

“AND TO THINK I CAME TWO WEEKS LATE” . . . Ray Nash, Terrier third baseman, takes his cuts during batting practice at Red Hook. Nash, a backcourt starter on the Terrier Five, is also one of the main cogs in Coach Fazio’s plans.

CUTTING LOOSE . . . Tom Keller follows through after firing his patented fast ball by an Iona batter. Iona defeated St. Francis 10-4.

BACK THROUGH THE MIDDLE . . . Terrier rightfielder Bill Cardone smashes a single to center against Pace. The Terriers blanked Pace 11-0 in fall competition.

“TOO FAR; HE’LL NEVER GET THAT ONE” . . . Coach Pete Fazio fungos flies to Terrier outfielders during a Spring practice. Coach Fazio’s charges, which had a fine 4-1 Fall record, are currently in strong contention for the Knickerbocker title.

NO PROBLEM . . . Centerfielder Richie Dreyer shades his eyes from the sun in making a catch during warmups at the MECCA tournament. The cleanup hitter of the St. Francis nine, Dreyer, of basketball renown, delivered many clutch hits.

AW, COME ON, FELLAS, CAN'T I PLAY? Basball manager Jerry Atkins (65) quizzes Frank Kehoe (84) and Artie Beyer about his chances of playing in a game.

"NOW, COACH?" Joe Reilly, Terrier relief pitcher, gets his arm in shape during an early season workout. Joe and the four other Seniors will leave a hard gap to fill when they graduate in June.

BEYER BLASTS ONE . . . Shortstop Artie Beyer, the Terriers' Captain and leading hitter, doubles home a pair of runs in the Brooklyn College triumph. St. Francis humbled Brooklyn in the opening game of the spring season, 23-8.
