

SOPHOMORE CLASS

With the close of the academic year of 1953-1954 we, the sophomore class, have completed two years of our stay at St. Francis College. Since our first year indoctrination, we have branched out in our chosen fields. Some of us have chosen Science although a majority of us found our main interest in the Arts and Business Administration.

We have found that the sophomore year demanded more study and in the same proportion, more social activity. We have been well represented in the numerous educational and social functions at the College. Our classmen are members of the Student Council, International Relations Club, Humanities Club, Troupers, and the newly formed Business Club. We also had an editorial hand in the publication of the VOICE and FRANCISCAN. Pi Alpha and Phi Rho Pi fraternities offered social advantages to the group chosen as "dogs" last year.

We also had the good fortune to have several members of the class make the varsity squads in both basketball and baseball. As in past years the sophomore class was behind each activity that took place in the school.

The rigors of college life.

"If we get all the Freshmen to go . . ."

"You know who the guest speaker is today?"

The pause that doesn't help a thing.

Informal class discussion???

"See, I told you he wasn't coming in today."
