

Brother Finbarr, surprised his classmates by leaving in Junior year to enter the Franciscan Brothers' Novitiate. Although "Tom," as he was known to us, isn't with us today, we still consider him one of the 40's. Whatever students come under him will be exceptionally fortunate. We say this because we know him and his personality. He combines all the qualities necessary to make a good teacher. We are happy to have one of our boys with the men who taught us.

Besides being able to double for Percy Shelley, Jim has a natural talent for things scientific. Although his sleepy appearance characterizes him as a dreamer, Jim is very much down-to-earth in his ideas. His yen for travel will probably carry him to Mexico or to South America after graduation. Jim's magnetic personality and his ability to do things will carry him to the top of the mythical ladder of life's success.

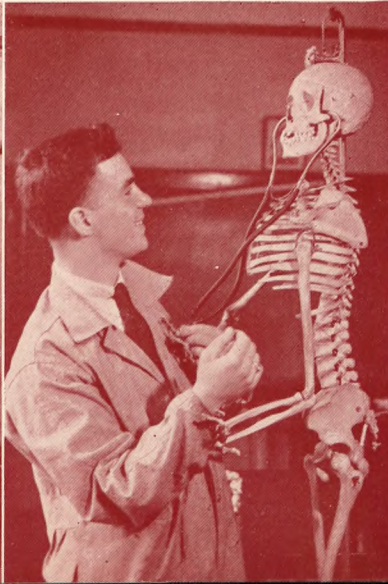

Sheehan beats "The Voice" staff to rush copy and make deadline.

Saint Francis has been favored during the last four years by the vital presence of this diminutive ball of fire of Latin extraction. His claim to fame is his ability to "shag"; his only dislike is the girl who doesn't like parlor dates. Freddy's consistent broad grin and cheery "what da ya say?" is an excellent prescription for dispersing gloom on a blue Monday. Loyal and energetic Fred is always where the crowd is.

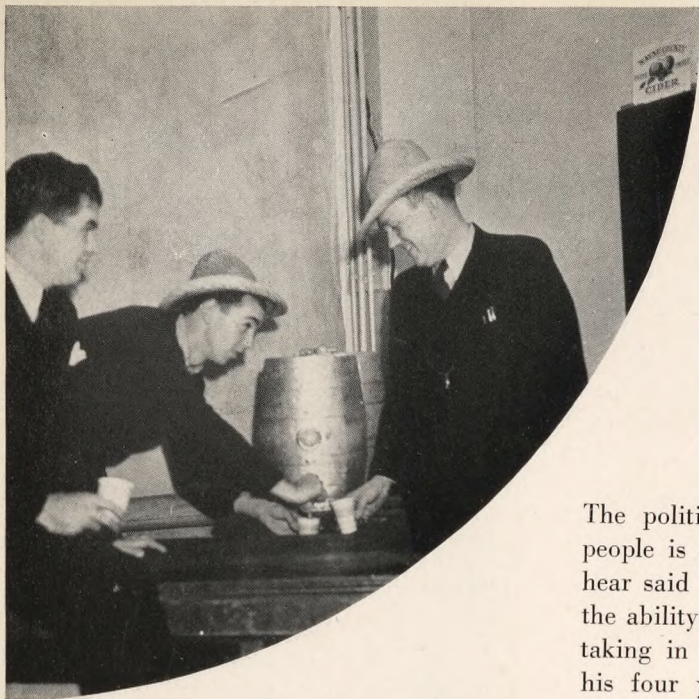

onder what we'll have for lunch today?"

"Hope them thar revenoors ain't around."

"Boney boy, boney boy, won't you be my boney boy?"

Thanksgiving Eve; Barn Dance provides relaxation and after all, cider is better than nothing.

If apparent quietness is an indication of scholarship, then Joe should be a "wow" in his science courses. Aside from his interests in cats and inclined planes, Joe is something of an athlete. He not only wields a mean ping pong paddle but must be given the right of way on the basketball court. With a great deal of self-confidence and interest in his work, Joe is sure to have a successful career.

The politician's politician and the friend of the people is the appellation which we may expect to hear said of Mark in the years to come. Mark has the ability to infuse his personality into any undertaking in which he may be engaged. Throughout his four years at St. Francis he has supervised many activities, but will probably be remembered most for his chairmanship of Freshman initiations.

A brown briefcase is synonymous with John. Our red-headed Napoleon will best be remembered by us for his talkative and blustering mien. A stickler for upholding the rights of the common man, John has always been ever ready to defend the lowly Frosh. Our slight blue-eyed classmate is an ardent lover of English literature. We know, for his interesting informative thoughts on the subject have been notable for their excellence.

"My nurse makes all my appointments."

"AH! Here's where I get a corsage cheap."

"Friends, countrymen, Franciscans, could I borrow your ears?"
