

MARTIN C. MURRAY

Army

*Franklin K. Lane H.S., Michigan State C.
Math Club; Indicator Club; German Club; History Club; CWV Franciscan Post.*

One of these strange people who goes around picking Math as a major is our Marty. Although he has never sought the glory of the spotlight, he has become one of the best known and respected members of the senior class. He has gone about his studies and extra-curricular activities in a quiet and modest way. Never has he been known to become unduly ruffled or excited. We feel sure that his serious, clean-cut, gentlemanly qualities will bring him to the fore in the field of optometry, and be a credit to St. Francis.

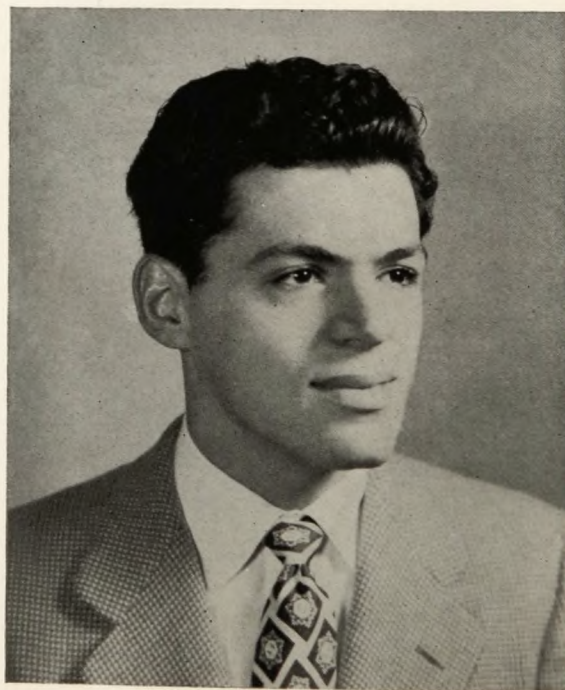

THOMAS STEPHEN NARDO

Navy

St. Francis Prep

Math Club; Bowling Team; Mendel Club.

"The man who lives on mathematics!" Tom is a prop for the St. Francis basketball team and, lo and behold, anyone who even mentions the opposing team meets with his wrath. He is a quiet but likeable chap whose other sports interests are bowling and baseball. Tom's objective after graduation is to enter the Federal Civil Service (they need a good mathematician to figure out the National Debt) and to marry a certain Southern girl named, Ann, from Birmingham. He, we feel, will be successful in his field and what's more important, a good family man.

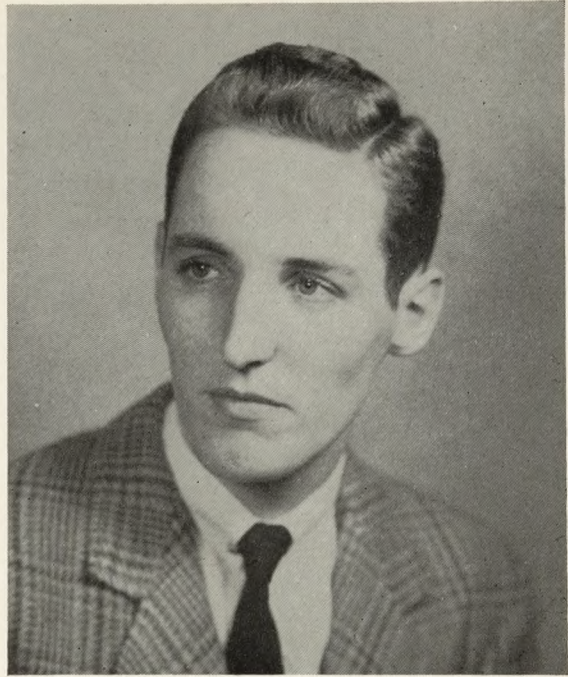

ANTHONY GEORGE NAWOJCZYK, JR.

Bishop Loughlin H.S.

Varsity Basketball; Philo Club; To Kalon K'Agathon; Debating Club; Third Order; Sodality; IRC; Phi Rho Pi; Vocation Club; Duns Scotus.

Tony likes Kielbasa and Kapusta, debates and discussions, politics, and gabbing while dancing, but he hates Greek. He may stump you spelling his name but the profs can't stump him with any questions. Major: Philosophy, Aim: Law. "Mens sana in corpore sano", suits Tony to a "T". His enthusiastic help about his parish will insure him success in his vocation.

WILLIAM P. O'KEEFE

Navy

Brooklyn College; Virginia U; Long Island College of Medicine.

Mendel Club; German Club.

Bill was born in Brooklyn—educated everywhere. a suave gentleman, he is one of St. Francis' best dressed men. Bill likes all sports, and excels in dancing. A major in Biology, Bill intends to become a pharmaceutical biologist and will no doubt be a success.
