

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB analyzed

Mr. James Perrone listens intently to the analysis of one of the students.

Under the able leadership of Mr. James Perrone, the Psychology Club, although only three years old, has established itself as one of the leading clubs of St. Francis College.

In its endeavor to familiarize its members with the ever changing and forward moving world of Psychology, the club has sponsored a variety of activities including field trips, guest speakers, films and experimental demonstrations.

As part of the expanding experimental program of the new Psychology Department of St. Francis, the Psychology Club was instrumental in obtaining aquatic apparatus for experimentation. This is the first attempt at animal conditioning at St. Francis.

Most of the success of the Club must be attributed to the efforts of its officers and to its Moderator, Mr. Perrone.

P. Labozzetta, Pete Scarlarto, John Buckley, Larry Boyd, Ed Caine, and Joe McCarthy watch the boys with the hands up.

The boys with the hands up, Tom Howley, Dave McMullin, Paul Labozzetta, Jack Grande, and Ed Vildoso, watch the others watching them.

the rise of the GERMAN CLUB

Under the direction of Professor Sidney Rutar the German Club had another successful year. Membership was increased through the showing of various films that depicted many various aspects of the German culture. The films were obtained through the German Consulate in New York and allowed the serious student of the German language to visualize the full cultural ramifications that are connected with such a historically colorful language. Notwithstanding the cultural values that may be gained from membership in the club, the club's main purpose is to promote a better understanding of the German language through informal, yet thoroughly gainful seminars that are held in conjunction with the weekly meeting.

German Club demonstrates that a serious tone can be maintained at a meeting despite entertainment.

Club members take time out with Moderator Sidney Rutar to become immortal.