

Long, long ago
roads stretched
out before us.
Paths criss-
crossed and intersected.
None of which we knew
a great deal about.
Nevertheless,
we attempted
we chose and
selected.
And an avenue
was elected.
One we traveled similarly.
One which led us here.
But it looks as if the track is not as straight
as we once thought.
It looks like it
will up and
twist again.
Soon new routes
will call us and
carry us
into new worlds,
new journeys.
And we will take to the road again.

