

Davis, C. Buckley, Krebs, Lenowicz, Fidgeon, E. Buckley.
Rivara, Holmes, D. Buckley, Nugent, Del Zio, Tanahey.

Senior A

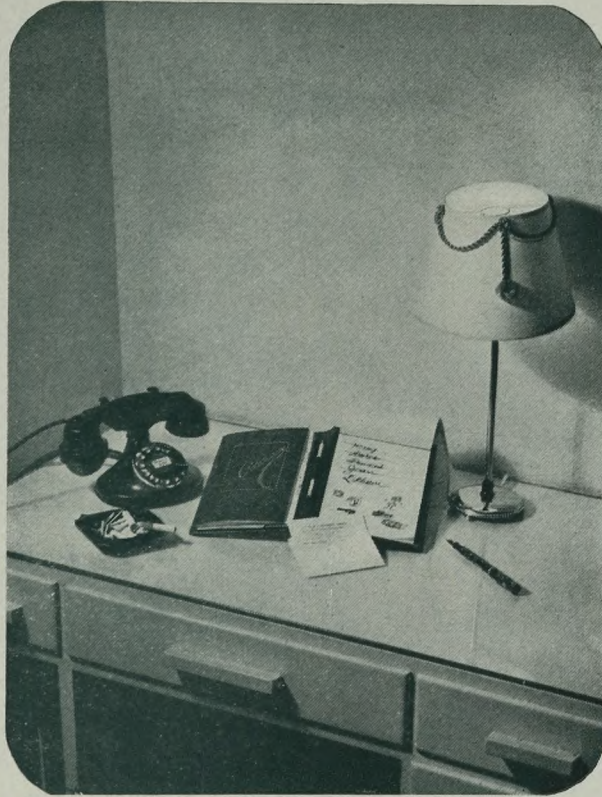

FOR the number of outstanding men in the class, Senior A does not shine as a leader of the College. But despite this, it claims to have within its numbers some of the most "regular" fellows in the school. There is an assortment of types which one fails to find in many groups of larger size.

We have our share of scientists, potential priests and lawyers, as well as a group which plans great things in the business world. Frank Holmes and Mario Del Zio are scientists; Buckley (Dan and/or Ed) might become a lawyer; and the number of future business executives amazes one if he considers the ability of Joe Tanahey, Mike Nugent, Al Lenowicz and one or two others.

But this would sound as if we had nothing to do but talk of the future. The Senior A class has many things to recall as far as past occurrences are concerned. During the last semester we managed to have men in almost every activity of the school. Our president, Dan Buckley, was honored by being elected vice-president of the Student Council. Joe Tanahey is Praetor of Phi Rho, Mike Nugent is its secretary. Martin Krebs and Bill Davis are on the Voice staff, while Frank Fidgeon is Fuehrer of the German Club and at the same time an associate editor and columnist for the Voice. But our greatest pride is in Al Lenowicz, who has played varsity basketball since our freshman year.

Speaking of basketball and speaking of Al, our class team did fairly well with him as a coach, and all the Buckleys, Tanahey, Nugent, Fidgeon, and Bro. Christopher — who doublecrossed us by graduating a year ahead of time — in the interclass basketball. They finished the regulation sessions and entered the play-offs only to lose a close game to one of the finalists, Freshmen B. Well, as the coach so aptly put it, "We didn't win, but we were in there trying."

In social activities our class has always played a leading role. Being as much a part of the class of '39 as Junior B, we cooperated in the fullest toward making the Junior Prom the social success of the year. The preliminary to this — the Barn Dance in November — manifested the same spirit of cooperation. But enough — read about us next year, in our own yearbook.

THE JUNIORS