The Registrar's office not only puts up with the students' impatience during registration but they also provide us with other services such as transcript requests, diplomas and the ever fearful semester grades. No, really they don't accept bribes. The registrar also accepts applications for degree forms (if you think you'll be graduating anytime soon) and withdrawal forms, which you may submit after you've failed your midterm exams. Overall the registrar's office is a very busy office and you could bet you will find yourself there more than once.
