'65 BASKETBALL '66

Team gathers around Danny Lynch for a word of inspiration at the opening moments of the Fordham game—67, 65.

The St. Francis College Basketball Team rolled up such impressive offensive statistics as: averaging almost 80 points per game, setting a new school scoring record, and going over the 100 point mark three times. However, their unimpressive record of five wins and seventeen losses was due to the fact that they couldn't produce a complimentary defense.

The Terriers opened the '65-'66 season at Bishop Ford High School with a 101-54 victory over Pace. John Raffery's last second basket gave the Terriers their first century game in almost ten years.

Three nights later, an impressive 102-83 win over Bridgeport seemed to indicate that the team was on its way to a truly successful season. But, traveling to King's College in Pennsylvania they suffered a 57-54 defeat. This was the first time that the Monarchs had ever beaten S.F.C.
