

"This is my pen." New York lawyer, John Berger, lectures on property rights. Mr. Henig, a liberal Republican, countered with rebuttal.

Politics

men failed to re-capture the national chairmanship held last year by Ted Spencer but did manage to have their man Ted elected as Parliamentarian of the Eastern Regional.

In-school activities encompassed everything from the scholarly lecture to the galvanic political forum. A series of talks by the British, German, and Italian Consuls illuminated problems of the British Isles and the Continent. Representatives of the Republican, Conservative, and Democratic parties took sides in a verbal slug-fest at the annual Political Forum.

During the New York Senatorial race, the campaign trailed candidate James B. Donovan to St. Francis. Mr. Donovan, negotiator for the release of Castro hostages and President Emeritus of St. Francis' Council of Regents, spoke as a guest of the I.R.C.

James B. Donovan, candidate for the United States Senate, responds to question at I.R.C. lecture.

Behind the scenes maneuvering by Bob DeZorzi, Orazio Ciccarelli, and Tom Burke kept the St. Francis delegation in a position of strength at the National Convention of I.R.C. clubs.

Dr. Ellis, Moderator of the I.R.C., kept the club abreast of developments by personally observing many phases of the College expansion and improvement program.

Jim Duffield and John Lehner read up on convention minutes.

Bob DeZorzi was elected as President to succeed Tom Burke for 1963-64.