

Joined by the celebration of friendship, we touched each other's lives in ways that not just anyone could experience. We loved, we laughed, we cried, we cared.

