

Nick Ficorelli sending one down the slot ends his bowling career with graduation this year.

Captain of the squad over the past two years, Emil Carlson. Emil was key figure in serving as combination moderator-coach-organizer-player.

BOWLING TEAM. Standing: Joe Scholle, Sam Famosa, Nick Ficorelli, Ray Tucci, Lou Juhasz. Seated: Captain Emil Carlson.

Keglers Struggle toward First Division Berth

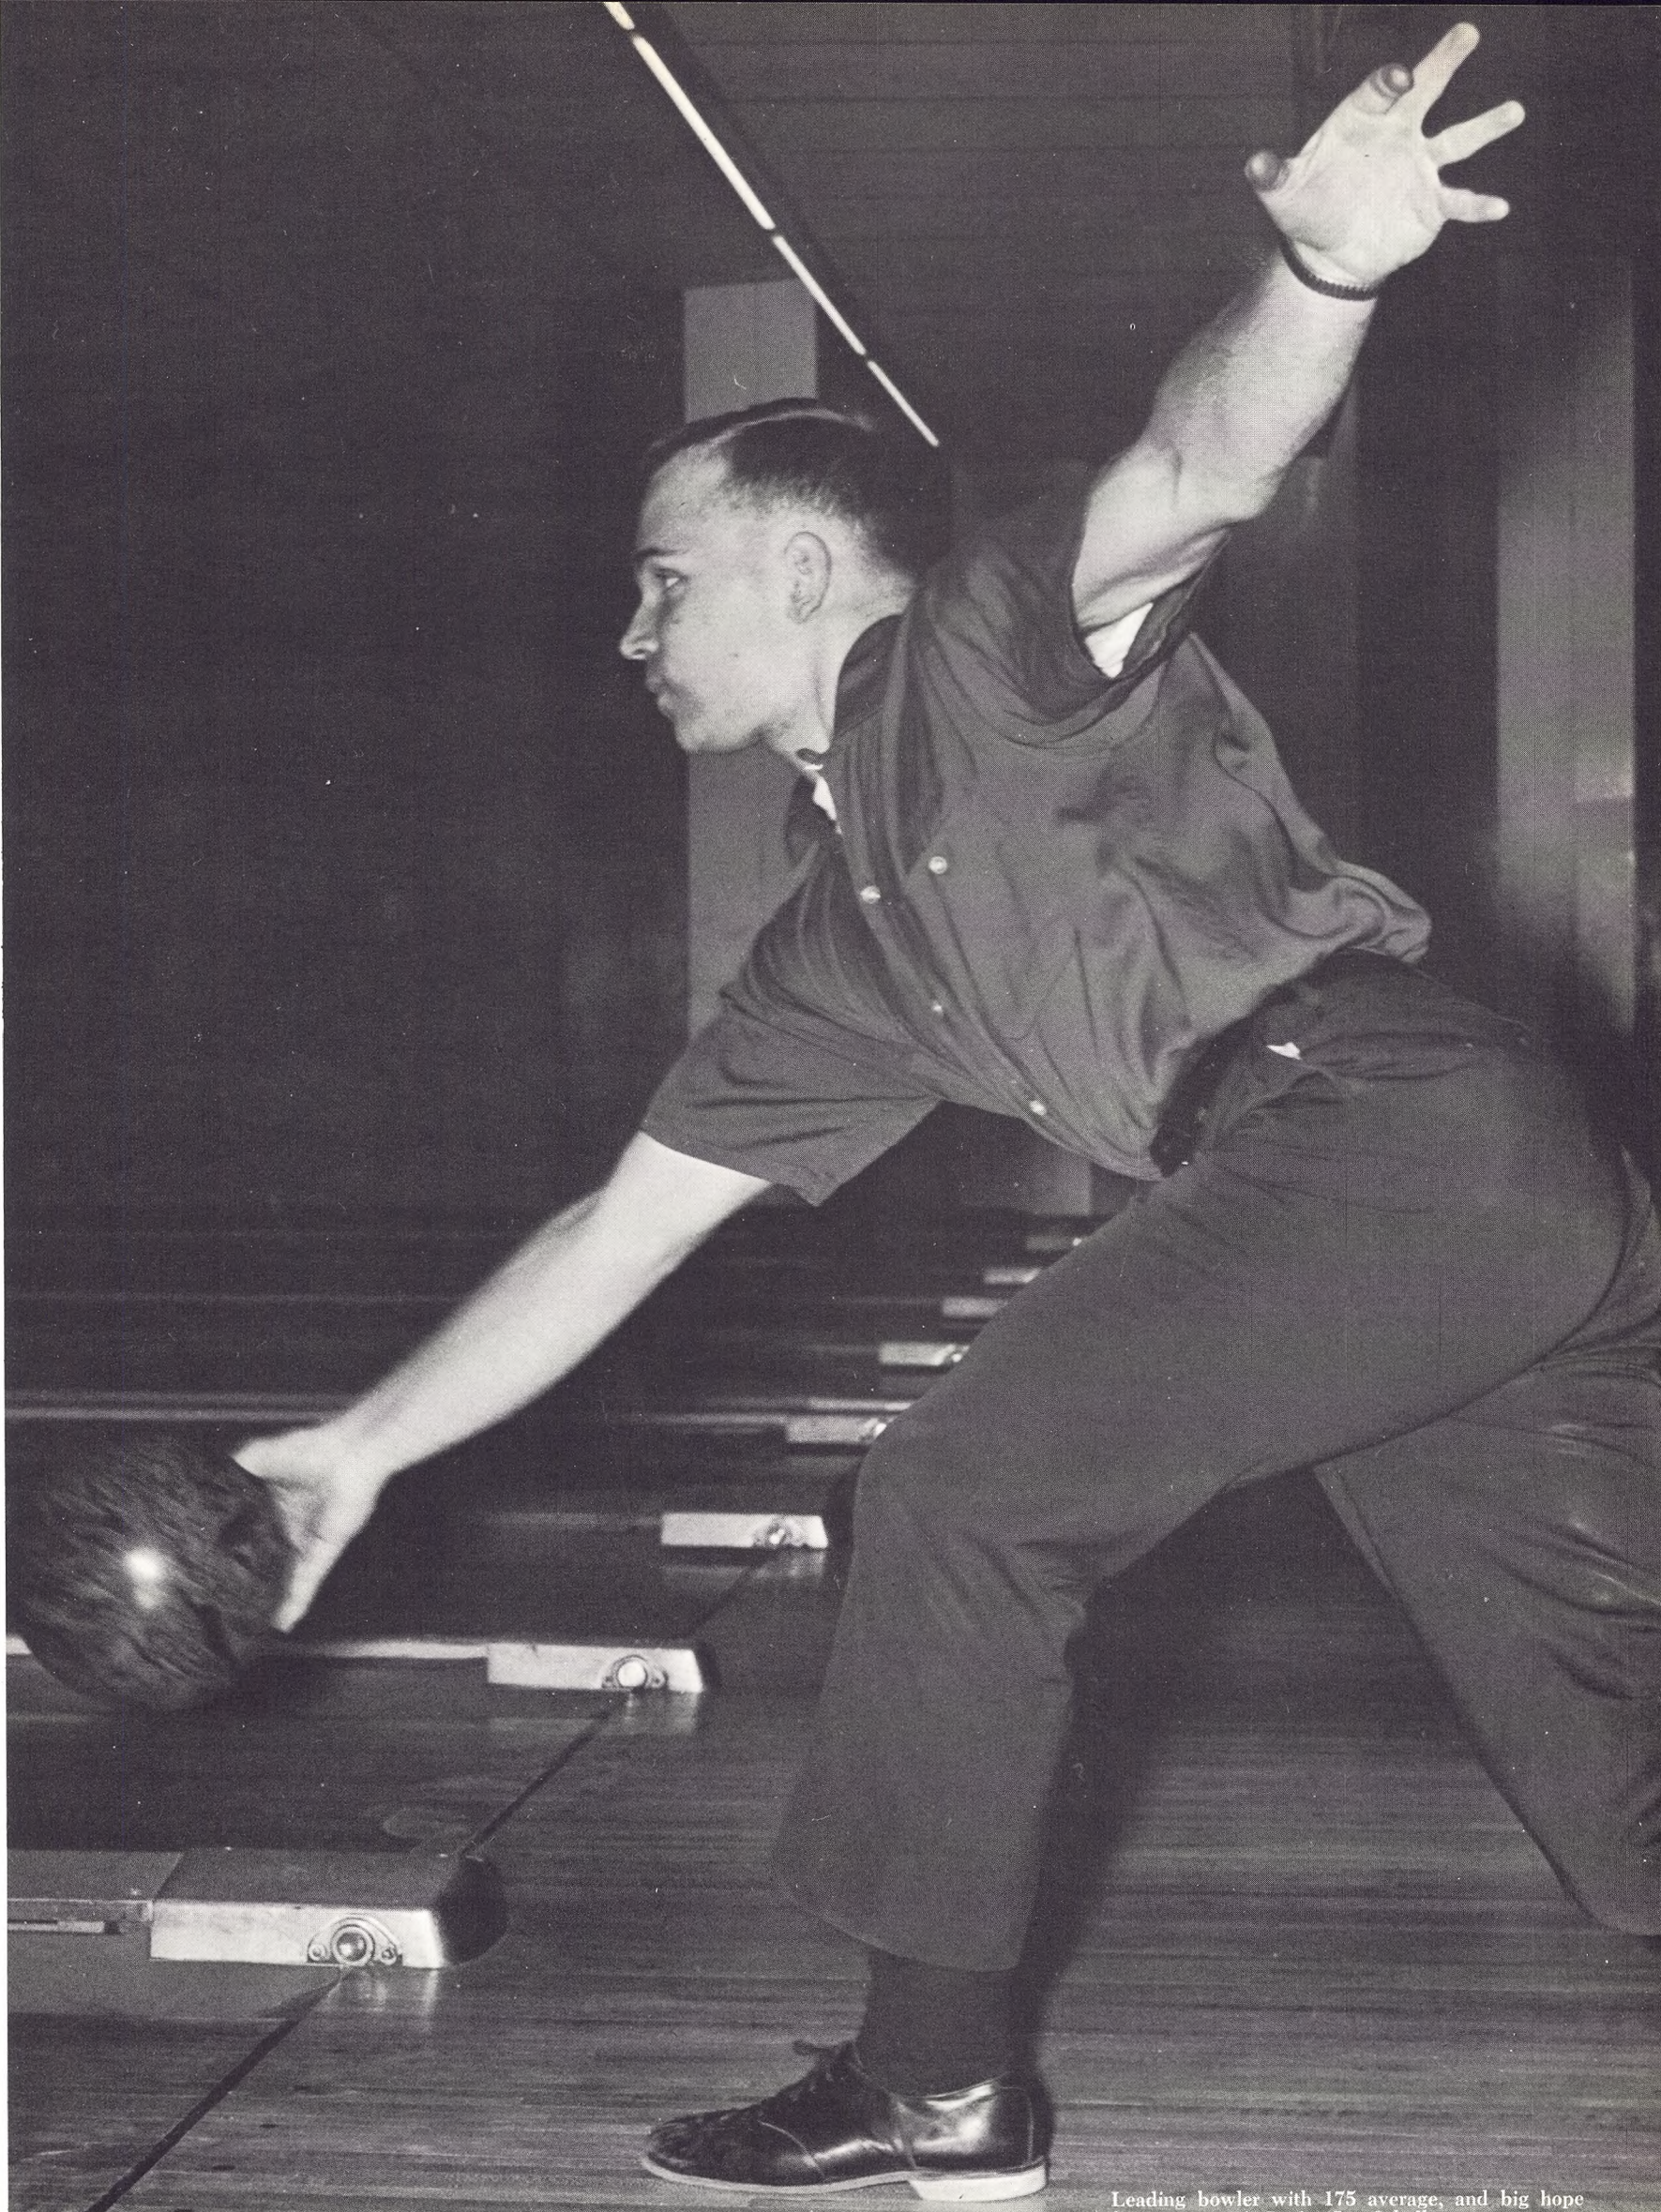

EVERY Sunday at 2:00 P.M. Bowlmor Lanes in Manhattan is visited by the Terrier Bowling Team. The team is a member of the Eastern Intercollegiate Bowling Conference (E.I.B.C.). Besides St. Francis, the Conference is composed of fifteen other Metropolitan Colleges. The season is one of the longest for a college sports league in this City lasting from October to April.

Presently the team is in tenth place with a 28-23 record. They are only eight points out of first place and six out of second place. It is due to this tightness within the league standings which may enable the team to finish the season in the top five.

Seniors, Nick Ficorelli and team captain Emil Carlson, with their steady bowling, have been strong assets for the team all year. Together, they have done much to enable the team to hold its own against rough competition. Joe Scholle, a Junior, is another bowler who holds his own in competition. His 175 average is a major threat to any competitor. St. Francis looks forward to hearing a lot about Joe next year.

The remainder of the team is composed of sophomores and freshmen. Sophomore Sam Famoso and freshmen Roy Tucci and Lou Juhasz will form a very fine core for the team in the next few years. Unfortunately the team suffered a blow when sophomore John Chojnowski dropped out of school. Up until that time John was leading the team with a 178 average.

Even with the loss of their best bowler it looks as if next year's team will be one of the strongest in the history of the College. Only two men will be lost from this year's squad (Carlson and Ficorelli). The team will come back next fall packed with good, experienced bowlers and promises to be top contenders for league honors.

Leading bowler with 175 average, and big hope for next year is Junior Joe Scholle.