

Key figures in the St. Francis Development Program for the year were (above) Edward Quigley, News Director; Brother Leo, the main speaker at the annual alumni dinner; and (below) Dr. Frank Tannenbaum, the director of University Seminars at Columbia University. Dr. Tannenbaum, speaking on "Revolutionary Movements in Latin America," gave first in a series of lectures planned by the Alumni Office for the benefit of the local community.

In conference are John Loonam, the Director of Community Relations, and John Dolan, the Development Director for St. Francis College.

Previous alumni dinner sees Gerard Gorman (Class of '38) of the Port of New York Authority with guest speaker Admiral O'Donnell, former Commander of Guantanamo Naval Base. Each year at Charter Award Dinner, Council of Regents honors men who have rendered outstanding service to Port of New York.

Developing Development

SINCE the beginning of the 1963-64 academic year, the Council of Regents of St. Francis College, under the chairmanship of Walter Oberstebrink, a vice president of Liebmann Breweries, have been involved in a number of activities in quest of financial support for the college. In order to give additional strength to the objectives of the Council, five new members have been added this year. They are: M. A. F. Ambrose, treasurer of the National Association of Manufacturers; Mr. George W. Humm, manager of the Brooklyn branch of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith; Mr. Louis R. LaPorte, Director of Facilities Engineering for the Columbia Broadcasting System; Mr. Richard L. Harris, a vice president of United States Lines; and Mr. Robert E. Lee, partner in the New York law firm of Hawkins, Delafield & Wood. Brother Philip Harris, formerly Vice President of Development, is serving on the Council in an advisory capacity.

Among the highlights of the activities of the Council will be the annual Charter Award Dinner, scheduled this year for May 7 at the Hotel Commodore. The main speaker of the evening will be Austin J. Tobin, Executive Director of the Port of New York Authority. Lieutenant-Governor Malcolm Wilson, a Regent of the college, will be toastmaster again this year. The Corporations Committee has established an objective of $250,000 as its target for the year. Listed among some of the gifts received from corporations and corporate foundations are: $500 - New York Telephone Company; $3,000 - Bush Terminal Company; $5,000 - Consolidated Edison Company; $1,000 - Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company; $1,000 - East Brooklyn Savings Bank; $1,500 - Texaco, Inc.; $1,000 - Newhouse Foundation; $2,000 - Brooklyn Union Gas Company. In addition, the college has been the recipient of a $25,000 pledge from the Generoso Pope Foundation through the efforts of Frank Caputo, Regent, who is a member of the Corporations Committee.

As an adjunct to the work of the Corporations Committee, a project has been initiated this year known as the Corporate Associates Program. The purpose of this project is to invite local business leaders to make a tour of the college and have an opportunity to assist in the financing of the expansion program for St. Francis College.

Other committees presently functioning on the part of the Council of Regents include the Foundations Committee (Richard L. Harris, chairman), and the Special Gifts Committee (Dr. Thomas J. May, chairman, alumnus and Regent).
