

And then there were the good times . . . All that lethargy . . . just made room for a whole lot of hope . . . so when the college began accepting women you knew it had to be better . . . Better for the women . . .

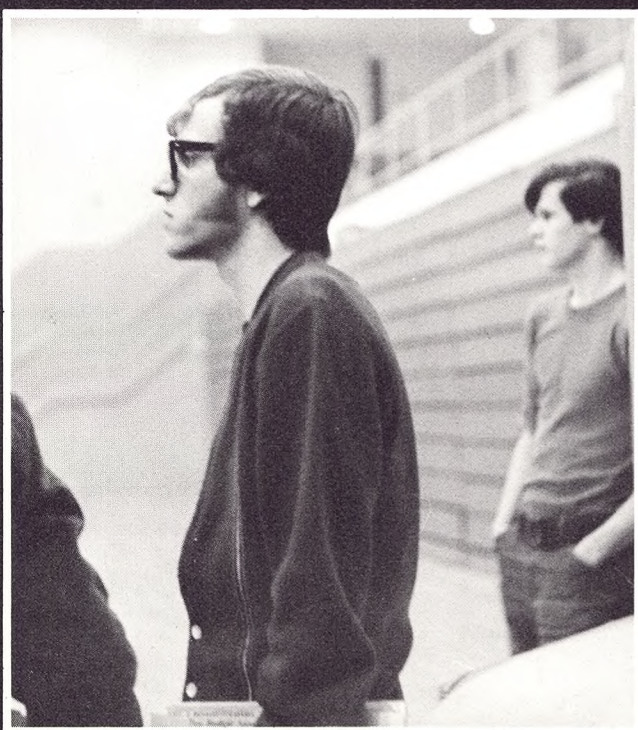

... better for the men.

Remember when you were the only guy in Modern Dance II, or the only girl in Lifetime Sports ... and then they went and segregated classes.

... Remember how you thought it would be better to change your major from chemistry to physical education ... you thought to yourself, "Hey, This is better".
