It's difficult to describe Joe. He's an extremely quiet and unobtrusive fellow but rates as an excellent student, being keen and observant and stocked with a wealth of common sense. His predominant trait is his eagerness to help out in any undertaking. Being a good practical Catholic, he enjoyed the reputation of being called "The Saint" by his buddies in the service. A member of the French Club and To Kalon K'Agathon, Joe will always be remembered by all—especially for his "corny" sense of humor.

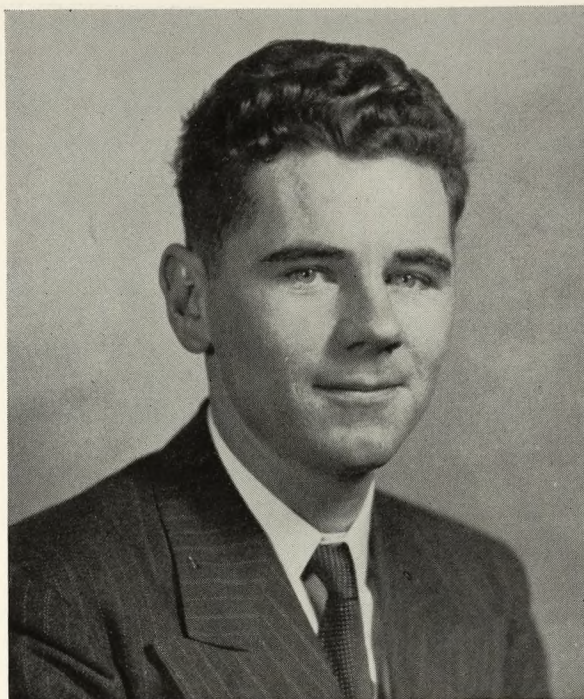

MATTHEW A. SHANNON

Bachelor of Science

St. Augustine D.H.S.

Dean's List 1, 2, 3, 4; Interclass Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4; Religion Club 2, 3; Indicator Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Student Council 4.

In the personality of Mat Shannon one finds a true Franciscan and a student of fine calibre. In the classroom, few can surpass him and for zeal in extra-curricular activities few can equal him.

After his first year, Mat left St. Francis to continue his studies at Holy Cross under the Navy V-12 program. His next step was Columbia Midshipman School where, after grinding for four months, he received his commission in the U.S.N.R.

Mat saw action in the North Atlantic aboard the USS APD-114 as a radar officer.

One thing we certainly praise is his ambition. He wants to get somewhere in life and with such aspirations, our predictions are that he will surely obtain a position worthy of his talents.
