A true Franciscan in every sense of the word, George has won the respect of all those who know him. For not only is he a good student but he is also an active participant in the various activities about the school, among which are the Math Club and the Glee Club. Too, he has been instrumental to a large degree in initiating the first bowling team at St. Francis, and as a top notch bowler has aided no inconsiderable amount in making the team's first season a successful one. Whatever field George may choose, he is certain to make a name for himself in it.

"Jack", as his friends call him, commenced his college career as a science major, but history held greater fascination for him, and, after his Freshman year, he converted to an arts man. Although such a change usually brings with it a corresponding loss in time, he lost no time, and even finished below par— $3\frac{1}{2}$ years. One semester his program consisted of five history courses and physical education. Possessor of an unusually blithe sense of humor—he is forever popping up with a joke at the most unexpected time—Jack should go far in life, and we wish him luck and Godspeed.
