

The VOICE

Lou's copy sings while his pipe stinks—eh Bob? As John looks on.

The Voice ambled through another year of peaks and valleys. The high-points were consistent publication and plenty of features to tantalize the brain. The valleys came as harried editors button-holed their news sources in the halls looking for "hot" copy that was not always forthcoming. And, as every New York City publisher knows—printers always leave much to be desired.

The editorial staff learned what Burns meant when he wrote "the best laid plans of mice and men . . ." These memories, however, will only add to the storehouse of four years at Saint Francis College. Memories shared, in whole or in part, with the fifty Voice editors who have gone before.

Al Martorano—erstwhile News Editor and new Editor-in-Chief.

THE VOICE

Student Publication of St. Francis College

JOHN PEREIRA

Editor-in-Chief

Lou Capek
Managing Editor

Al Martorano
News Editor

Jack Crispi
Sports Editor

Bob Sarli
Copy Editor

Sal Crispi
Exchange Editor

Ray Sullivan — Joe Westfield
Photo Editors

Bob Ford
Desk Editor

Terry Ellison
Ass't Feature Editor

Staff: Bill Trentman, Frank Ferrero, Peter LeGuillou, Ron Reed, John Donahue, Bill Farrell, Bob Sloane, Bill Walker, Ed Jaworski, Ed McLaughlin, Bob Russo, James Magee, Paul Henning, Mike DeZego, Gene Swanzey, Roger Rodriguez, Jack Crispi, Frank Mielke, John Esposito

Editors Ford and Sarli gather over a jovial note.