

The forest thinned away. The trees grew smaller, became stunted, disappeared altogether. Bushes shrank and vanished. Grasses died away. Blighted land replaced the forest. All around us dead hills, red, raw, ribbed by erosion, stood stark in the sunshine. Hardly two miles from dense woodland we were in the midst of a moonscape on earth. Ahead of us the road led through a land of desolation, through a man-made desert, through a hundred square miles of poisoned earth.

St. Thomas More Pre-Law

The St. Thomas More Pre-Law Society attempts to familiarize all the students at St. Francis with the relationship between law and their major field of study. Active within the college and the greater metropolitan area, the Law Society has sponsored guest lecturers, field trips to law school campuses, and observances of the judicial system in action.

With the publishing of the St. Thomas More Law Review and the presentation of an award to some outstanding public servant on Law Day, the society hopes to acquaint its members to the realities of today's complex legal system.
