

Rifle Club

The Rifle club is made up of two divisions, the club and team. Among its various activities, the club offers a hunter safety course, NRA Range Certification to those who qualify, and instruction to new members in marksmanship.

The team draws its best shooters from the Club. After a five year absence, the team has rejoined the Metropolitan Rifle League. Under the careful direction of Coach George Seubert, the team has shot surprisingly well in the early matches, although it lacks a range on which to practice. Returning shooters John Hughes, Robert Hopping and Roger DeSanti, along with new members John Hart, Fred Ginsburg, Jules Baskowitz, Dennis Gartner and Mack Elghaundar give the team experience and depth.

Chess Club

The St. Francis Chess Club is an activity designed to sharpen the already keen intellect and express the fiery but discreet emotions of the St. Francis students. Under the leadership of Chris Reddin, and with the help of George Blanchard and others, the Chess Club twice acquitted itself well in its two matches this fall with the faculty. At the first match, the chess men beat the faculty 3 to 1, while in the second they tied 2 to 2.
