

At this point you have completed your scan of the book. We have tried to present to you the events of the year to the best of our ability. Due to the limited amount of funds and time, we have had to take away some special effects. Nonetheless we feel that we have done our best within our means.

One person cannot produce a yearbook. Therefore many thanks are extended to Ann Amore from the Alumni Office who assisted me in the early stages of the book. Marjoire Driscoll from the Counseling Center for giving us both her time and her typing ability. Mr. Charles Rossi from Lorstan's Studios and to our publisher Andy Murro for without him we would not have had the patience to produce this book.

Last, but not least, I would like to thank the few but very important and helpful people on the staff. Together we fought each other for the use of the better picture or idea but this friction helped rather than hindered our job. For years to come we will be able to look back on the happenings of the Franciscan '80 office. All of us who played a part in the production were brought closer together and shared moments of laughter, tears and complete exhaustion and exhilaration at 7:59 PM. Together we learned what it means to co-operate and hold a position which others are dependent upon. Not one of us could have done it alone. Paul, who helped from the very beginning, especially with the fund raising. Thank you also for dragging Joey on the staff. But Joey, thank you for staying on and learning a little bit of everything. Maureen, for all your patience, time and devotion. Thank you also for following in Paul's footsteps and hanging in there. Chris, I appreciate your helping in every way that you could. And Karen for all your help with the artwork.

Thank you all again very much.
