is made toward the class percentage. Stewards and captains included Joseph Addiego, Joseph Faiello, Joseph Gargiulo, Vincent DiClemente and Mark Thomas.

STUDENT COUNCIL

JOSEPH MURPHY
President

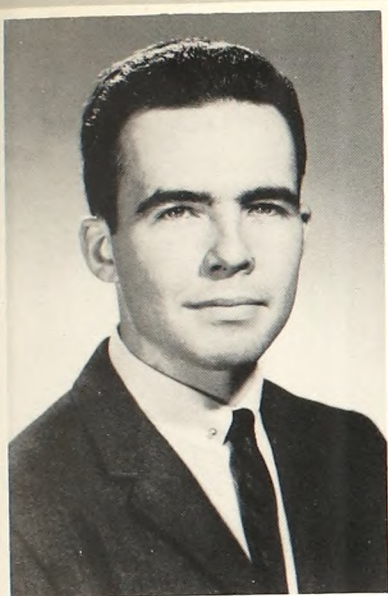

The Student Council is constituted to coordinate and administrate the extracurricular activities of the college. It is a representative organization whose delegates are chosen by popular election from the individual clubs and classes. The Council is responsible for the formulation of the official scholastic social calendar, and handles the Student Activities, Franciscan Spirit and Who's Who awards as well as the Blood Drive, appointment of Student Group Leaders and the annual participation in the St. Patrick's Day Parade.

The Student Council was instrumental in obtaining needed improvements by intercession for the student body to the Administration. Likewise, the Council obtained student parking privileges, encouraged the addition of a student lounge to the Court Street facilities, and initiated the Loyalty Fund Drive. Sunday stag dances were another Council innovation.

The goal of the Student Council is adequate and effective representation for the clubs and the individual student. Diligent exercise of its representative powers is the measure of its success.

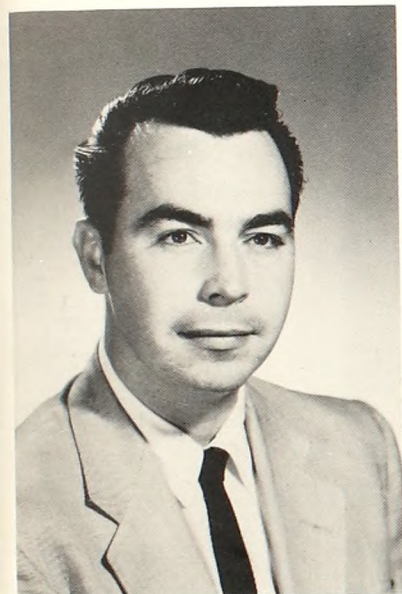

Members of the Franciscan Spirit Award Committee chose fourteen winners; Council members added two more. John Ferguson, Sal Allocco, Joe Murphy, Dick Flynn, Sal Messineo and John O'Connor composed the committee.

JOHN O'CONNOR
Vice President

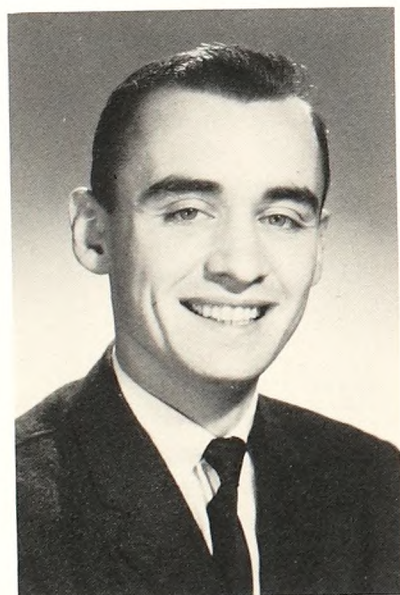

Brother Urban addressed the Council members upon presentation of the Student Loyalty Fund idea to him.

WILLIAM McCORMICK
Secretary

JOHN FERGUSON

SALVATORE ALLOCCO
Parliamentarian

Frank Avenoso and Ed Brophy expound the Weight Lifting Club's proposed constitution.

Thirteen seniors were elected to Who's Who Among Students . . . by Council approval of the committee's selections. Members of the committee included Bill McCormick, John Fitzgerald, John O'Connor, Sal Allocco and Joe Murphy.

President Murphy was elected by the student body on a simple majority vote following an indecisive election.

The report by Jim Hudson, Bill Walsh and Dom Mollignano aided toward installment of lockers in the Court Street Lounge.

Jim O'Connor and Frank Macchiaiola listen to Ed Brophy's argument for student parking on the Moran Courts during the winter months.

Sal Allocco argues for the nominal donation to the Loyalty Fund, while Vinny Polito, Ed Brophy, Joe Lopez and Mike Henning debate the issue.

The Blood Drive netted 105 pints due to the work and campaigning of committeemen George Festa, Bill Walsh, Joe Murphy (seated), Jerry Atkins, Joe Crowley, and Jim Hudson.

Bill Walsh and John McCormick headed committees for the successful stag dances this year.

Bill and John McCormick listen to Dick Flynn's optimistic views concerning the social calendar; most weekends were filled by activities.

Major action is taken by the Council to aid the clubs in the college. Representatives Buzinkai, Maguire and Ferguson (front row), and Fitzgerald, Walsh, Fallon, Allocco, Messineo and Molignano contributed to much discussion concerning slumping school spirit.

Thirteen students have been chosen for inclusion in the 1959-1960 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Selections were made on the basis of scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship, service to the school and promise of future achievements.

The students recognized by this organization each year are nominated from approximately 750 colleges and universities throughout the United States. The task of selecting thirteen men from the entire senior class for this honor was not an easy one, and the Student Council Awards Committee spent many arduous hours of comparison, evaluation and contemplation before the students were chosen and their names submitted. More was required of the candidates than nominal membership in an impressive number of activities. Each applicant was carefully scrutinized with an eye to the actual contribution he made to the activities in which he professed participation. Nor was scholastic aptitude ignored, for an index of at least 2.00 was prerequisite for consideration.

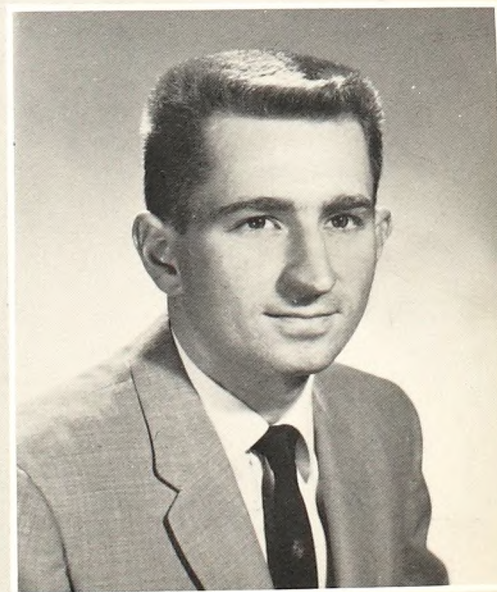

These thirteen men were selected by the committee, approved by the Student Council and accepted in toto for inclusion in the 1960 edition of Who's Who . . . Briefly stated, they were measured . . . and they measured up.

MATH CLUB

It is the aim of the Math Club to provide a deepening of interest, enjoyment and appreciation of the world of mathematics, and to provide aid to those students who might encounter difficulties in measuring up to the requirements of their mathematics courses.

Various trips were taken to companies whose work might be of interest; guest speakers addressed several club meetings; and, at the annual career night, successful alumni returned to discuss the opportunities available in their particular fields.

Brother Leo, chairman of the Math Department, presents scholarship trophies to Frank Regan and James Addiego, winners of the 1959 Bishop McEntegart Scholarship sponsored by the Math Club.

Gabe Regal tests an experiment in gravity as members Jim Crosby, John Meudt, Bill Lawlor, and Pat Tonra look on.

THIRD ORDER

Alumni Tom Bligh, Jim Konkel, Al Doumar and Martin Boyle measure the growth and success of the Third Order of St. Francis since their college days.

The Third Order of Saint Francis is a layman's order founded by Saint Francis of Assisi in order that people of the world may lead a more perfect life. Tertiaries take no vows. They participate in the numerous graces and benefits accorded by the Church to the Franciscan Order.

The ultimate goal of the Third Order is the salvation of souls, and the members are afforded a special means through various prayers and religious exercises. Monthly meetings are held in order to gain the benefits of public worship, and to encourage new membership.

HAROLD CLINES
President

Prayers and Benediction follow each monthly meeting.

Brother Alexander, Moderator, and Jim Green enjoy a cheerful note from an alumnus.

HUMANITIES CLUB

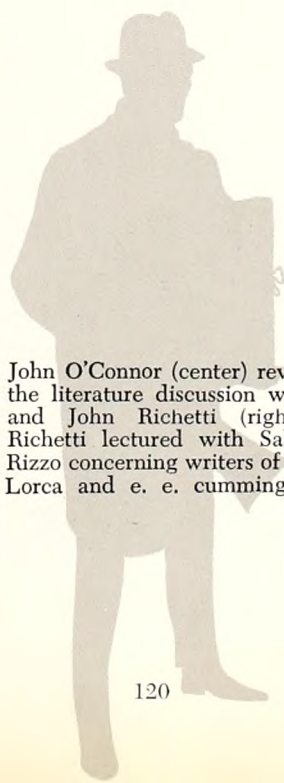

The purpose of the Humanities Club is to develop and stimulate an appreciation of the literary and cultural contributions of all peoples. Membership enables students to cultivate discerning cultural taste and to develop valid standards by which to measure noteworthy efforts in the realms of music, literature and art. In addition to meetings and lectures, the group sponsored record concerts and excursions to museums, operas and ballets.

JAMES GREEN
President

"Two films will be presented in the next two months, The Man of Aran and Michelangelo," announced Jim Green to the student members. The latter participated in symposiums, panel discussions, literature lectures and exhibits.

One of the many lectures dealt with the working of the M-1 rifle. Here, a Corps representative begins to reassemble the weapon.

Semper Fi is an organization for students seeking membership in the United States Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Class. Those students who fulfill the requirements will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Marine Corps upon graduation.

Monthly meetings help to prepare the aspiring students by presenting informative lectures on many phases of Marine life. These lectures, coupled with several summer sessions at Marine training reservations, will eventually enable the student to measure up to the rigid standards of the Marine Corps.

Basic weapon handling is being given to new members by John Ferguson as the Corps Liaison Officer observes the demonstration.

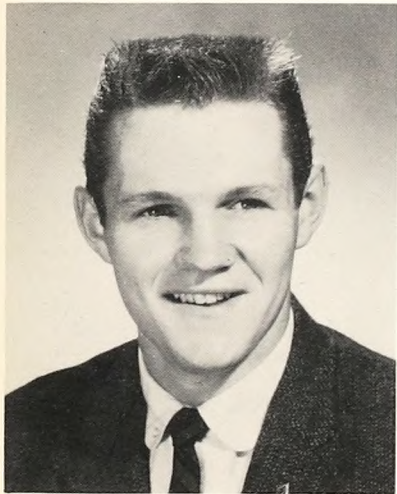

PI ALPHA FRATERNITY

Pi Alpha is the oldest fraternity at St. Francis. Dedicated to God, school and country, it operates under a code of Christian brotherhood rooted in the teachings of St. Francis himself. Its members strive to bring themselves closer to each other and to God through the various duties and activities of fraternal life. Bonds of friendship and loyalty formed during college years do not cease at graduation, but continue to enrich the lives of the brothers as long as they respect the sacred pledge of membership.

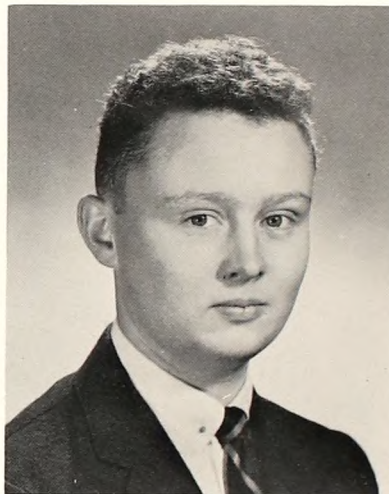

The spiritual, intellectual and social development of every member is the direct concern of the fraternity. Parties, dances and socials strengthen the ties of brotherhood. A new fraternity house, financed and decorated entirely by the members, was effective proof of the industry and cooperation that traditionally characterize Pi Alpha.

Frat brothers and their guests enjoy a pause during the night's festivities. The fraternity's annual dance at the Hotel New Yorker was one of the social highlights of the year.

The new fraternity house offers a restful haven between classes. It also proves to be a means of bringing all the men of Pi Alpha closer together.

Underclassmen check the seating plan for the annual dance, while alumnus Jerry Gillia bargains with John Meudt for a choice table.

Dick Flynn proved to be one of the most entertaining "dogs" ever to pledge for Pi Alpha. Dick's antics packed the lounge whenever he appeared.

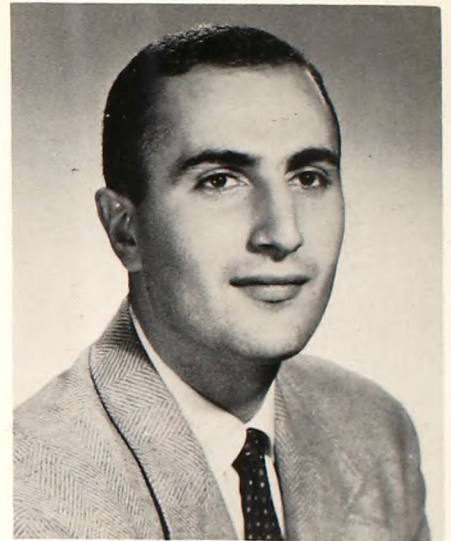

John Meudt admonishes off-key "dogs."

Everyone seems happy as dogging week nears its end; only Hell Night remains for the wary "dogs."

BUSINESS CLUB

The Business Club is intended to arouse the interest of the student body in current business trends and opportunities. Membership is not confined to the Business Division. Any student may join who is interested in pursuing a career in the world of modern business, and wishes to prepare for that career by working closely with experienced businessmen qualified in advice and training. Regular meetings and practice sessions are highlighted by guest speakers and informal group discussions.

PATRICK RUSSO
President

Professor Robert Rich addresses the club's second meeting, discussing plans for proposed field trips to outstanding business firms.

President Pat Russo explains the conditions necessary for a student to participate in the internship program to Tim Courtney, Don Grennon and Joe Shelley.

A special meeting was called during which members of the club recounted their experiences during the internship training.

ST. BONAVENTURE PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

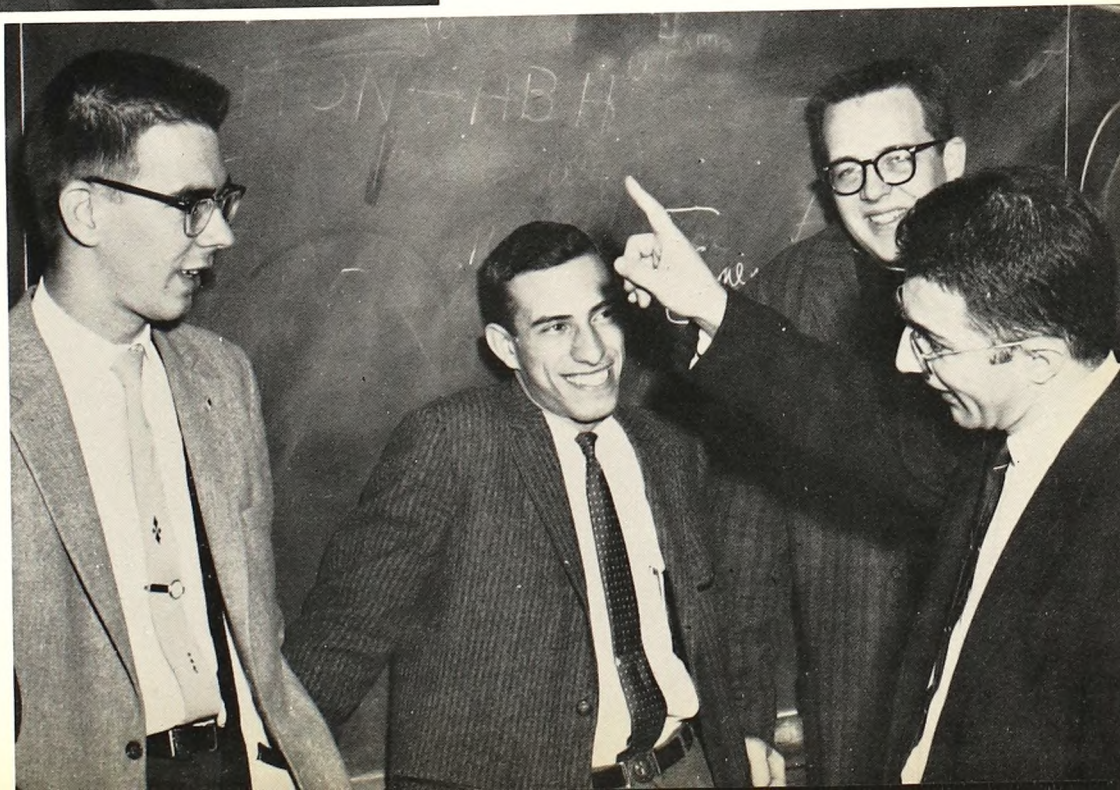

ALAN WEATHERWAX
President

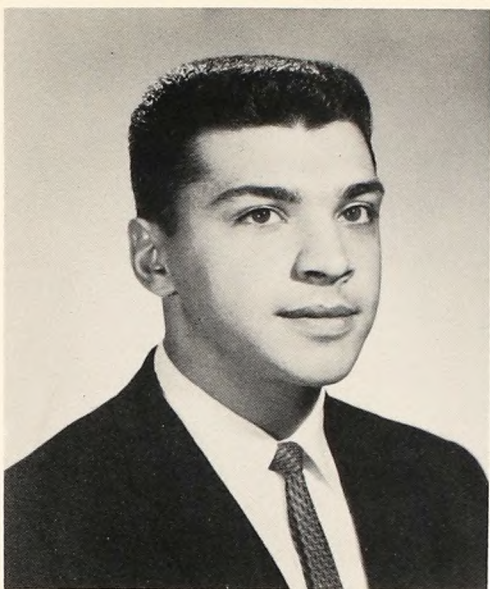

The St. Bonaventure Philosophical Society stimulates interest in the basic principles of contemporary philosophical thought. Classical and medieval philosophers are also studied in the light of their application to modern problems and their influence on current thought.

Weekly lectures by the moderator acquaint the members and interested students with the philosophical foundations of Communism, and serve to eradicate many misconceptions concerning its basic tenets.

Carefully choosing his words, Doctor Carpino continues on a point made during one of his many lectures given on Communism.

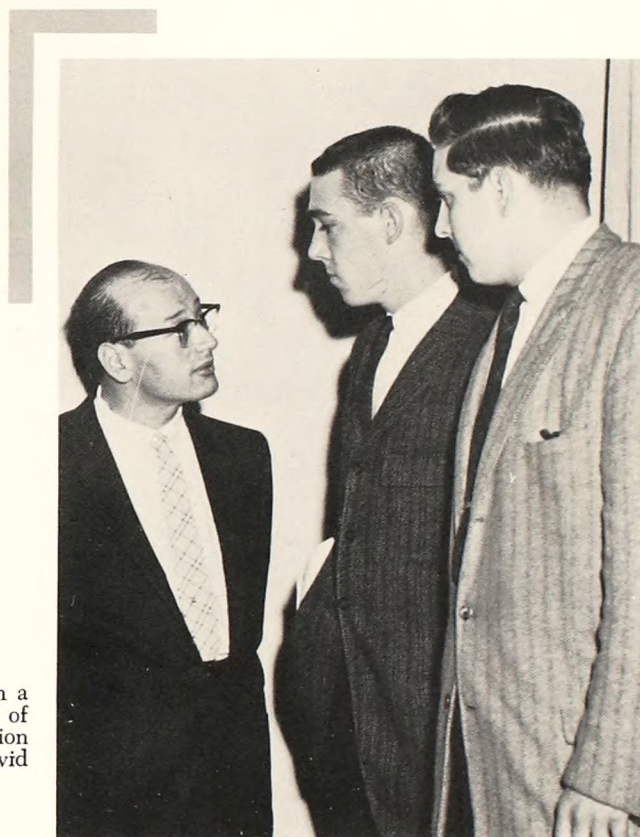

Al Weatherwax, Tom Russo and Frank Fallon smilingly listen as Doctor Carpino refutes an argument advanced by the club members.

JOSEPH MINGIONE
President

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Joe Murphy and John Milewski obtain a further insight into the complexities of labor unions, their internal organization and their problems from Mr. David Wells.

The International Relations Club was organized to stimulate interest in world affairs. Guest speakers from all over the world give informative talks to members.

The annual political symposium in October dealt with the problems of the steel strike. Several weeks later Dr. George Westerman, Panamanian Ambassador to the U.N., addressed the entire student body.

The I.R.C. also presented a series of informative films for the students at large, and sponsored its second Annual Political Convention for high school seniors and guests of political and international importance in its efforts to fulfill its objective.

Mr. George Westerman, Panamanian Ambassador to the United Nations, receives a prolonged ovation after his address on Canal Zone problems.

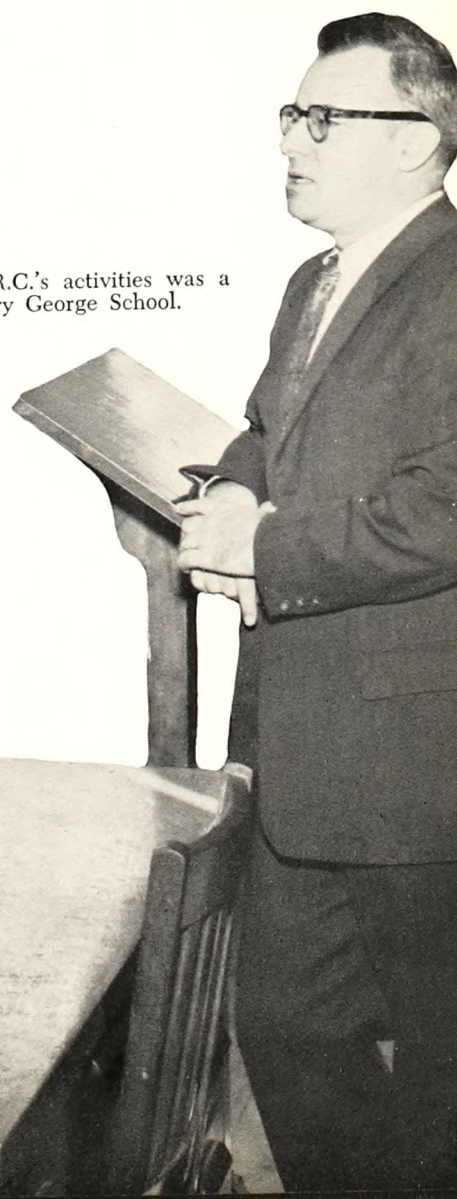

Mr. David Wells of the I.L.G.W.U. discussed the position taken by organized labor regarding the strike in the steel industry at the Political Symposium.

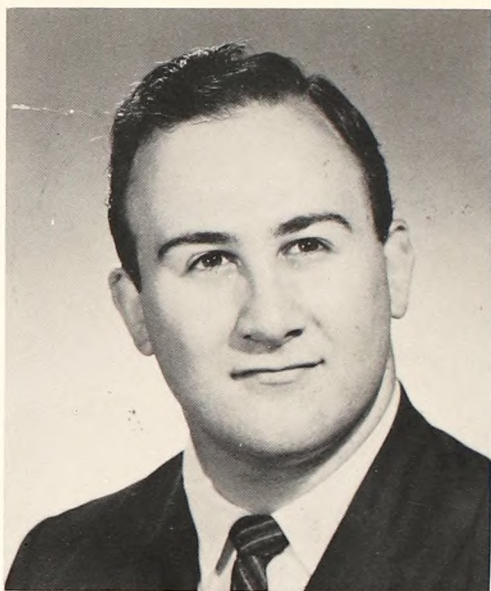

Mr. Joseph Ellis, I.R.C. moderator, chats with the National Association of Manufacturers' representative at the Political Symposium, Mr. Robert Maher, concerning management's position during the long steel strike. Mike Zufolo and Joe Mingione wait for a pause in the conversation to express their views.

One of the highlights of the I.R.C.'s activities was a lecture by a member of the Henry George School.

THE VOICE

Salvatore Allocco, Editor-in-Chief, attended the Catholic University Journalism Institute. He taught what he had learned about layout and editing to his hand-picked staff, who in turn imparted their knowledge to new members.

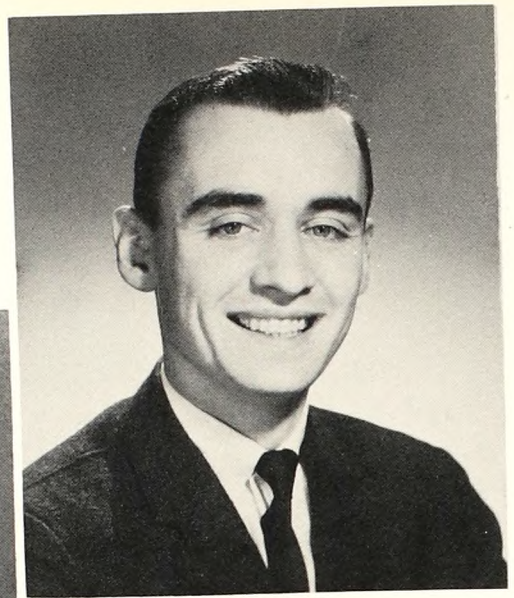

"To be proofread," comments Mike Henning. As a writer on the sports staff, John Ward wrote mainly athletic feature articles, as well as straight feature stories.

Joe Murphy proved to be an invaluable editorial consultant as well as an all-around staff member for the paper.

As News Editor, John A. Ferguson worked with his staff on the basic tenets of news writing. He wrote headlines for the news pages and marked copy for printing, as well as writing various stories.

William Walsh rose to the News Editorship from positions as typist and Student Council reporter. He prepared page assignments, proof-read news copy and wrote headlines for the news pages.

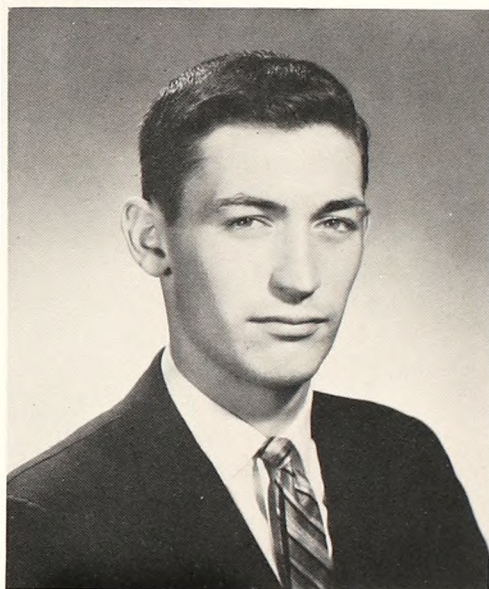

The Voice is the student newspaper which enables its staff to develop journalistic skills through actual practice. The aim of the paper is to present news, feature articles, athletic stories and editorials to keep the student body informed concerning academic and extracurricular developments.

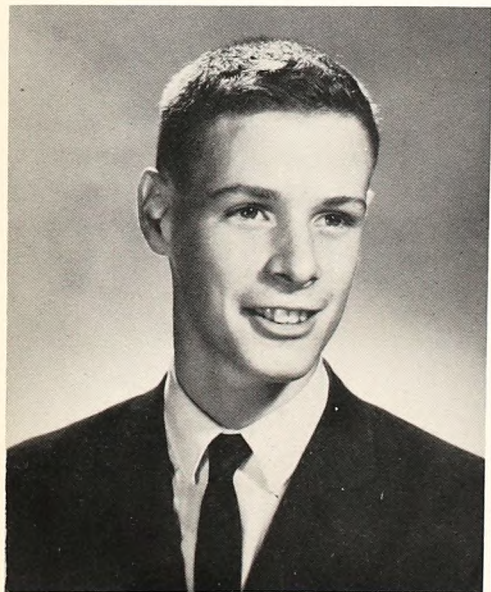

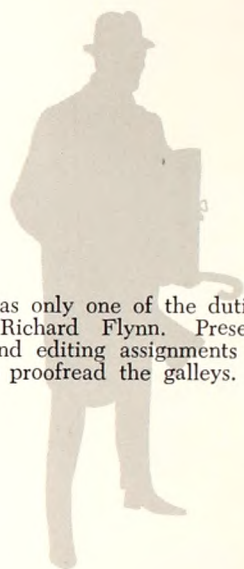

Members of the staff are taught the rudiments of layout, news writing, page makeup and dummyming, as well as proof-reading and feature writing. Students are free to express their opinions on any topic in a Letters to the Editor section on the feature page.

Frank Avenoso questions wording of a dubious phrase. As a news writer, Frank served under Bill Walsh and aided with dummy work. Sal Allocco is momentarily distracted while checking Joe Coppotelli's layout for the news page.

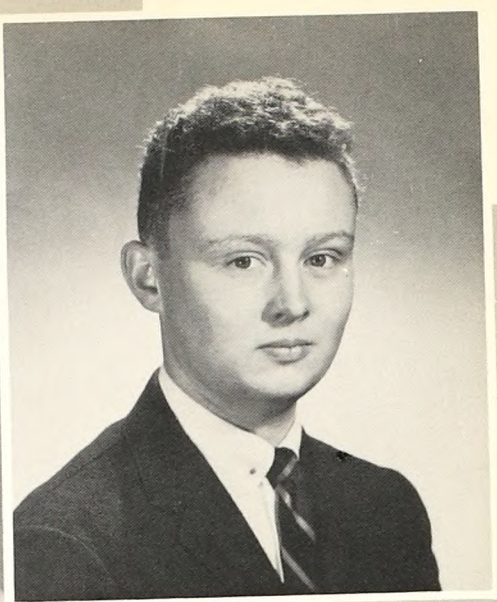

Writing poetry was only one of the duties of Feature Editor Richard Flynn. Presenting salient features and editing assignments were his tasks; he also proofread the galleys.

Statistics, schedules and player profiles were main interests in the work of Mike Henning, Sports Editor. Many times he was forced to work with skelton staffs and skimpy material. Between rewriting, checking records and interchanging articles with other colleges, the sports page was completed.

It was the job of the Editor-in-Chief to set story deadlines with the departmental editors. Here, Bill Walsh checks the date and titles of copy material for a news section.

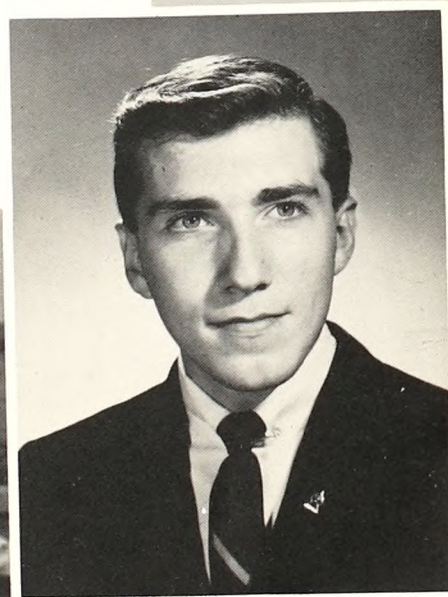

John J. Ferguson, Art Editor, prepared all drawings for the Voice this year.

Immediately before copy is sent to the printer for type setting, Frank Avenoso (l.) dictates stories to Bill Walsh. Joe Murphy (r.) types headlines, and Joe Coppotelli presents and explains the layout for the next issue to Sports Editor Henning.

Dick Flynn marks galleys as Mike Henning matches each story with the dummy. The dummy is the printer's guide and must coincide with the copy printed on the galleys.

Flexible, balanced and changing layouts were prime requisites of Layout Editor Joseph Coppotelli. He did this by floating the nameplate, rearranging page plans and varying picture layouts.

MICHAEL REDMOND

GAELIC SOCIETY

Mike Redmond and John McCormick thrash out a problem concerning the St. Patrick's Day Parade. Jim Murray and Danny O'Connor measure both proposals.

The Gaelic Society consists of a group of students interested in the study and promulgation of Irish culture and lore. The Society aims to inculcate an appreciation of the value of Irish contributions to our American culture, and to strengthen in the members a spirit of pride in their Gaelic heritage.

Lectures and exhibits depicting various aspects of Irish life and history were presented during the year. The club marched as a unit in the St. Patrick's Day Parade.

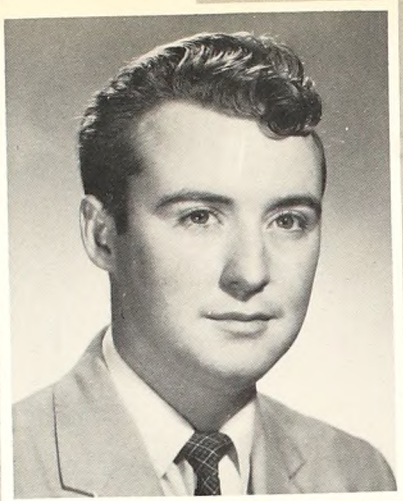

A major point of interest to the society is the partition of Ireland. Brother Joseph, Moderator, discusses the implications of a welding of north and south.

Mike Redmond seeks suggestions from the members on plans to invite a guest speaker to lecture the group.

VETERANS CLUB

JAMES O'DONNELL
President

Jim O'Donnell discusses plans for the annual Christmas Toy Drive with members of the committee.

The Veterans Club has set two primary goals: to assist returning servicemen in re-orientating themselves to college life and keep them abreast of changing policy regarding veterans' benefits, and to help the students prepare themselves for future military service.

To realize these goals, the club maintains contact with the Veterans Administration and various branches of the Armed Services in order to obtain the latest information regarding changes in policies.

The club calls upon the experience of its members to give the non-veterans a concise idea of the daily routines of military life.

John Finan and Wayne Wisdom dance with their wives during one of the club's socials at the Baron DeKalb Council, Knights of Columbus.

Unable to depend solely upon donations of toys, the members made an appeal for finances to local merchants and the families of the students. Jim O'Donnell and Wayne Wisdom get the campaign underway by distributing donation cans.

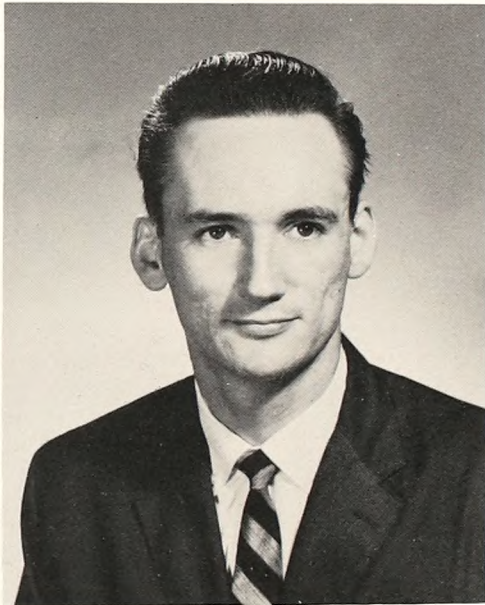

OMICRON CHI EPSILON

Omicron Chi Epsilon, Iota Chapter of the national honor society in Economics, has a three fold purpose: to stimulate interest in Economics; to help promising students; and to confer distinction for high scholastic achievement.

Membership is confined to Juniors or Seniors with at least twelve semester hours of Economics courses. An average of B is required in these courses, as well as a cumulative index of not less than 3.00.

ASSOCIATION OF EVENING BUSINESS STUDENTS

The Association of Evening Business Students was formed in order to create a keener interest in business affairs and to promote a clearer understanding of the business world. The club also acted to integrate the students of the Evening Session into the social and extracurricular activities of the college.

Monthly meetings dealt with current business trends and problems. These meetings provided a common meeting ground where the unique problems of night school students could be discussed. In addition to the serious work of monthly meetings, the Association sponsored a Dinner Dance, a Communion Breakfast and a picnic as social outlets for the evening students.

JAMES McNICHOLAS
President

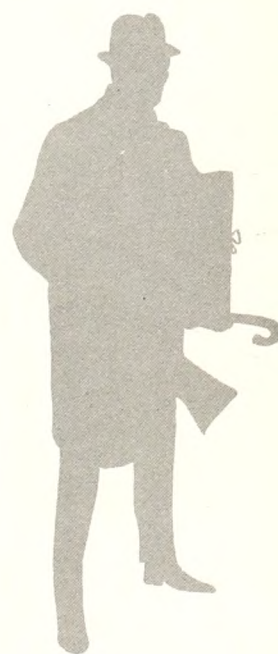

Several evening students arrive early for a meeting. After a long day at the office, students still found energy to launch a vigorous program designed to further incorporate the evening session with its daytime counterpart.

The Loyalty Fund Campaign and the April Communion Breakfast were among the many topics discussed between classes at Court Street.

Early arrivals find time to scan the day's headlines or just chat before the heavily travelled corridors would fill again.

For the senior members, ordering their college ring was an important moment.

CAMPUS TONES

Campus Tones vocalist Pat Calhoun sang at the Christmas Assembly.

WILLIAM LAWLOR
President

The Campus Tones, the dance band of St. Francis College, attempts to provide an outlet for those students who are musically inclined and interested in contemporary music. The group's goal was realized with a most rewarding year.

Practice sessions are held regularly, during which the group prepares its own interpretations of currently popular tunes and revives many of the old standards.

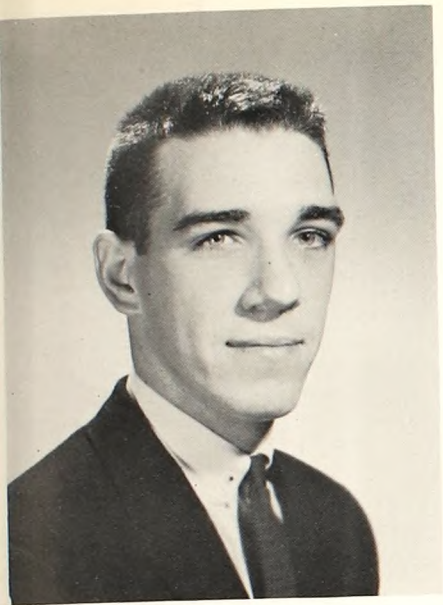

The group gave an added boost to the newly inaugurated stag dances and provided the basketball team with a musical cheering section. Their renditions at the Christmas Assembly moved everyone into the happy mood of the season.

The group lets loose with a lively jazz selection.

STUDENT GROUP LEADERS

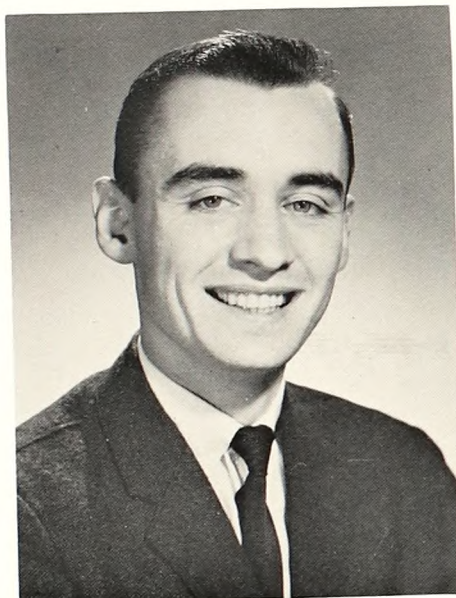

The Student Group Leaders are outstanding students selected by the Student Council to assist in the various programs of the administration. This group is extremely active during orientation week giving incoming students a first-hand insight into all facets of college life. During the year they meet with selected groups of freshmen to conduct orientation lectures. Members of the group also serve as hosts during the career conferences held throughout the year.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

Virgil	George Sztabnik
Will Masters	Bill McCormick
Dr. Lyman	Fred Kelly
Elma	Mary Normandy

"Tom Dooley" was played by George Sztabnik.
Mary Normandy of Bishop McDonnell High
School played the ingenue.

"Hotel Universe"

John O'Connor and Mary Pergola played a married couple, both contemplating death. The characters were Tom and Hope Ames.

The main love theme of Hotel Universe was between Dick Flynn and Judy Martin. As Pat Farley, Dick was a man made cynical by the suicide of his fiancée. Ann Field, played by Judy, taught Pat the power of love.

Dick's cynicism and disgust for life was matched by that of Patricia Dawson as Lily Malone, an actress.

Another love theme concerned Norman Rose (John Richetti) and Alice (Marlene Piretti). Their story was divulged in Alice's sleepwalking scene.

The cast of Hotel Universe: Mary Pergola, John O'Connor, Patricia Dawson, John Richetti, Judy Martin, John Glinane, Marlene Piretti, Dick Flynn and Sal Allocco.

John Glinane, guest alumnus, portrayed Stephen Field. In one transition of the many in the play, he became Tom Ames' (John O'Connor) beloved Father Francis and heard Tom's confession.

"The Epidemic"

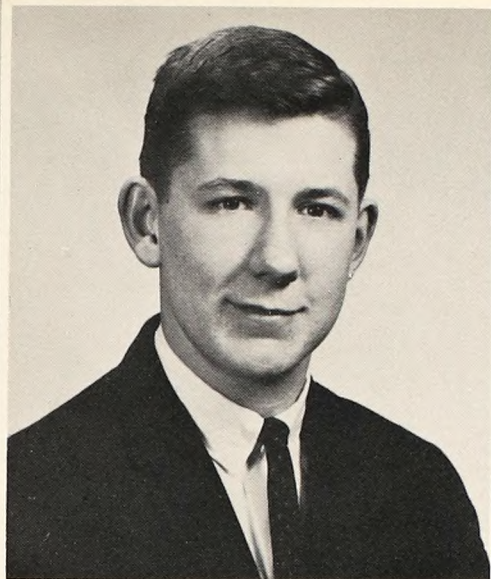

"Down with Typhoid fever!" shout three members of the city council in The Epidemic. Bill McCormick played the Leader of the Opposition; John Richetti, the Mayor; and Dick Flynn, Dr. Triceps.

The city council convenes: John O'Connor (who also directed), Frank Avenoso, Sal Allocco, Bill McCormick, John Richetti, Bob Peyton, Dick Flynn, Jim O'Kelly and Don O'Connor.

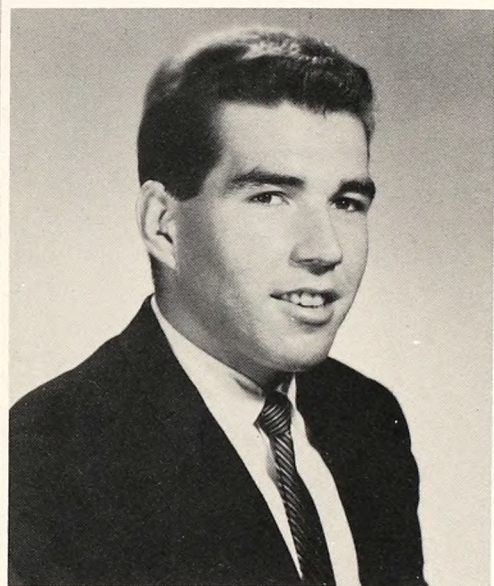

DUNS SCOTUS HONOR SOCIETY

ARTHUR BEYER

Duns Scotus is the scholastic honor society which bestows honor and recognition on deserving students. Candidates, who must be Juniors or Seniors with an index of at least 3.00 and an outstanding record in activities, are voted on by a committee of faculty and student members. A permanent plaque bearing the names of all present and past members occupies a position of prominence in the main hall of the school.

ANTHONIAN CLUB

JAMES GREEN
President

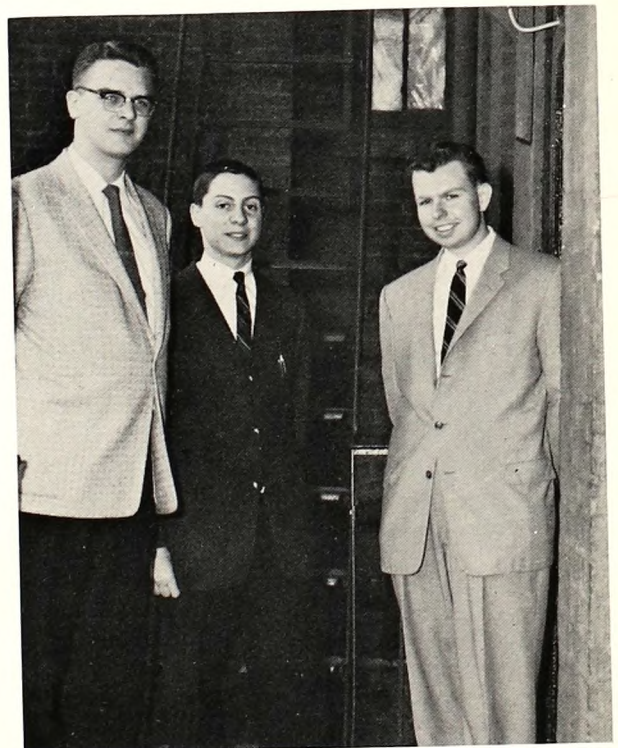

Father Salerno, club moderator, accompanies the group during Benediction.

The Anthonian Club is an organization which exists for the expressed purpose of developing and strengthening vocations to the religious life. Its members are students who are seriously contemplating taking vows, and seek encouragement and direction in making their decisions.

Monthly meetings are highlighted by conferences and discussion groups, and outings to various religious communities give members an accurate picture of what they may expect to encounter as servants of God.

Following each meeting, the members of the club join in prayer seeking God's assistance in their selection of a vocation.

Dennis Maher and Frank Perillo discuss a forthcoming outing to a Franciscan seminary with Jim Green.

WILLIAM McCORMICK
President

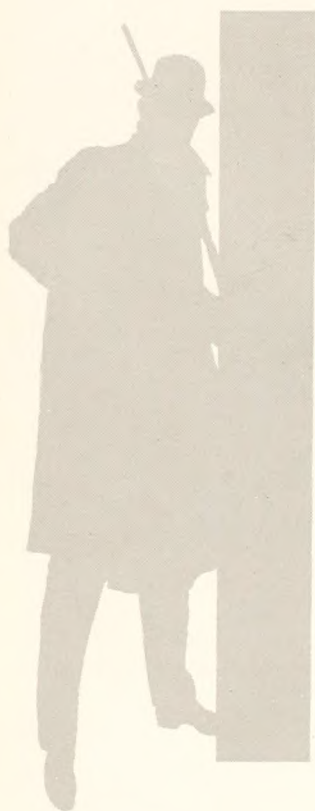

The Glee Club was organized to provide an outlet for the vocal talents of the students and to engender a finer appreciation of music in the members and the entire student body. Regular rehearsals prepare the group for appearances at various assemblies and school functions.

Among the year's achievements were an inspiring rendition of hymns at the Christmas Assembly, and a recital during the ceremonies dedicating the student recreation area.

The group also appeared before many civic groups and clubs, where their presentations were warmly received.

The purpose of a yearbook is to record the activities of a school year and to recall in words and pictures the events which have gone to make up two semesters of student activity.

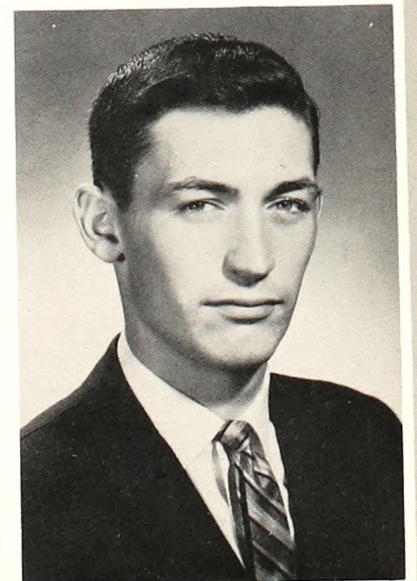

We have set a high goal in the publication of a yearbook that is truly representative of St. Francis College and worthy of her students.

To this end, the Franciscan staff has labored many long hours writing copy, taking pictures, editing the collected material, laying it out and molding it around a theme.

The measure of the success of the Franciscan cannot be judged subjectively by basing its success on coverage given to any one section or activity. Frequently unavoidable obstructions could not be hurdled. The true measure of the 1960 Franciscan can only be evaluated after the whole book has been read and reread in light of the whole school year.

PHI RHO PI FRATERNITY

JOSEPH RAND
Praetor

JOHN FITZGERALD
Vice-Praetor

"Pro Deo, Patria et Sancto Francisco" is a succinct statement of the goal of Phi Rho Pi Fraternity and the bond that unites its members in a spirit of Christian Brotherhood.

The Beta Chapter of Phi Rho Pi, a national Catholic fraternity, was inaugurated at St. Francis in 1922, and has contributed unsparingly to the advancement of the ideals of St. Francis in the students' social life.

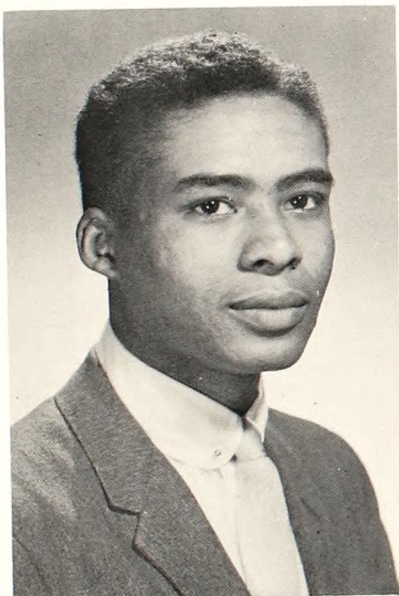

The dances and parties that comprise the bulk of any fraternity's activities are not Phi Rho's only contribution. Their sponsorship with the Veterans' Club of the annual Christmas Toy Drive brings a smile to the face of many a lonely child and adds a true measure of Christian charity to the Fraternity's accomplishments for the year.

The Golden Eagle Restaurant provided the setting for the very successful breakfast.

WEIGHT LIFTING

The Weightlifting Club seeks by a vigorous program of competitive and developmental training to promote physical health and a spirit of Franciscan competition. This year's program consisted of intramural contests and team training preparatory to fielding an interscholastic weightlifting team in the future. Facilities within the school provide ample space and equipment for training, and all the rules of health and safety are rigorously adhered to.

Adhering to the strictest rules of health and safety, several members of the Weight Lifting Club carefully place the weights in position.

MICHAEL GRAY
President

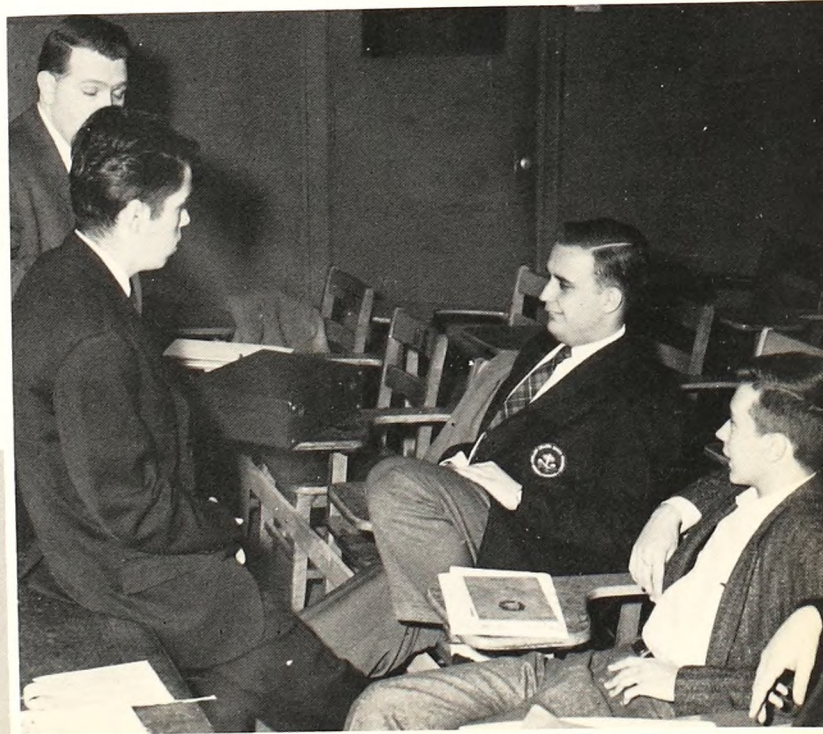

The Press Club is responsible for the collection and distribution of publicity and press releases concerning the college. Its effectiveness is measured in terms of its ability to keep the name of St. Francis in the public eye.

The club maintains a press clipping scrap book drawn from all the New York daily newspapers, and this year sponsored a Press Convention to acquaint high school seniors with the rudiments of journalism and with St. Francis College.

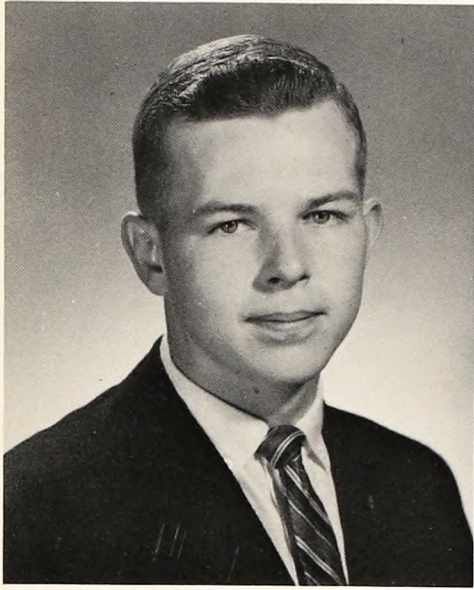

Connie Reitz, Frank Macchiarola and Bill Sullivan assist the Publicity Office by writing and proofreading releases.

FRANCISCAN SPIRIT AWARD

JOHN A. FERGUSON

RICHARD FLYNN

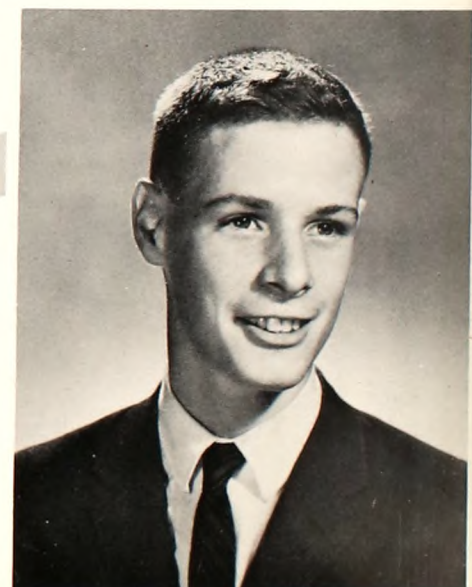

The Franciscan Spirit Award is given each year to a representative number of students who have exemplified the principles of Franciscanism in their attitude, behavior and accomplishments. This honor is not limited to seniors, but may be bestowed on any student who has proven his adherence and dedication to the Franciscan ideal. The eleven seniors and five juniors named for this year's award were selected on the basis of leadership, cooperation, industry and, above all, spirit. Franciscan Spirit is admittedly difficult to define. It is, however, readily discernible in action; it is observable in its application if not in its essence. It is by this application and incorporation of Franciscan Spirit into their lives that these sixteen men merited distinction.

THOMAS HALTON
President

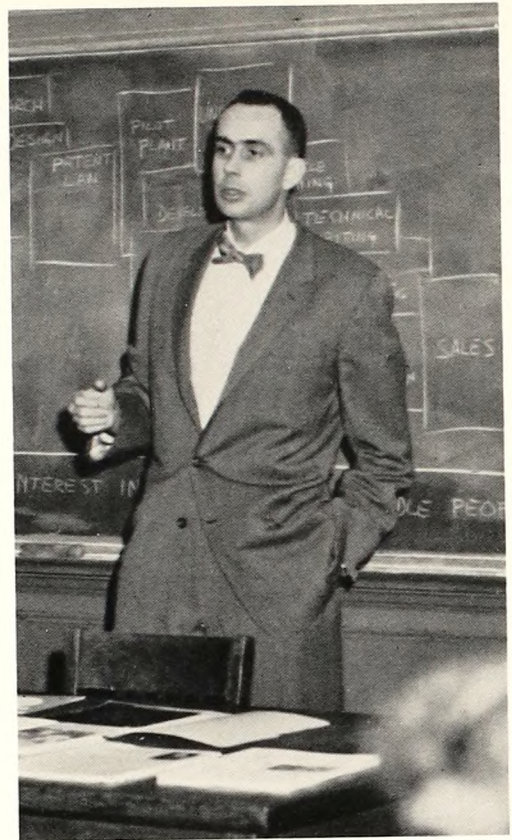

The Science Club endeavors to provide students with the equipment and facilities for conducting individual scientific experimentation in conjunction with related courses. Projects and research work prepare the budding scientist for postgraduate work, and the club attempts to secure fellowships, scholarships and job opportunities for its members. Meetings and talks on topics of scientific interest complete the program.

Films were part of the Science Club's effort to explore and explain the wonders of botany to students.

Richard Hoenig is congratulated by Tom Halton as he is presented with a science award.

Mr. Richard Allen of Pfizer Company was one of the Club's guest speakers this year.

Ray Nash awaits the three and two pitch. The bases were loaded and the tension was mounting.

Artie Beyer keeps the opposition from getting that extra jump. A few quick tosses from the pitcher kept the runner safely near the bag.

WATER POLO

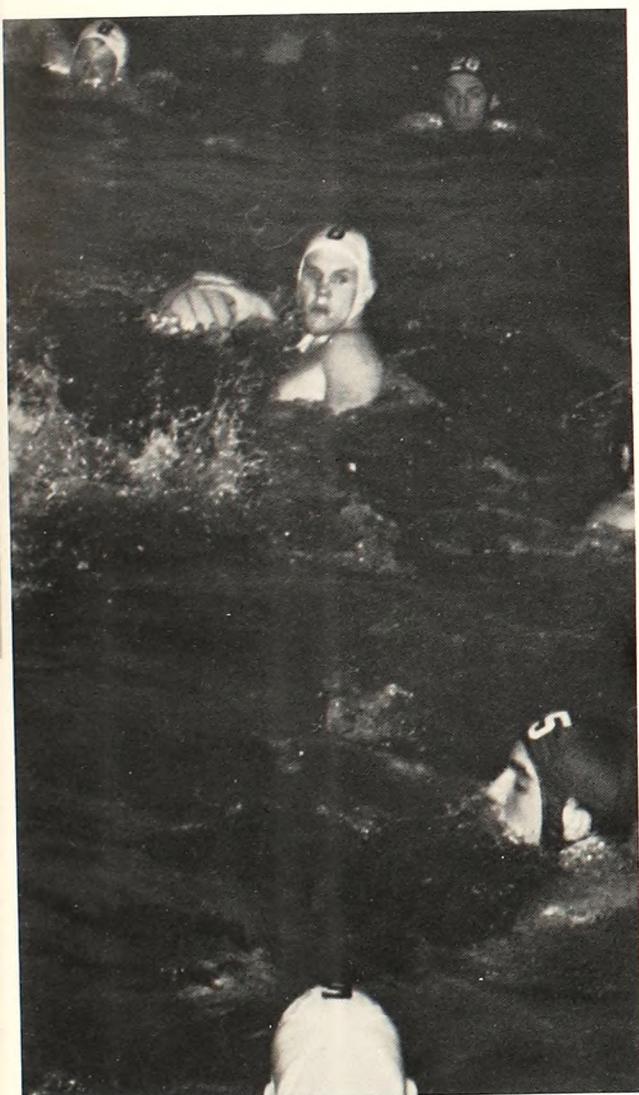

"Speedy team-mates sprint for possession."

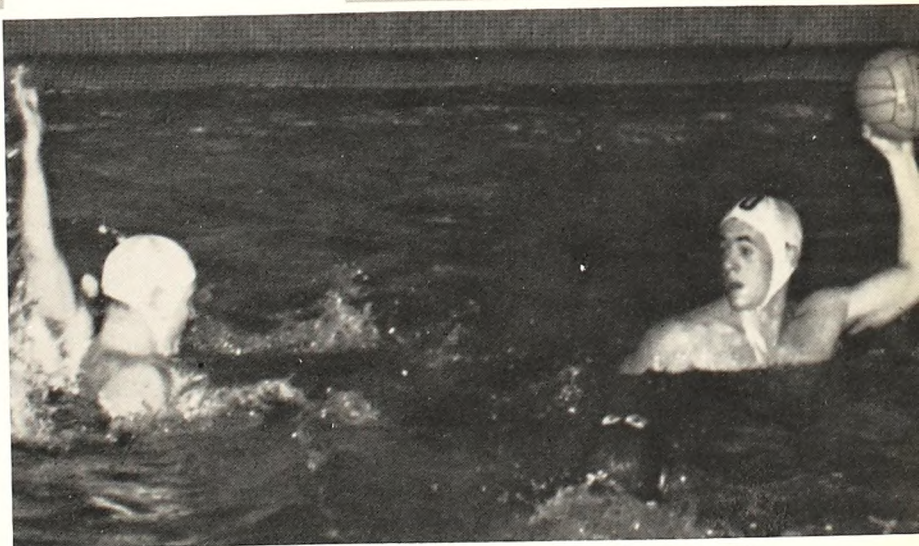

"Don't look at me like that—just do as I tell you!"

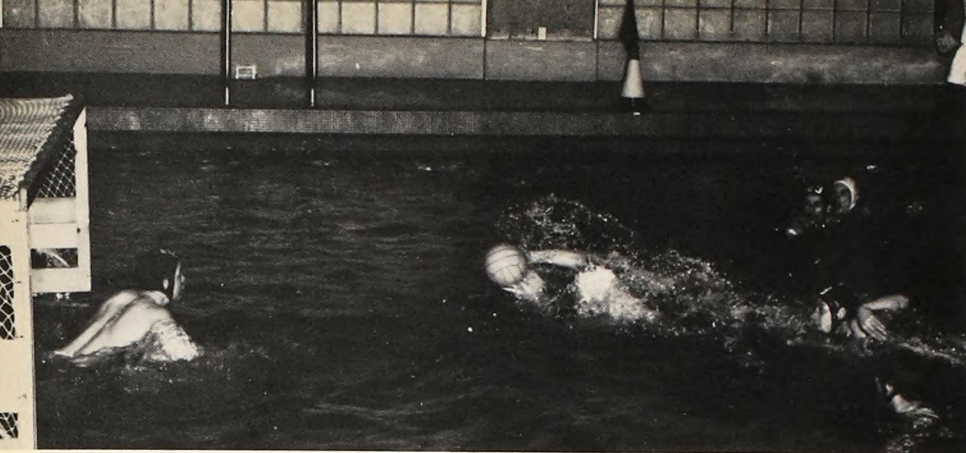

Good pool maneuvering makes for a clear path towards the goal.

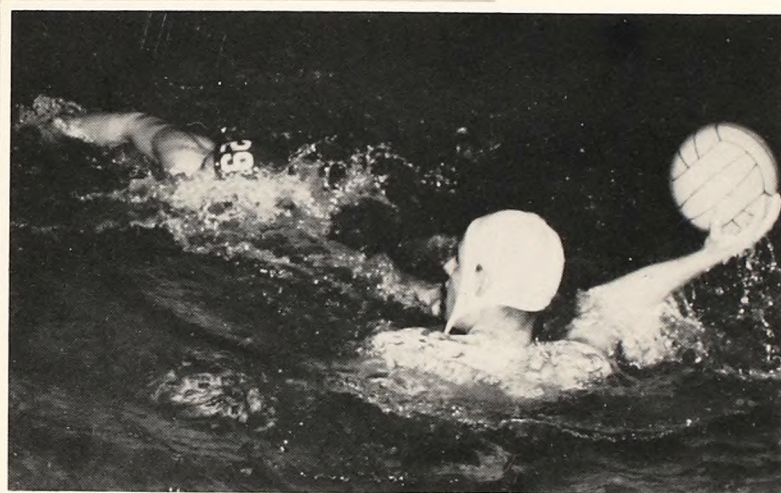

"Squish" Gannon looks terrified as he pauses before he passes to a man in the clear. "What odds!"

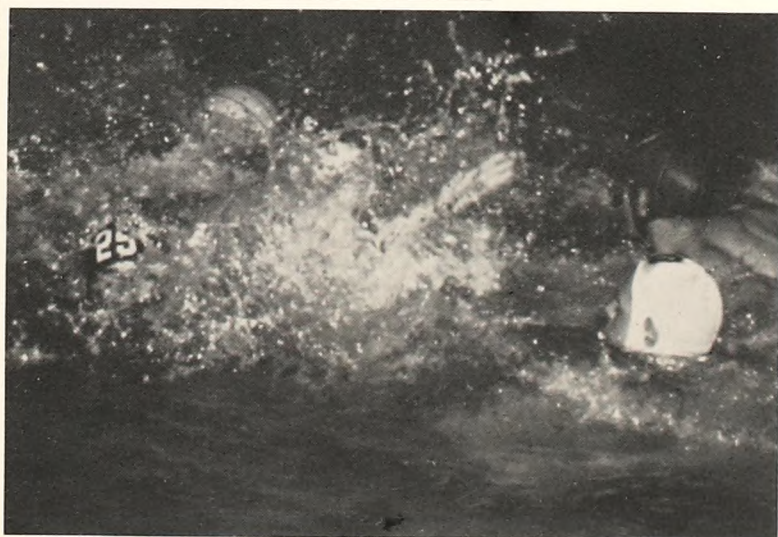

Charlie Harris hesitates before passing to a closely guarded buddy.

A St. Francis man leads the pack and is good for another point.

"Hey 'Squishy,' catch!"

"Who's got the . . . AAAGHH!"

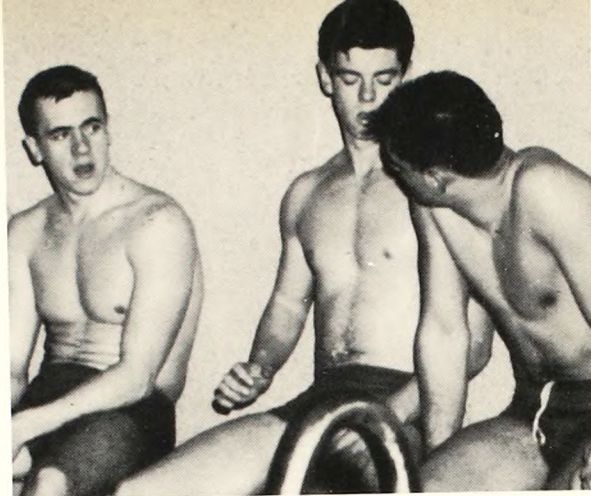

John Grescek and "Dutch" Leonard listen as Bill Anderson puts across another good idea.

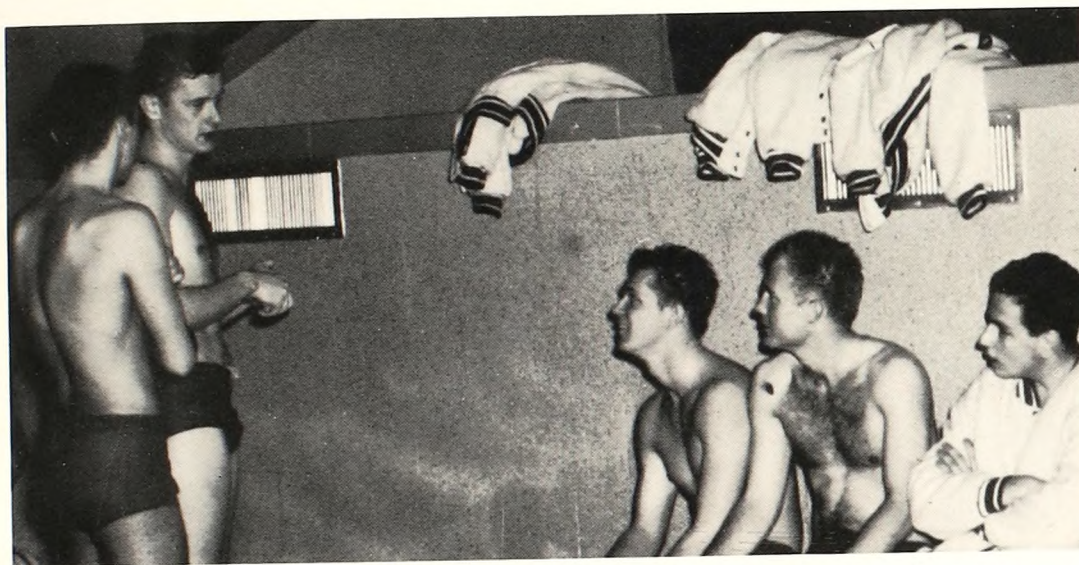

Coach Schaem stresses a point to John Grescek.

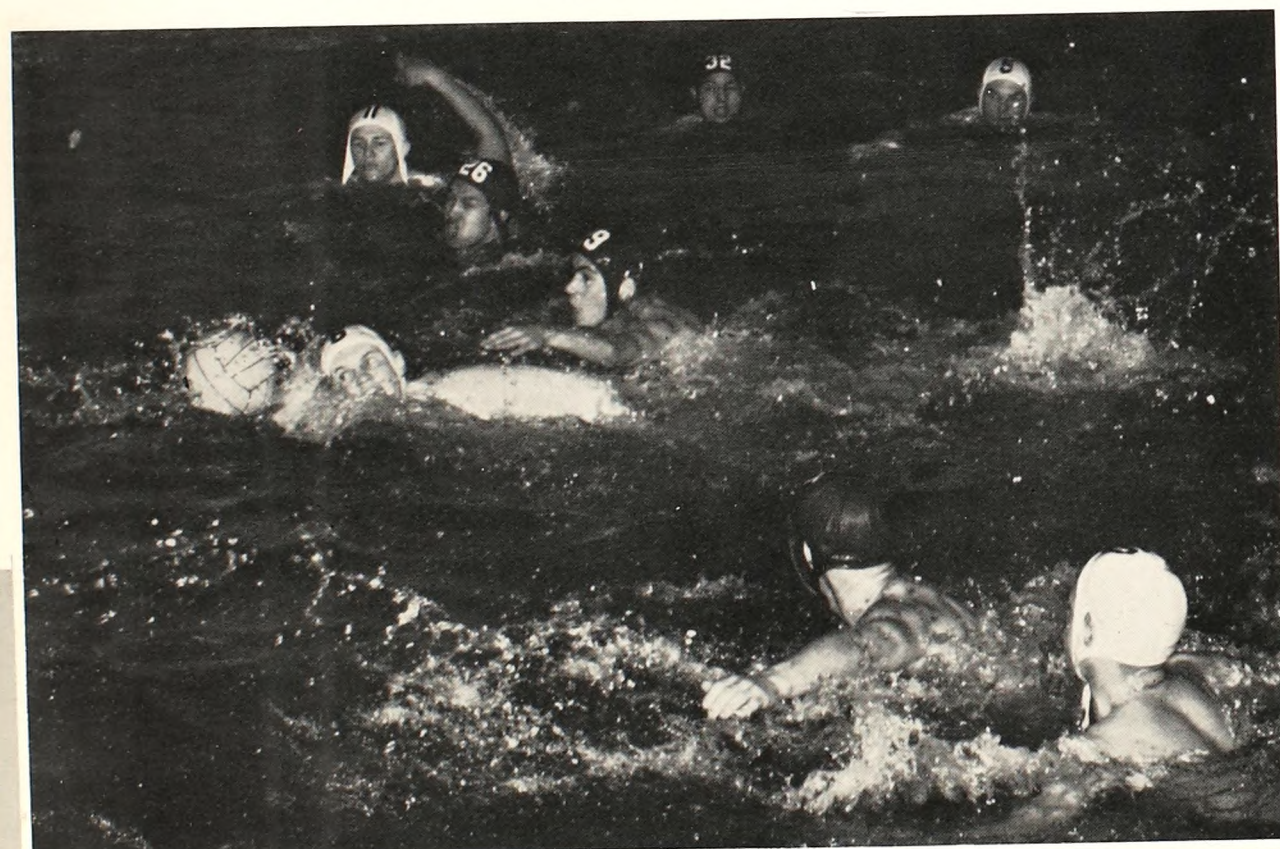

Shallow water proved to be a hindrance for an attempted terrier goal.

"Aw, cut it out; wait'll it really gets rough!"

John Lynch, John Grescek, Bill Anderson and Don McQuade happily listen as Joe Walker explains the fate of an unlucky opponent.

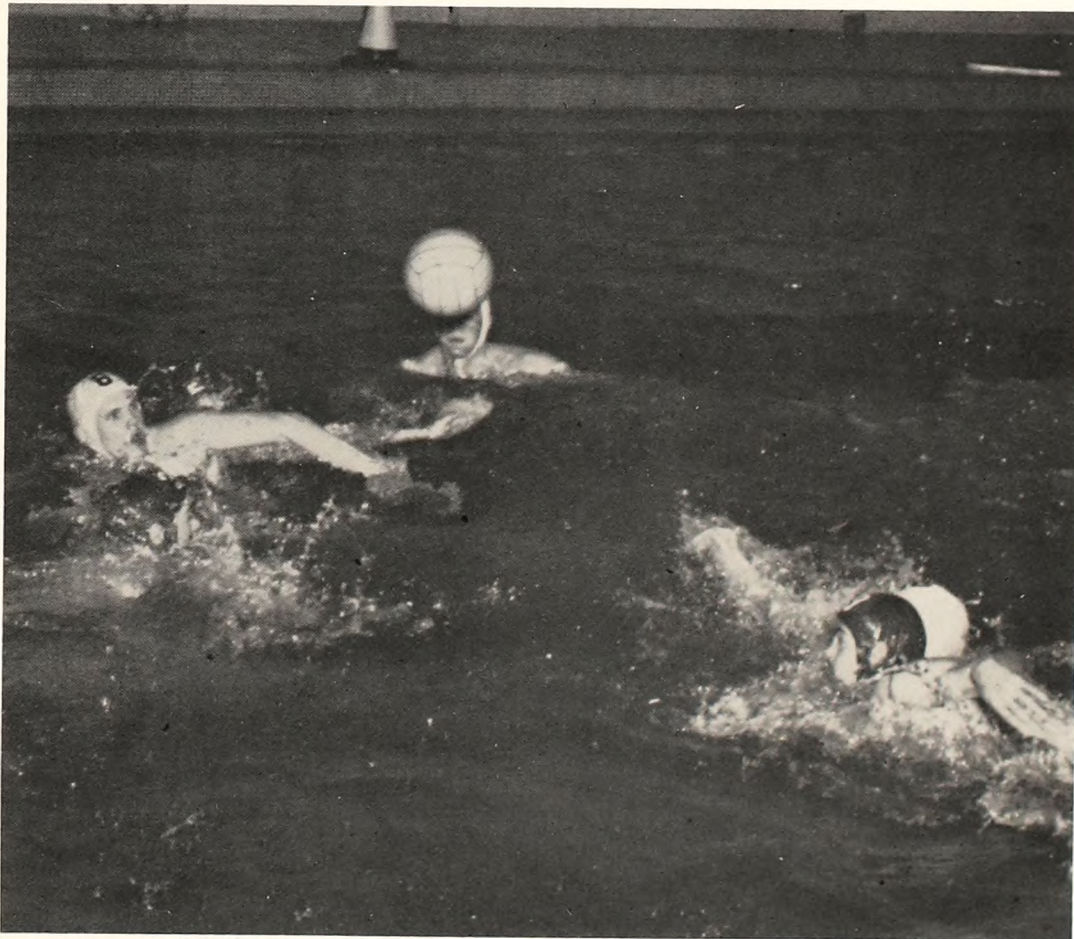

The water whitens as the action gets wild, and look who's got possession! It's "Squish" again!

"Now wait a minute fella, let's talk this over peaceable-like."

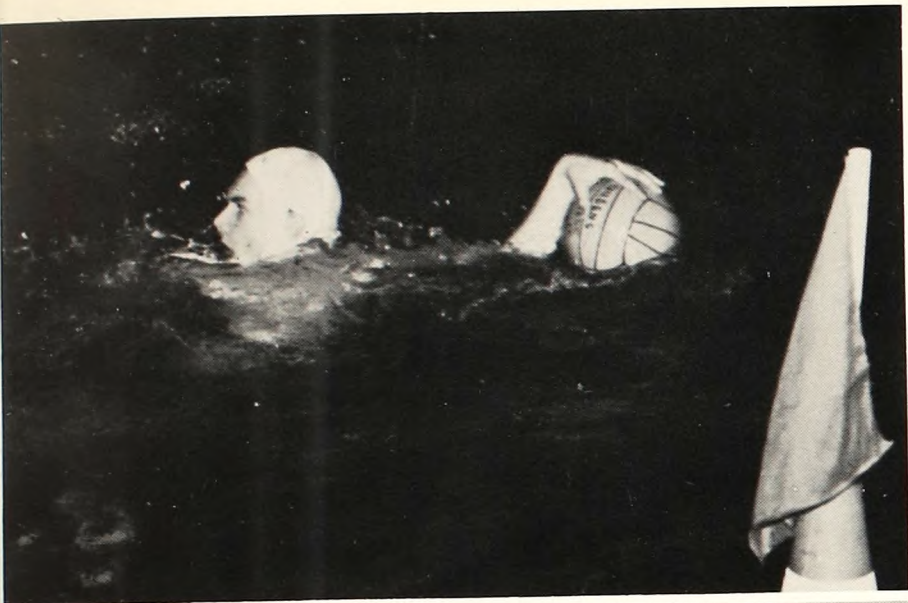

"Believe me Dutch, I wouldn't kid you—just try it that way once more."

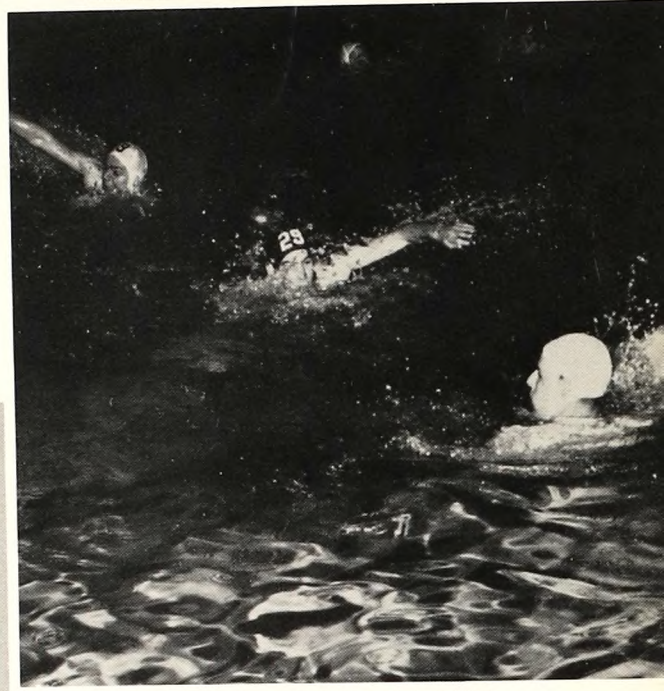

"Two to one odds a guy in a white cap gets it."

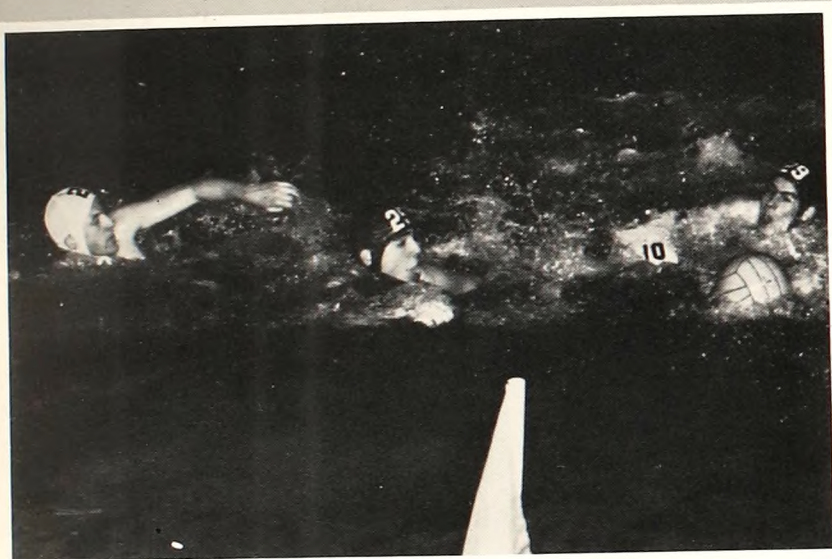

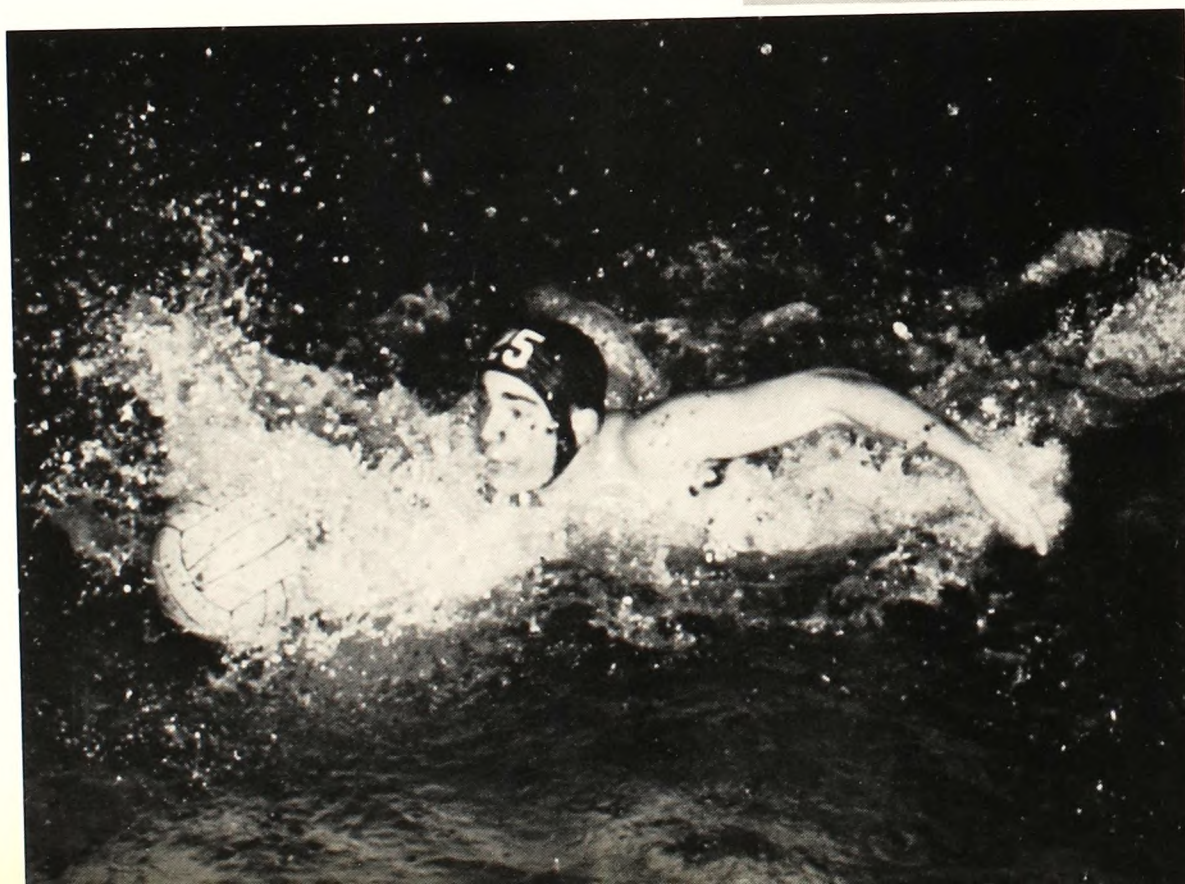

"Don't come near me; you haven't got a prayer!"

McQuade looks to avoid an onrushing block.

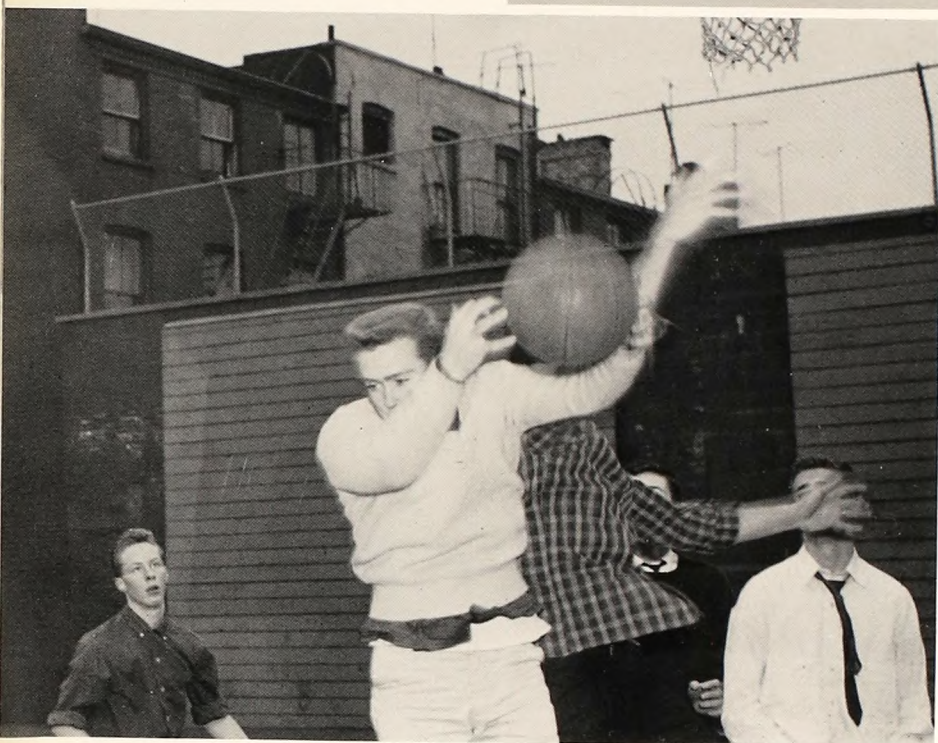

No, he didn't drown, but it looked bad for a while.

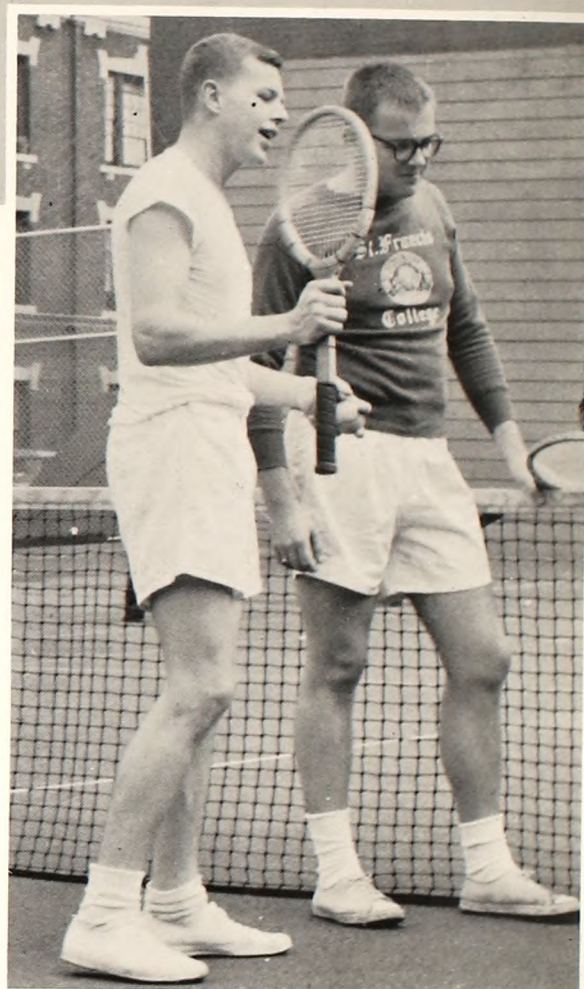

Rest assured, this black-capped opponent didn't have the ball for long.

INTRAMURALS

Jim Conway catches the rebound during the basketball intramurals in the early fall.

Bill Cahill and Frank Fallon were two winning contenders in the tennis intramurals.

Bob Sodickson and Charlie Noselli move swiftly during the handball intramurals.

REG US PAT OFF

Turning the pages of our book of experience reveals a long list of localities we have dutifully and satisfactorily served.

The ENGRAVATONE special method of producing better and economical college and school annuals needs no greater recommendation than the honest acclaim of the editors and staff members who have assisted in producing these books, year after year.

We take pride in calling these faithful workers our friends and can truthfully say their untiring efforts and cooperation have made their own special annual consistently better each year.

Dear Friends:

On behalf of the staff of the 1960 FRANCISCAN, we take this opportunity to extend our appreciation to everyone who has contributed toward making our yearbook possible.

Particularly, we would like to thank the Franciscan Brothers, the Administration staffs, Brother Anthelm for many pictures taken and negatives borrowed, Frank Ball, George Davis, Russ LaBarca, the Classes of 1961, 1962, 1963, the advertisers, sponsors, patrons and boosters.

We sincerely hope that you have enjoyed this history of our final year of college life as much as we have enjoyed preparing it for you.

Gratefully,

Wayne J. Wisdom
