Contraction in the contraction i

Members of Omicron Delta Chi: Mr. Joseph Ford, Paul Schnitzel, Anthony Bonaccorso, Henry Riehl, Emile Carlsen, Tom Cahill, and Charles Zagers.

Mr. Ford, Moderator of Omicron.

Trio of Clubs

OMICRON CHI EPSILON

Omicron Chi Epsilon Fraternity had a number of guest speakers prominent in the field of economics at their weekly meetings.

The society is an honorary organization wherein members must have a cumulative index of 3.00 and have earned twelve credits in Economics with a better than B average. Its aim is to broaden the member's outlook in the field of Economics.

PHI ALPHA THETA

In its third year of existence, the membership of Phi Alpha Theta, the History Honor Society, increased to 12 with the induction of three new members.

During the year, the Fraternity spon-

Mike Graziano, President of the Sociology Club.

Dr. James Flynn, Moderator of the Phi Alpha Theta Fraternity.

Charles O'Neill, President of Phi Alpha, and John Rooney rummage in the History Office.

sored guest speakers including Dr. Hassan Saab, who spoke on "Man's Ideological Answer to Communism."

The members worked as ushers for the Long Island Historical Society on its 100th Anniversary Celebration and exhibit.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB

The Sociology Club, which during the 1962-63 academic year had fruitlessly struggled to germinate an effective program, came up roses this year. President Mike Graziano planted a series of projects, and was later able to enjoy their fruition.

The Sociology Club Seminar Series was initiated in October, with a discussion of "The Effect of the Negro Revolt," led by Phil Tracy. Thirty students from Brooklyn College, Long Island University, and St. Joseph's College attended, and returned with reinforcements for subsequent seminars on drug addiction, labor relations and community planning.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB: James Magee, Arthur Hohmuth, Anthony Witt, Mike Graziano, Pat Walsh, George Ansalone, Brother Anton and Bernie Loizzo.

The members of the club also heard Mr. Robert Hannum of the Osborne Association advocate "intellectual love" as an important element in the re-orientation of ex-convicts. A film on "Food and Famine," served as introduction to the international nature of social problems for new members. And of course the club continued to enjoy the rich insights and varied experiences of its moderator, Dr. Clement.