Recognizing its dual role as a part of a national fraternity and as an integral part of the St. Francis community, Beta Sigma chapter of Alpha Phi Delta fraternity is a constant working force in both spheres. Under the leadership of Mike Gagliardotto, succeeded as president in January by Pat Socci, the chapter continues fostering its ideals of scholastic achievement and the promotion of Italian culture.

The chapter received unique recognition at the annual convention in August by being selected "Outstanding Chapter" of the national fraternity. Beta Sigma was also honored in having its former Vice-President, Santo Barbarino, chosen "Outstanding Undergraduate."

The intellectual and social atmosphere of the college has been enriched by the activity of the brotherhood. While maintaining the highest index among fraternities, they have continued the cultural exhibits in the library. The chapter has also donated vestments for use in the school's chapel as well as purchasing the cornerstone boxes for the two new buildings. The efforts of the brothers have extended from intramurals to Duns Scotus. In short, Beta Sigma has disproved the thesis that all fraternities are self-centered associations of students.
