"Gerry," an aspiring law student majoring in History, hails from St. Augustine's High. He took his first steps through the halls of St. Francis in January, 1943, and his winning smile has continued to attract many friends to him ever since. Gerry is witty, but his most alluring characteristics are his constructive radicalism and his ability to lead.

Like many of his Class, Gerry's education was temporarily interrupted for a short time by the war, but soon after his discharge he reported back to St. Francis eager to resume his college career, taking an active part in extra-curricular activities.

After completion of his courses here at St. Francis, Gerry intends to spend the next few years of his life wandering around the various classes at the Fordham School of Law. Good luck, Gerry, so long.
