The Caribbean Students' Association at St. Francis College can best be described as the "Heart of student life" here at the college. Within an average meeting attendance of 59 during the Fall 2000 semester, and 145 different students attending meetings during the semester, we are by far the largest student organization. With the goal of spreading Caribbean culture to the SFC community, some of the events we sponsor and organize are: Caribbean Food Day and the Mr. and Miss St. Francis College Pageant.

Our club's web site was launched on February 1, 2001 and would allow members and visitors alike to keep in touch with what's happening with the C.S.A.

Kappa Delta Pi is an International Honor Society in Education. The Xi Rho Chapter was initiated at St. Francis College in 1978. The philosophy of Kappa Delta Pi promotes excellence in education. This underscores the ideals of Fidelity to Humanity, the Ideal of Science, and Service. These ideals embody the faith in the potential of human beings through education, compassion, and dedication. Individuals promise to strive to eliminate prejudice and to seek advancement for society by serving as living inspiration to achieve justice, peace, and a better way of life for all. Each semester members organize fund-raising activities that contribute and benefit local communities in an educational manner.

The characters of Kappa Delta Pi represent the motto: "Knowledge, Duty, Power." Individuals are nominated on their scholarship, high academic standards and their promise as professionals. Associates remain members for life with their names recorded permanently in the Society Headquarters' files. Members receive a subscription to an educational periodical and other publications to enhance their professional careers.
