

International

Mr. Doyle comments on the military significance of the launching of the first satellite by the Soviet Union.

CHARLES McLAUGHLIN
President

Officers beam proudly after announcing that the club would participate in the National A.I.R.C. Convention in Washington, D.C.

Relations Club

THE INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB was founded in 1937, as "a separate organization devoted specifically to the preservation of world peace." It has expanded in the last twenty years, and now includes all of the social science departments.

It is currently a member of the Association of International Relations Clubs, the Collegiate Council for the United Nations, and the Political Affairs Commission of the N.F.C.C.S. The I.R.C. has successfully created in the students an understanding of the national issues confronting them, by having a political symposium each fall.

The activities of the organization have expanded to include attendance at Regional and National Conventions. Outstanding among this year's accomplishments was the election of James O'Neill to the presidency of the Mid-Atlantic Region, of the Association of International Relations Clubs.

PROMOTION COMMITTEE

Left to Right: James Hynes, Thomas Falk, Frank Cassidy, Joseph McDermott, Ernest Restivo, James O'Neill.

Members keep abreast of problems before the United Nations.