

The SFC Public Service Convocation, Dec. 5, 2000

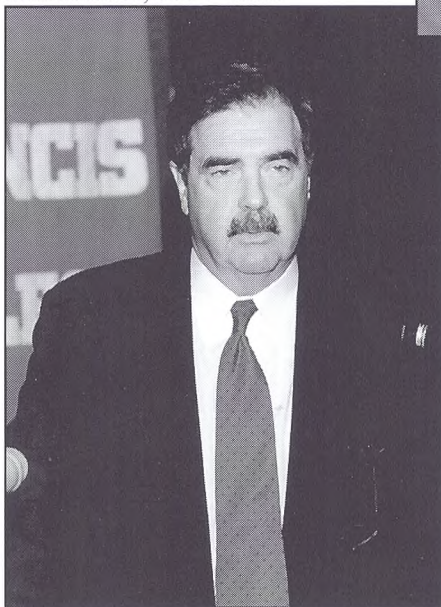

L-R: Frank Macchiarola, Steven McDonald, Mrs. Norris McDonald, Howard Safir, former NYPD commissioner, Joe Dunne

Howard Safir, this year's guest speaker

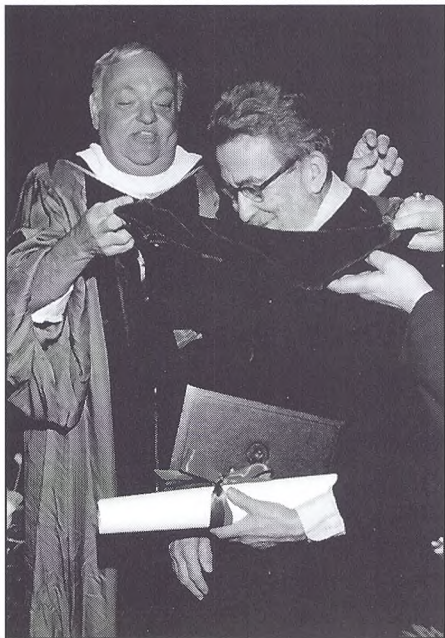

Keri Kitson and President Macchiarola

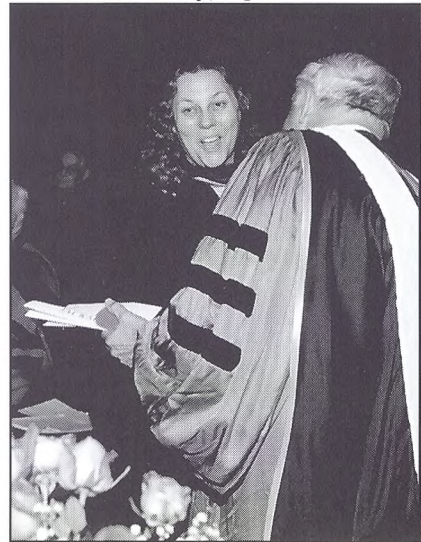

First Deputy Police Commissioner Joe Dunne, Class of 1969

Dean Largo and Hope Latiak at Charter Day, April 2001

L: Nat Hentoff, Village Voice, Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws
Middle: Dr. Langiulli and Dr. Macchiarola
R: Dr. L. Jackson (picture) and Dr. R. Berleth receive Pax et Bonum Medal for 15 years of service as faculty members.

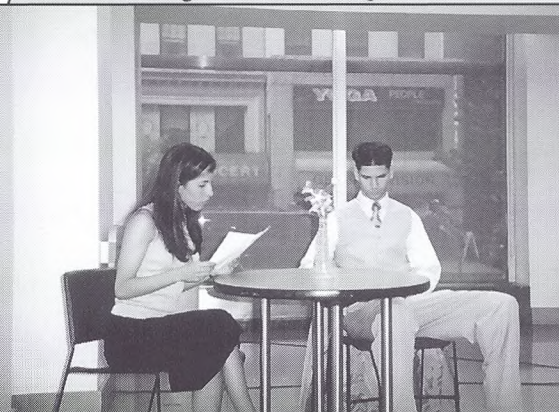

Vincent D'Onofrio

at St. Francis College

Dr. Setrakian (left) and D'Onofrio (middle), answering the students' questions.

Michael and Diane (Acting 1) prepared a short play for Vincent D'Onofrio

St. Francis College received a special guest last month when actor Vincent D'Onofrio visited with students of the Communications Department. The visit was hosted by Dr. Edward Setrakian, veteran actor and Communications Department Chairman. D'Onofrio openly discussed how he trained himself for eight years in various acting schools and theaters before he got the call for the role in "Full Metal Jacket."

D'Onofrio went into great detail about working with Stanley Kubrick on the film and how he "was constantly apprehensive about being fired" on the set. He explained how Kubrick built a wall between the actor and director and how he felt he needed to prove he could play the part of Gomer Pile.

Vincent D'Onofrio came back to St. Francis during the Fall semester to teach Acting 1 together with Dr. Setrakian.

