

Turensine is up and away. His 36 points against the St. Peter's Peacocks was his best effort of the season.

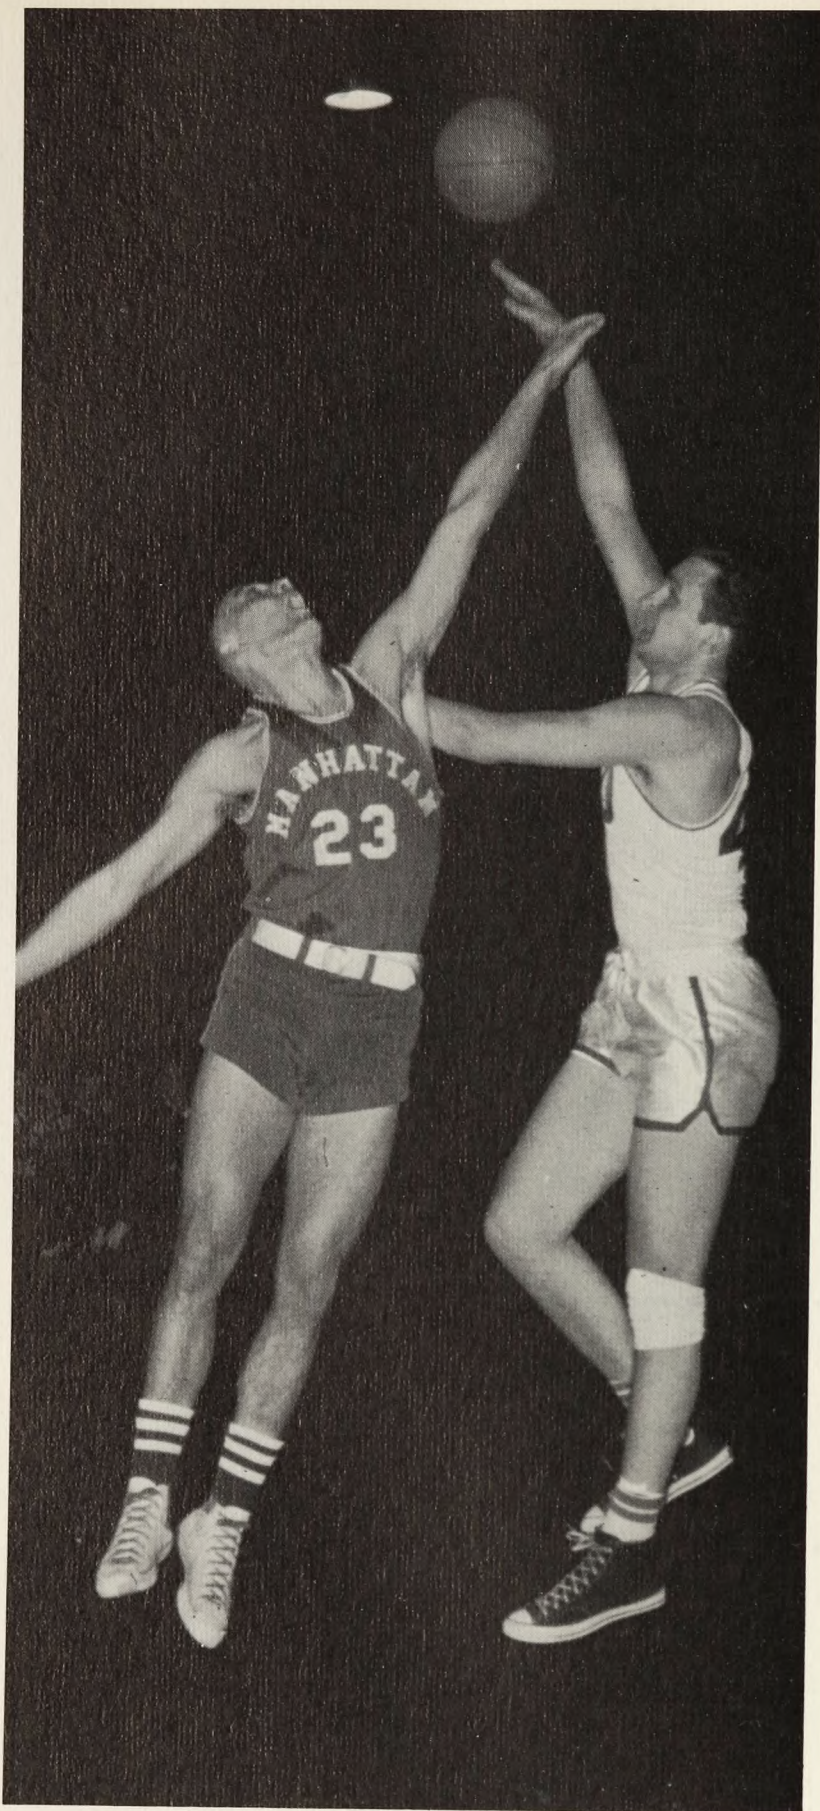

Ed Lein finished three years of Terrier basketball with some fine efforts as center.

Coming on at mid-season, Gil Radday was the high-scoring Terrier sparkplug.

Ted Kotch shoots past Larry Lembo's outstretched arm for two points.

N.Y.U. was our next rival and there was a hint of 'Tournament Fever' in the air. We failed to react favorably to this 'malady' as the 'Hall of Famers' beat us 88-68.

Our second unhappy trip up North saw us lose again as Niagara swept by 81-69. There were just four games left and we managed to obtain a split as we beat C.C.N.Y. 68-52; lost to Iona 73-64; trounced Siena in Albany 71-55 and lost our third M.E.C.A.A. contest to the Peacocks of St. Peter's 77-70 as Mark Turenshine scored thirty-six points in the finest single Terrier scoring performance of the year.

Thus, the long season ended. We played to an eleven and nine record. Mediocre? Perhaps, but we're the only Metropolitan team to beat Fordham. We had our share of bad luck and did manage to recover from last year's bad season and play better than .500 ball. We have good reason to hope for next year with the return of Gil Radday, Mark Turenshine and Alan Fisher among others. Let's hope that 1966 is better to us than this year.

One more thing, I wonder how long it will be before we play Fordham again???
