

JUNIOR CLASS

Three years have passed and the class of 1955 is entering its final stage before the great exodus. The year 1954, however, will go down in the college history as a most active one for the Junior class.

Leo Keegan, Elliot Press, Frank Dentico and Jack Fitzgerald were mainstays on the best Varsity five the College has produced since the sport was initiated. Pat Esemplare, Leo Keegan, James Driscoll and Dan Walsh were elected to the Duns Scotus Honor Society. The Business Club, under the direction of Joe McGloin, had a prosperous first year. The Voice staff was well stocked with members of the Junior class—John DeRiso did a creditable job as News Editor; Dan Walsh covered the Sport's scene with a professional touch.

For the Juniors only one year lies ahead, but 1954 will remain in our memories as a most enjoyable and prosperous experience.

CLASS OFFICERS

President . . . . . LEO KEEGAN
Vice President . . . GERALD BAXTER
Secretary . . . . . JACK FITZGERALD
Treasurer . . . . . DAN WALSH

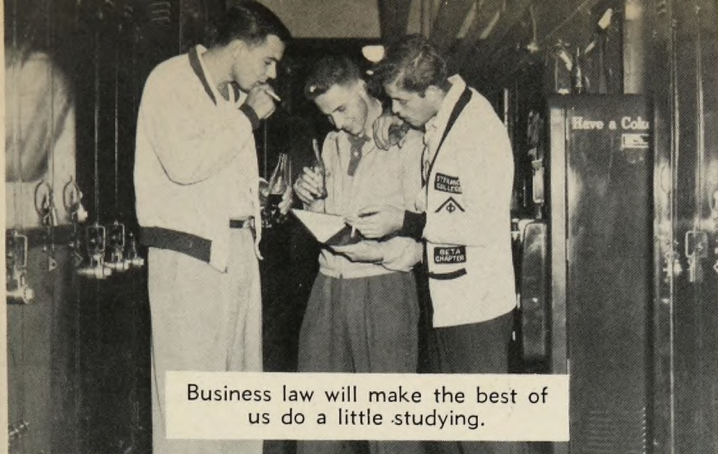

What are those two so happy about?

"See it says here that water will boil."

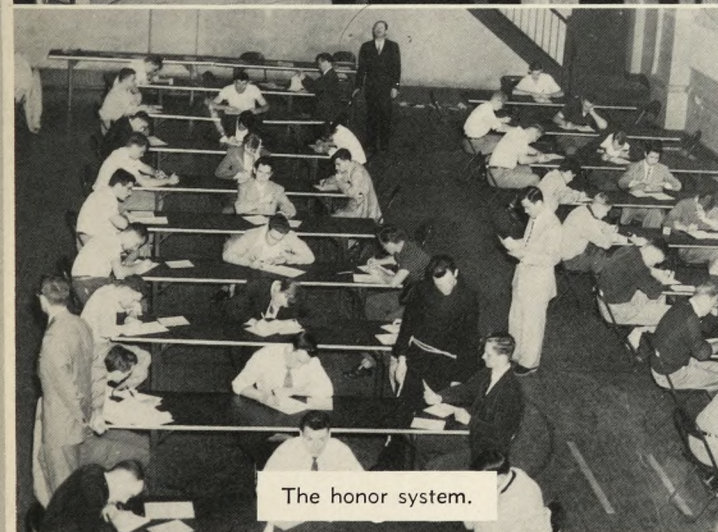

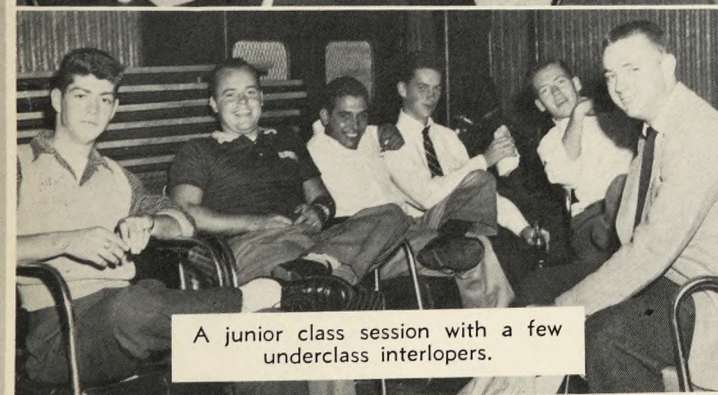

Business law will make the best of us do a little studying.

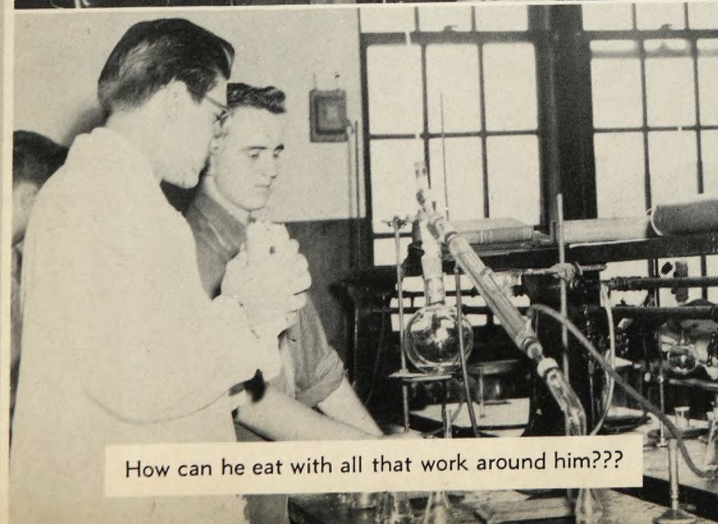

Sowing the seeds of contemplation???

The honor system.

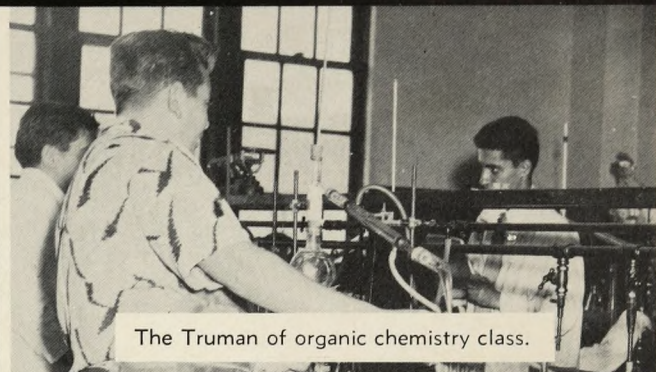

A junior class session with a few underclass interlopers.

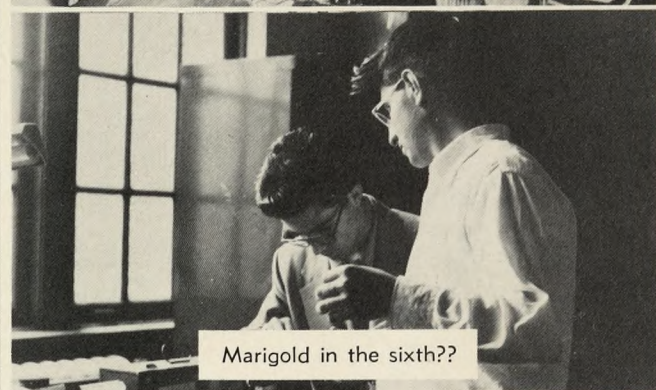

How can he eat with all that work around him???

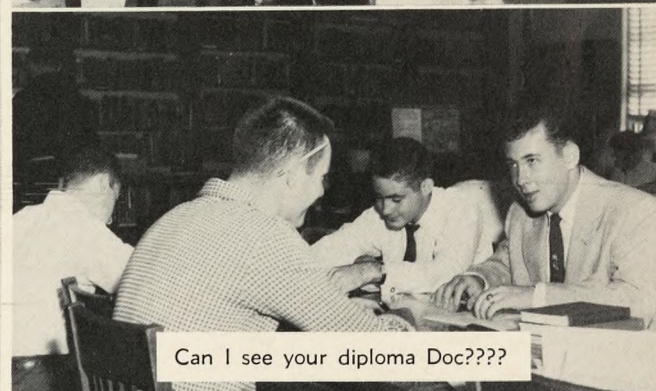

The big three meets to settle a problem in English.

The Truman of organic chemistry class.

Marigold in the sixth??

Can I see your diploma Doc????

Rings for the Class of '55.

Lunch time.