

An amused membership catches a glimpse of legal wit.

Saint Thomas More Law Society

THE St. Thomas More Law Society hosted a number of guest speakers this year including Dr. Henry Senkier, Dean of the Seton Hall Law School.

The purpose of the Society, founded two years ago by Dr. James J. Flynn, is to aid students in obtaining entrance into law schools.

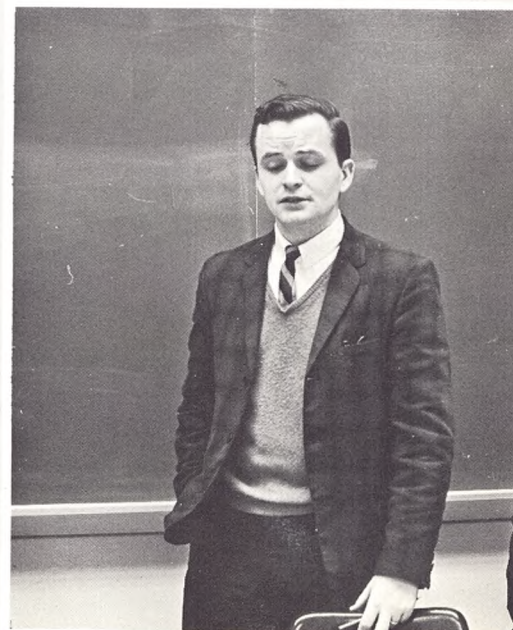

"Holmes, Cardozo, Pound? . . . Baldi!"
The Law Society President in action.

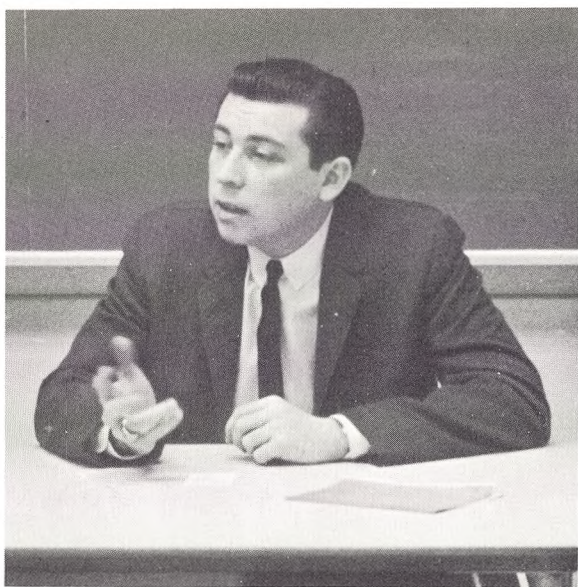

PHILOSOPHY CLUB: Secretary De Benedetto, President DeSanto, Mr. Farley, Treasurer Joe Kearney, Ernie Rossiello. Standing: Jim Blundell, Jim Magee, Al Fina, Sal Laporta, Bob DiGiovanni, Ernie Mortuzans, Bob Mulcahy.

"Sir, I think your insight is absolutely asinine." De Benedetto gets Santo down on paper.

Pat Walsh, President of the Press Club.

Press Club

UNHAMPERED by a newspaper strike this year, the Public Relations men of the Press Club outdid themselves in generating College news. The club streamlined its intelligence system through the use of data sheets submitted by organizations on their activities.

The junior ad-men received tips on image building from guest speakers, including Mr. Ben Gould, Public Relations Director for the New York Housing Authority and Mr. Jack Drum who is employed by a Madison Avenue ad firm.

In February, over 200 students representing 30 high schools attended the Press Club's 5th Annual Journalism Workshop. On hand were four guest speakers who outlined various facets of the world of journalism. Mr. Frank DeRosa, Teenage Editor of the Brooklyn Tablet, presented T. Francis Bennet awards to high school students who had submitted outstanding articles to the Diocesan weekly.

Guest Speakers at St. Francis Press Convention for High Schools . . .

Phil Pepe of the World Telegram.

Mr. Foster of Sheed & Ward.

Free lancer Eileen Jordan.

Ed Quigley, and Frank De Rosa of the Tablet.

Philosophy Club

"Angry young philosopher," Bob DiGiovanni, pauses between objections.

THE Philosophy Club's program consisted of lectures and films. Mr. Farley, Moderator, and Don De Santo, President, also provided a series of seminars.

Mr. Kirby of the speech department and his guest, Mr. Robert Moderno, lectured on "Modern Film Techniques." Dr. John Hutchinson of C.C.N.Y. spoke of "How Philosophy Uses Its Past." Former instructor Mr. Hashimoto, now at Manhattan College, returned to speak on the "Existentialism of James."

In cooperation with the Thomas More Law Society, a meeting on the "Philosophical Pre-supposition of Law" was held. A session dealing with "C.O.R.E. and the Democratic Process" featured a film and guest speaker from C.O.R.E. national headquarters.