

FRANCISCAN

A black and white photograph of the St. Francis College suspension bridge tower. The tower is a tall, dark structure with two large, arched openings. It is supported by several thick cables that fan out to the bridge deck. In the background, there are several multi-story buildings, likely residential or commercial, and a body of water in the foreground. The overall scene is a mix of urban architecture and infrastructure.

The Franciscan
1993

St. Francis College
180 Remsen St.
Brooklyn, N.Y.
11201

Looking Back On All The Memories . . .